MISSION STATEMENT

Progressive theology has long taken shape at Union, where faith and scholarship meet to reimagine the work of justice. Grounded in the Christian tradition and responsive to the needs of God's creation, a Union education prepares its students for committed lives of service to the church, academy, and society. A Union education develops practices of mind and body that foster intellectual and academic excellence, social justice, and compassionate wisdom. Union forms courageous faith leaders who make a difference wherever they serve.

CORE VALUES

Union Theological Seminary in the City of New York is a historically progressive Christian seminary with increasing commitment to interreligious engagement and spirituality. Our mission is encapsulated by the phrase: "where faith and scholarship meet to reimagine the work of justice." This quest for justice is broad and includes social justice and activism, responsive care for communities and individuals, the pursuit of collective well-being, and of human and planetary flourishing. In particular, exploring the religious and spiritual dimensions of this quest defines our distinctive mission.

In light of these commitments, the following "core values" express this mission and guide our teaching and learning. They are what we aim to teach our students:

- To grasp the substance of the Christian tradition and the other primary traditions of students through the study of scripture/sacred texts, theology, history, and tradition-specific practices
- To be in continued dialogue with other religious traditions on those traditions' own terms and to dialogue with the spiritually non-affiliated with respect and care
- To develop the ability to theologically engage the human quest for meaning and spiritual connection
- To develop the capacity for self-reflection as well as the capacity to respond to others in ways that are compassionate and open-hearted
- To develop capacities for critical analysis of the ecological, social, and cultural systems in which persons, communities, and traditions exist, recognizing that spiritual and religious beliefs and practices are expressed in ways determined by conditions of time and place
- To cultivate a theological understanding of the earth and its diverse ecosystems in a manner that fosters an informed commitment to planetary well-being and justice
- To form a secure base for both ethical decision-making and spiritual wisdom in service to the needs of the world
- To educate impassioned, informed, and wise leaders and community members capable of engaging the pressing issues of our day with integrity and courage

Developed by faculty during academic year 2019-2020

ACCREDITATION

Union Theological Seminary in the City of New York was founded in 1836 and incorporated in 1839 under a charter granted by the Legislature of the State of New York. Its programs are registered by the New York State Education Department.

Union is accredited by the Commission on Accrediting of the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) in the United States and Canada and by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE). The following degree programs are approved: DMin, MAR, MASJ, MDiv, MPS, PhD, STM. The following advanced certificates are also approved: Interreligious Engagement, Religion and Black Experience, Social Justice, and Spirituality.

The above academic programs are also authorized by the New York State Education Department (NYSED). Data is also reported as appropriate to the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreements (NC-SARA). Visit this webpage for more accreditation information: <https://utsnyc.edu/about/institutional-info/>.

NON-DISCRIMINATION

Union Theological Seminary in the City of New York admits students regardless of age, color, national or ethnic origin, familial composition, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, race, racial, ethnic, caste, cultural and gender identity and expression, religious affiliation, faith tradition, socio-economic status or disability, to all the rights, privileges, and programs generally accorded or made available to students at the Seminary. It does not discriminate on the basis of any of these in the administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarships and loan programs, or other programs administered by the Seminary. View the policy on this webpage: <https://utsnyc.edu/about/institutional-info/non-discrimination-policy/>.

JUSTICE, EQUITY, AND INCLUSION (JEI)

Union Theological Seminary is absolute in its commitment to be an antiracist, anti-oppressive, social justice institution. To this end, the JEI Committee is committed to the unrelenting work of addressing the interpersonal, institutional, and structural dynamics that perpetuate racism and all forms of oppression. For more information, visit <https://utsnyc.edu/justice-equity-and-inclusion-at-union/>.

As a diverse group representing various areas of our community, the JEI Committee was created to be the voice of institutional accountability and self-reflection as it relates to antiracism and oppression in all forms at Union. Our work is centered on the following objectives:

- Identify and address barriers that hinder Union's commitment to antiracism and oppression, and provide guidance and support with strategies that remove these barriers.
- Hold grace-space for institutional reflection, accountability, growth, and healing, as it relates to the dismantling of racism and all forms of oppression. Central to this objective engages the principles of restorative justice:
 - a) repairing harm
 - b) strengthening relationships and understanding through empathy
 - c) rebuilding trust
- Provide ongoing critical assessment of Union's effectiveness to address issues associated with justice, equity, diversity, and inclusion and overcome any barriers.

INCLUSIVE LANGUAGE

Union Theological Seminary is committed to equality for all persons of every racial, ethnic and religious background. Recognizing that language has often been used to imply racial and sexual inferiority, the Seminary urges student, faculty and staff members to avoid racist, sexist, ableist or discriminatory language and avoid assumptions about family composition, marital status, sexual orientation and racial, ethnic, cultural and gender identities and expressions in public discourse, in classroom discussions, and in their writings. Failure to abide by appropriate behavioral norms in this regard can constitute grounds for discipline under the Seminary's anti-discrimination and anti-harassment policies.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR THE SEMINARY

Tuition and fees paid by students cover only about one-fifth of the costs of their education. Most of the remaining costs are met in three ways: (1) gifts from alumni/ae and friends of the Seminary; (2) contributions from churches, corporations, and foundations; and (3) income from the Seminary's endowment, comprising gifts and bequests from persons sharing Union's purposes and aspirations. For information on making a gift to Union or providing for the Seminary in your will, call 212-280-1426 or visit www.utsnyc.edu/give.

NATIONAL COUNCIL FOR STATE AUTHORIZATION RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT (NC-SARA)

Union Theological Seminary is a member of the National Council for State Authorization Reciprocity Agreement (NC-SARA) and follows the complaint resolution policies and procedures detailed in section 4 of the SARA Policy Manual and summarized here: <https://nc-sara.org/sara-student-complaints-0>. SARA consumer protection provisions require the institution's home state, through its SARA State Portal Entity, to investigate and resolve allegations of dishonest or fraudulent activity by the state's SARA-participating institutions, including the provision of false or misleading information.

Professional Disclosures

Online courses, certificates, and degrees offered by Union Theological Seminary are not designed to lead to professional licensure or certification.

Procedure for Filing Complaints (for Students Residing Outside New York)

Union Theological Seminary (Union) is committed to ensuring that any grievances or complaints are appropriately addressed in a timely manner. Consumer protection complaints resulting from distance education courses, activities, and operations must first be filed with the institution to seek resolution. The first step is submitting information to Abigail Asgaralli (aasgaralli@uts.columbia.edu), following Union's Student Grievance Procedures outlined in the Student Handbook.

If a student is not satisfied with the outcome of Union's complaint resolution process in connection with a SARA, the next step is to appeal Union's decision by contacting the New York State Education Department (NYSED), in accordance with the NC-SARA complaint procedures. Appeals may be made within two years of the incident about which the complaint is made. More information is available on their website: <https://www.nysed.gov/college-university-evaluation/sara-student-complaint-process>. Please note that this does not include complaints related to grades or student conduct violations, both of which should be fully addressed within Union Theological Seminary's processes, not through the NC-SARA complaint resolution process for consumer-protection issues.

ACCESS TO EDUCATIONAL RECORDS AND PRIVACY RIGHTS

Under the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), students registered at Union, or individuals who have been registered at Union, have the right to review their education records. A student or former student who wishes to examine any part of their file should make a request in person or in writing to the Registrar, indicating which records are to be examined. Such records generally include course grades, evaluations, information concerning fulfillment of degree requirements; certain financial aid and admissions documents; and the application for admission. Certain records, defined in FERPA, are not accessible, and are not made available. Generally, these include restricted reference letters, third party financial records, employment and medical records and law enforcement records. The Seminary also does not keep letters of recommendation from the admissions file once a student matriculates.

Students have the right to seek correction or amendment of records they believe are inaccurate, misleading or a violation of their privacy rights. Students requesting such correction or amendment should follow procedures established by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs or the Dean's designee. Students may request access to prior semester course data available in the learning management system (LMS) while enrolled at Union, and for one year following program completion. Requests for LMS data must be submitted in writing to the Academic Office.

The Seminary does not release or allow access by third parties to education records without the written consent of the student except as permitted by FERPA. The Seminary will, as provided by the Act, release data to certain persons, including officials of the Seminary, who have legitimate educational interest in obtaining access to the records. These records may also be released pursuant to any lawfully issued subpoena, in which case the Seminary would make a reasonable attempt to notify the student prior to such release.

In certain additional instances, educational records may be released without student consent. Generally, such non-consensual release is available to specified federal officers or state officials as prescribed by law, to accrediting agencies carrying out accreditation functions, to law enforcement officials in connection with criminal investigations, in emergency situations when release of the information is needed to protect the health or safety of the student or others, and in other limited circumstances as specified in FERPA.

As of January 3, 2012, the U.S. Department of Education's FERPA regulations expand the circumstances under which your education records and personally identifiable information (PII) contained in such records — including grades, or other private information — may be accessed without your consent.

First, the U.S. Comptroller General, the U.S. Attorney General, the U.S. Secretary of Education, or state and local education authorities ("Federal and State Authorities") may allow access to your records and PII without your consent to any third party designated by a Federal or State Authority to evaluate a federal- or state-supported education program. The evaluation may relate to any program that is "principally engaged in the provision of education," such as early childhood education and job training, as well as any program that is administered by an education agency or institution.

Second, federal and state authorities may allow access to your education records and PII without your consent to researchers performing certain types of studies, in certain cases even when we object to or do not request such research. Federal and state authorities must obtain certain use-restriction and data security promises from the entities that they authorize to receive your PII, but the authorities need not maintain direct control over such entities. In addition, in connection with Statewide Longitudinal Data Systems, state authorities may collect, compile, permanently retain, and share without your consent PII from your education records, and they may track your participation in education and other programs by linking such PII to other personal information about you that they obtain from other federal or state data sources, including workforce development, unemployment insurance, child welfare, juvenile justice, military service, and migrant student records systems.

With respect to the privacy of students, the Seminary makes only directory information generally available to Union students, faculty and staff. View this webpage: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/ferpa-facts-figures/> for directory information as defined by Union. The primary use of the directory information is for a Student Directory for legitimate educational purposes. This may be done in print or on a password protected website. Any student who wishes to withhold permission to publish or otherwise release his/her directory information should complete a Withhold Directory Information form maintained by the Registrar's Office. If no withholding form has been filed with the Registrar, the Seminary assumes student consent to disclose directory information. The Seminary reserves the right to release information on prizes, fellowships and honors awarded.

Nothing in this policy requires Union to maintain student records indefinitely. However, if access to a specific record has been requested, the Seminary will take reasonable steps to safeguard that record so as to permit appropriate reviews. View the Registrar's webpage here: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/ferpa-facts-figures/> containing. Additional information on FERPA may be accessed through the Department of Education's website.

Complaints regarding alleged violations of a student's rights under the Act should be sent to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs. They may also be submitted in writing to the:

Family Policy Compliance Office
U.S. Department of Education
400 Maryland Avenue SW
Washington, D.C. 20202-8520

DEMOGRAPHIC INFORMATION

Students are expected to either notify the Registrar's Office in writing or update their information through the student portal about any changes in address, phone number(s), legal name, religious affiliation, and other directory information.

PREFERRED NAME

Union Theological Seminary recognizes and affirms that students may wish to designate a preferred/chosen name that differs from their legal name. Any student may identify a preferred/chosen first name that is significantly different from their legal name. A student's preferred/chosen first name appears on their record in addition to full legal name. Students may contact the Registrar at any point to update their preferred name in the student information system. Definitions are as follows:

Legal Name: Appears on a student's birth certificate, driver's license, passport, or social security card.

Preferred/Chosen Name: A name that a student wishes to be addressed as, that is significantly different from legal first name.

The following forms collect and display student legal name because of federal and business processes that require legal name:

|------------------------------|---|--|
| - Admissions application | - Health insurance enrollment/waiver | - Immunization forms |
| - Visa documents | - FAFSA for students requesting federal financial aid | - Apartment lease |
| - I-9 for student employees | - W-2 and T-2104 tax forms | - Billing statement |
| - Student information system | - Field education learning agreement/contract | - Identification card issued by Columbia |
| | - ADP (automatic data processing) for payroll/taxes | - Transcripts – official and unofficial |

The following places accommodate/display student preferred/chosen name acceptable for Seminary operations:

- | | |
|---|--|
| - Housing application | - Student directory |
| - Class rosters from student information system | - Other places where reasonably possible |
| - Narrative evaluations written by faculty | |

For information surrounding legal name change, visit this online resource: <http://srlp.org/resources/namechange/>

LEGAL NAME CHANGE

When a student legally changes their name, they should contact the registrar to request an update to their student record information. Copies of the following documentation are required:

- government-issued photo ID such as a passport, state ID, or driver's license (not expired) or social security card. Note: students receiving financial aid must produce the social security card with the new name.
- documentation of the name change (marriage certificate, name change paperwork, divorce decree, etc.)

The registrar will then update all academic offices at Union. Name change requests are processed within 7-10 days once all documentation has been provided. Students who are employed by Union should also update Human Resources.

ADMISSIONS POLICY

Union recruits and admits individuals on the basis of their qualifications and abilities. Our selection criteria are aimed at admitting a student body that represents a diversity of gifts and talents, academic backgrounds, scholastic and personal experiences, spiritual and ministerial interests, and vocational aspirations; as well as a diverse range of ages, genders, sexual orientations, classes, faith traditions, races, and ethnic backgrounds. Completed master's applications are reviewed by the Faculty Admissions Committee, with consultation to relevant faculty members and/or the Committee on Standing, as appropriate. Doctoral applications are reviewed by the Doctoral Selection Committee. All committee members provide a holistic review of all submitted materials. Decisions are not based on any single indicator. Our admissions criteria include a review considering the following factors, among others:

- Academic preparedness
- Vocational clarity
- Institutional fit
- Personal statement, essays, and writing samples
- Letters of reference
- Relevant vocational, ministry, volunteer, and/or work experience
- Candidate interviews, if requested by the Faculty Admissions Committee

Application Procedures

- Main Campus and Online Programs: All candidates who are interested in pursuing a degree, non-degree, or advanced certificate program at Union must complete the online application process according to our published deadlines, which are posted annually on our website: <https://utsnyc.edu/admissions/deadlines/>. Paper applications are not accepted. More information on the required materials for each degree program can be found on our website: <https://utsnyc.edu/admissions/apply-to-union/>
- North Campus Programs: Incarcerated individuals can apply to the MPS program any time during the year. Applications submitted after August 15 will be considered for the following cohort. Candidates can apply from any DOCCS institution. Candidates must submit their paper application, along with all specified documentation, by mail to: Union Theological Seminary, Bedford Hills Correctional Facility, 247 Harris Road, Bedford Hills, NY 10507-2400, or the Main Campus: Union Theological Seminary, Office of Admissions, 3041 Broadway, New York, NY 10027

Degree Requirements:

- MDIV/MAR/MASJ/MPS/Non-Degree: Applicants must hold a four-year bachelor's degree or equivalent from an accredited college or university and a record of high achievement. Prior study in religion is not required, but strong preparation in liberal arts studies is expected.
- STM: Applicants are required to hold a four-year bachelor's degree and a graduate degree in fields related to religion and theology from an accredited college or university in the U.S. or its equivalent from another country. We expect the applicant to have received at least 2 years of distinguished graduate studies in religion and a thorough grounding in biblical, theological, and historical subjects.
- PHD: Applicants are required to hold a four-year bachelor's degree, as well as a graduate degree in fields related to religion and theology, such as a Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Religion degree from an accredited college or university in the U.S. or an equivalent degree from a foreign country. Strong candidates will have completed at least two years of distinguished graduate studies in religion and obtained a comprehensive grounding in biblical, theological, and historical subjects.
- DMIN: Applicants are required to hold a four-year bachelor's degree and a Master of Divinity (MDiv) from an ATS-accredited seminary or its equivalent. Applicants should also have significant ministry experience, consisting of at least three years of experience in a lay or ordained ministry position or a leadership role within a religious community, faith-based organization, or spiritual life setting.

English Language Requirements:

All classes are conducted in English. Because we want all students to thrive in such an academic setting, all applicants must demonstrate proficiency in English during the application process. English Language Test scores are waived if you previously attended a school where the primary language of instruction was English. Union accepts the following score reports:

- TOEFL \(School Code: 2922\)
- IELTS
- Duolingo English Test

NON-DEGREE POLICY

Students may apply to the non-degree program in order to pursue a limited number of courses as a non-degree student. Non-degree program students are allowed to pursue a maximum of four courses over one academic year. Prerequisites for specific courses must be met, and guided readings are not permitted. Students must then reapply to Union to continue taking coursework through the non-degree program.

Non-degree applicants must possess the same qualifications required for acceptance into a degree program, and undergo the same application review process. Applicants must apply by the appropriate deadlines and are not eligible for scholarship and financial aid consideration. Tuition must be paid in full by the first day of class, or the student will be administratively withdrawn from any courses. Non-degree students are eligible to transfer up to twelve credits of Union coursework to a degree program, or up to six credits to an advanced certificate program. Admission as a non-degree student and the successful completion of coursework does not guarantee admission to one of Union Theological Seminary's degree programs.

STUDENT IDENTITY VERIFICATION IN DISTANCE LEARNING

The purpose of this policy is to ensure that Union Theological Seminary's online degree programs, certificates, and classes are in compliance with the provisions of the United States Federal Higher Education Opportunity Act (HEOA) concerning the verification of student identity in distance education.

The HEOA requires that institutions offering distance education courses or programs have processes in place to ensure that the person who registers for a course is the same person who participates in the course. The Act requires that institutions use one of the following three methods:

- A secure login and pass code;
- Proctored examinations; or
- Other technologies and practices that are effective in verifying student identification.

Compliance

All students at Union Theological Seminary, including online students, are provided a OneLogin account for secure access to the Seminary's platforms. New students receive invitations to set up their accounts through the email address used to apply to the school, and must set up two-factor authentication to access OneLogin.

Students are responsible for providing their complete and true identity information on their application materials, and it is against Seminary policy for students to allow others to use their accounts.

Union uses Moodle as its learning management system. Union students access Moodle through OneLogin, which enables appropriate and secure student access. Cross-registration students and auditors access Moodle using a username and password. All users of the Seminary's learning management system are responsible for maintaining the security of accounts and passwords, or any other access credentials as required. Attempting to discover another user's password or attempting to gain unauthorized access to another person's files or email is prohibited.

In addition, Union's Student Information System (SONIS) provides instructors access to class rosters that includes student photos associated with their name and account. The Moodle learning management system also provides student photos associated with their account. All Union courses meet synchronously, including online courses, and students are expected to attend and fully participate. As technology and personal accountability are not absolute in determining a student's identity, faculty members are encouraged to use these technologies and to design courses that use assignments and evaluations that support academic integrity.

At this time there are no additional student fees associated with student verification.

Union Theological Seminary complies fully with the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA), 20 U.S.C. 1232g. This act protects the privacy of student information in distance education by requiring, with certain limited exceptions, that the student's consent must be obtained before disclosing any personally identifiable information in the student's education records. Additional information is available in the Academic Catalog under "Access to Educational Records and Privacy Rights."

AUDIT POLICY

Union Theological Seminary has four types of auditors:

1. current students enrolled in a degree program
2. alums of Union Theological Seminary degree or certificate programs
3. Union staff or field education supervisors
4. other non-degree-seeking individuals

Auditors who are not degree-seeking students are limited to one course per semester, up to a maximum of four courses. Degree-seeking students are generally limited to auditing two courses per semester, and should consult the program guide for their degree for additional auditing parameters.

Those wishing to audit a course should:

1. Obtain the instructor's permission to audit the course. Some courses cannot be audited.
2. Register for the course using the appropriate form:
 - a. For alums and other non-degree-seeking individuals, the Auditor Application & Registration form: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/course-registration-grades/auditor-application-course-registration/>.
 - b. For current degree-seeking students: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/audit_request.

Auditors are expected to:

1. Attend all class meetings.
2. Come to a mutually agreed upon set of expectations for the course, including expectations regarding participation, and completion of assignments. Normally, auditors are not expected to complete all assignments.

The Bursar's Office bills the student differently based on enrollment status. See tuition & fees portion of catalogue. Auditors are not registered, and therefore not permitted to attend class, until the bill is paid in full. Auditors who fulfill the mutually agreed upon expectations receive a grade of "AU." Audits dropped during the withdrawal period receive a grade of "AW." Academic credit is not awarded for audited courses and does not count toward a student's degree program.

CREDIT HOURS

Academic credit at Union Theological Seminary is determined and assigned on the basis of semester credit hours, commonly known as "credits" or "credit hours." Union's accrediting bodies, the Middle States Commission on Higher Education (MSCHE) and the Association of Theological Schools (ATS), require schools to have a credit hour policy. This policy measures the academic efforts students invest in particular courses, and is one way the Seminary monitors the relative efforts students expend in the pursuit of a specific degree.

Credits are assigned to courses based on a minimum instructional hour(s) in combination with a minimum of out-of-class hours for assignments. The relevant New York State Education Department regulation states, "Semester hour means a credit, point, or other unit granted for the satisfactory completion of a course which requires at least 15 hours (of 50 minutes each) of instruction and at least 30 hours of supplementary assignments, except as otherwise provided pursuant to section 52.2(c)(4) of this Subchapter. This basic measure shall be adjusted proportionately to translate the value of other academic calendars and formats of study in relation to the credit granted for study during the two semesters that comprise an academic year."

A credit hour at Union, therefore, requires three hours of work each week in a Fall or Spring semester (15-week semesters, including reading and exam days). These three hours are typically divided into one (50-minute) hour of instructional time in class and two hours of out-of-class assignments, for a minimum semester total of 42 hours. The majority of Union's courses are three credits, which means that during the average week, a student will spend three hours in class and six hours doing work outside of class, for a minimum semester total of 126 hours. Intensive courses are subject to the same guidelines, albeit on a compressed schedule.

For online courses Union typically requires that at least two-thirds of the instructional hours be synchronous, during which students and faculty are online together, with up to one-third of the instructional hours involving asynchronous learning, during which students may review pre-recorded material or engage in other class activities (such as online discussions) at their own pace.

Union recognizes that the time students spend on reading and writing varies greatly. The Associate Dean for Student Affairs can assist students who require additional support to meet their academic requirements.

Minimum credit hours required by program:

- Master of Arts in Religion (MAR) degree: 51 credits (two years of full-time study).
- Master of Arts in Social Justice (MASJ) degree: 36 credits (two to three years of part-time study).
- Master of Divinity (MDiv) degree: 78 credits (three years of full-time study or five years of part-time study).
- Master of Professional Studies (MPS) degree: 36 credits (one year of full-time study).
- Master of Sacred Theology (STM) degree: 24 credits (one year of full-time study).
- Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) degree: 43 credits in the first two years of study.
- Doctor of Ministry (DMin) degree: 33 credits (three years of part-time study).
- Advanced Certificate (AC): 12 credits (one to two years of part-time study).

Union's Academic Affairs Committee evaluates new course proposals and ensures that they are assigned an appropriate and accurate number of academic credits. The Registrar, Assistant Dean for Academic Administration, and Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs collaborate to ensure consistency of practice across all programs and modalities at Union, confirming that credit policies are followed, that credit hour assignments are accurate for existing courses, and that all courses are scheduled for the appropriate number of instructional hours. Union faculty are responsible for ensuring that their courses conform to the credit hour policy, and should clearly indicate the distribution of instructional hours and out-of-class activities on their syllabi.

ACADEMIC YEAR

The academic year consists of nine months: the Fall semester, which includes the August Pre-term, and the Spring semester, which includes the January Intercession. The MASJ Accelerated Program is the sole exception, as its twelve month academic year also includes the Summer term.

TRANSFER CREDITS

Students who have successfully undertaken graduate studies at a school accredited by the Association of Theological Schools (ATS) prior to their admission to Union Theological Seminary may request a transfer of credit(s) to be applied toward the credit requirements for the Union Master of Divinity Master of Arts in Religion, or Master of Arts in Social Justice degrees. Transfer of previously earned credit is not accepted for the Master of Professional Studies, Master of Sacred Theology, Doctor of Ministry, or Doctor of Philosophy degrees, nor for advanced certificate programs.

Normally, requests for transfer of credit are determined after admission to the Seminary, before registration for the first semester. The Dean or Associate Dean has sole discretion to authorize and allocate previously earned graduate theological school credits in accordance with the following requirements and limitations:

- 1) Transferred credits must be relevant to the student's degree program at Union.
- 2) Transfer credit is generally applied to required courses only if course syllabi or other course materials demonstrate that the course at the previous school was similar in level, scope, and approach to Union's required courses.
- 3) A maximum of 45% of credits required for the Union Master of Divinity (35 credits), Master of Arts in Religion (23 credits), or Master of Arts in Social Justice (16 credits) degrees may be considered for transfer.
- 4) A grade of B or higher is requisite for credit to be transferred; credit for courses taken Pass/Fail is not transferable.
- 5) Courses taken more than seven years prior to the student's admission to Union are ineligible for transfer of credit.
- 6) Credits that were applied to a completed degree are not eligible for transfer.

The Dean or Associate Dean determines credit equivalencies between Union courses and courses earned in another school and determines how many, if any, credits earned in a particular course at another theological school may be transferred and applied to the Union degree.

During a transfer credit review the Dean or Associate Dean will request supporting documentation demonstrating that the courses for which credit transfer is requested meet the requirements listed above. Such documentation will include, at a minimum, an official transcript and course syllabi, and may also include representative samples of the student's work in the courses.

In order to qualify for a Union MDiv or MAR degree, transfer students must take at least one course in each of the required fields designated for the applicable Union degree program. (e.g., Bible/Sacred Texts, Historical Studies, Theology and Ethics, Practical Theology, Interreligious Engagement). Therefore, field distribution requirements may not be fulfilled by transfer credits alone. The final semester's work for the Master of Divinity or Master of Arts in Religion degree must be done at the Seminary, except by permission of the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs.

For the MASJ degree, supporting documentation must demonstrate that a course had a particular emphasis on the MASJ program goals and learning outcomes in order to be transferred.

DUAL DEGREE PROGRAMS IN SOCIAL WORK

Union offers two dual degree programs in social work: the MDiv/MSSW with Columbia University School of Social Work and the MDiv/MSW with Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College. The two programs are very different, and applicants should carefully consider which program best aligns with their academic and vocational goals. The program with Columbia focuses on research and public policy, whereas the program with Silberman integrates spirituality with clinical social work and social welfare.

Students must apply, pay application fees, and be accepted at both schools in order to be considered a dual-degree student. Upon receipt of their acceptance letters from Columbia or Silberman, students should forward copies to the Union Registrar. The academic calendars of each school differ; students are expected to understand and adhere to the deadlines of each school. Students should start their programs at Union full-time rather than at the social work school.

In years one and two, financial aid is managed by Union. In years three and four, financial aid is managed by the social work institution. Throughout the student's program, the two financial aid offices work closely in order to support the student. Students are charged for four semesters of full-time tuition at Union. After the first two years, students are given the status of "dual degree (other institution)," which denotes that a student is paying full-time tuition at another school. Students with the status of "dual degree (other institution)" are not charged Union tuition, and are expected to pay relevant fees such as activity fee, housing rent, and meal plan fee as applicable. Students with the dual degree (other institution) enrollment status may not take more than six credits per semester at Union in years three and four, and may only take courses needed to fulfill degree requirements.

Master of Divinity/Master of Science in Social Work at Union Theological Seminary and the Columbia University School of Social Work

- A. Students in this program take courses full-time at Union in years one and two, and at Columbia in years three and four. A required integrated seminar (RS 331) is offered at Union every other spring, and taken in a student's third or fourth year. Students generally complete their Union coursework after their second year, but during years three and four they may take up to six credits a semester at Union to complete requirements, or audit courses, for no additional cost. Tuition for years three and four at Columbia is paid directly by the student to Columbia University.
- B. Students can stay on the Columbia health insurance plan for years three and four, but pay for insurance via Columbia University, which is less expensive than Union's cost for the Columbia plan.
- C. Students concurrently enrolled at both Union Theological Seminary and at the Columbia School of Social Work may earn the MDiv degree from Union and the MSSW degree from Columbia University in four years of full-time study. Degrees are conferred separately but simultaneously by Union and Columbia.
- D. This dual degree program requires successful completion of a certain number of credits taken both at Columbia and Union, specific to the degree planner based on track. In order to enable students to graduate with both degrees in four years, Union effectively recognizes up to 18 credits from the Columbia School of Social Work (generally the First Year Field Work and Specialized Social Work Practicum courses), which are applied to the Field Education requirement and the elective credits needed to satisfy the 78-credit minimum credit requirement for the MDiv degree.

- E. Academic credit for up to 18 credits of courses taken at Columbia University School of Social Work will be recognized by Union without a formal credit transfer request and will be applied toward Union degree requirements upon receipt of an official transcript from Columbia indicating a passing grade for social work courses.

Master of Divinity/Master of Social Work at Union Theological Seminary and the Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College

- A. Students in the Silberman program take courses at both schools during their four years, with most Union courses taken in years one and two and most Silberman courses taken in years three and four. A required integrated seminar (RS 331) is offered at Union every other spring, and taken in a student's third or fourth year.
- B. Students in MDiv/MSW (Silberman) can stay on Union's insurance plan or sign up for insurance via ACA.
- C. Students concurrently enrolled at both Union Theological Seminary and at the Silberman School of Social Work may earn the MDiv degree from Union and the MSW degree from Hunter College in four years of full-time study. Degrees are conferred separately but simultaneously by Union and Hunter.
- D. This dual degree program requires successful completion of a certain number of credits taken both at Hunter and Union, specific to the degree planner based on track. In order to enable students to graduate with both degrees in four years, Union effectively recognizes up to 26 credits from the Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College (generally the 12 credits taken at Hunter during the first two years of the program, the 12 credits of Field Instruction, and 2 additional credits), which are applied to the Field Education requirement and the elective credits needed to satisfy the 78-credit minimum credit requirement for the MDiv degree.
- E. Academic credit for up to 26 credits of courses taken at Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College will be recognized by Union without a formal credit transfer request and will be applied toward Union degree requirements upon receipt of an official transcript from Hunter indicating a passing grade for social work courses.

HISPANIC SCHOLARS PROGRAM

The Hispanic Scholars Program (HSP) is an independent ecumenical academic organization offering programming that serves Latinx graduate students, as well as accredited courses in which Latinx faculty members from across the country teach the following subjects from a Latinx perspective: history, biblical studies, pastoral care, sociology, religious studies, and other adjacent fields. While these courses are taught by and focus on the Latinx community, non-Latinx students are also encouraged to apply. Union is one of over forty sponsoring seminaries and departments of theology and currently hosts HSP offices. For more information visit <http://hispanicscholarsprogram.org/>.

Specifics of the HSP are as follows:

- A. Union students may take up to six (6) credits (summer session, January session, fall semester) counted toward elective requirements, provided the student earns a minimum grade of B (or equivalent).
- B. Students who wish to register for HSP courses do so directly through the HSP website. Union faculty advisor approval is required. Students should consult the HSP web site for course offerings and are encouraged to register early, as courses fill up quickly.
- C. Students are directly and solely responsible for all costs associated with taking courses at HSP. Since Union is a sponsoring institution, Union students can attend HSP for a reduced fee (includes housing, meals, and travel + three graduate credits) for up to two summer sessions. Thereafter, the higher published rate will apply.
- D. Academic credit for HSP courses will be recognized by Union without a formal credit transfer request. Credit is applied toward Union degree requirements upon receipt of an official transcript submitted to the Associate Dean by the student as issued by the ATS school hosting the HSP course.

RELIGIOUS OBSERVANCE

The Seminary honors observance of religious holidays. If a student's religious holiday observance impacts class attendance or engagement in course components, the student is expected to inform the instructor(s) at least two weeks in advance of the class session or assignment due date. A student request to the instructor should state the specific religious observance and the plan to complete any impacted coursework. The request is considered approved when the student receives confirmation from the instructor. In the event that the student and instructor do not reach consensus regarding the plan for missed class/assignment(s), the student may appeal to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs.

JURY DUTY

New York state legislation permits no exemptions from jury duty. Students may be able to seek a deferment for the period of time they are actively enrolled by providing an enrollment verification letter (produced by the Registrar's Office) to the Clerk of the Court. Students living outside of New York state should follow your state's policy on jury duty and reach out to the Registrar's Office for support with verification.

Visit <http://nycourts.gov/> for additional details such as where to send the enrollment verification and other required documents. Students may be asked to produce a copy of their current class schedule and ID card. In cases where a student must be absent from class for jury duty, it is the student's responsibility to notify the instructor. In cases where jury duty coincides with exams or other in-class assignments, accommodations may be made for the student to make up missed work.

FINANCIAL AID

Both need-based and merit-based financial aid are offered to degree-seeking students. Federal aid is available to eligible students in all degree programs except non-degree programs, certificates, and auditors. "Need" for financial aid purposes is defined as the difference between the cost of attendance (COA) for the nine-month academic year (twelve-month academic year for accelerated MASJ students) and the student's student aid index (SAI), which is based on personal or other financial resources as calculated by the FAFSA. Institutional and federal financial aid cannot be awarded for courses that do not count towards a degree program, or for coursework that exceeds the number of credits required for degree completion. Union is approved by the Veterans Administration for the enrollment of students eligible for veterans' educational benefits (e.g., the GI Bill and Yellow Ribbon).

Institutional Funding Programs

Both merit- and need-based scholarships and grants are available to new and continuing students in eligible degree programs. Students must meet the eligibility requirements for their assigned award type. Students in non-degree or certificate programs are not eligible for institutional or federal funding. Awards are not transferable between degree programs without prior approval of the Financial Aid Office. To remain eligible for merit and need-based awards, students must (1) maintain continuous enrollment at the credit level specified by their scholarship, (2) make satisfactory academic progress, and (3) remain in good academic standing each semester. Scholarship funds are awarded only during fall and spring terms.

Merit Scholarships and Fellowships

Merit awards are generally awarded at the time of admission. To be considered, students must have submitted an admission application to a relevant degree program and meet the eligibility criteria for the award.

Merit scholarship programs available at Union include:

- Presidential Scholarship, full tuition plus cost of living
- Fish Scholarship, $35,000 award
- Gaddis Volker Scholarship, $30,000 award
- Union Hough Scholarships, $27,500 award
- Union Heritage Scholarship, full tuition plus $2,000 stipend
- Lenape Scholarship, full tuition scholarship for a student in the MASJ program
- Ecumenical Fellowship, full tuition plus cost of living for one STM student. Can be awarded under either of the programs below:
 - Leu-Shriver Ecumenical Fellowship (for a qualified student from Africa or another developing country)
 - Norimatsu Ecumenical Fellowship (for a student from Korea or Japan)
- PhD Fellowship, full tuition plus cost of living
- Social Justice Grant, partial scholarship available to students in the MASJ program
- Ministry Tuition Grant, partial scholarship available to students in the DMIN program
- Masland Scholarship, partial scholarship available to an outstanding student in the DMIN program

Union Grants

Union grants are need-based awards available to students in the MAR, MDiv, and STM degree programs. To be considered, students must (1) submit an admission application to a relevant degree program and (2) submit the FAFSA. Union grants are awarded by the Director of Financial Aid based on both need and merit.

Federal Student Aid Programs

United States citizens and permanent residents are eligible to receive aid under federal Title IV programs. To be eligible, students must be enrolled at least half-time, or at least 5.5 credits per semester. Students are also required to maintain satisfactory academic progress each semester.

Professional and Graduate Program Designations

Beginning July 1, 2026, the Department of Education implemented a new federal regulation that created two classes of graduate programs: professional programs and graduate programs. Under the new regulation, Union's degree programs are classified as follows:

- Professional: MDiv
- Graduate: MAR, MASJ, MPS, STM, DMIN, PHD

The following federal financial aid programs are available at Union:

Federal Direct Unsubsidized Loans

Eligible students may receive loan amounts up to the annual and/or lifetime limit applicable to their degree program. Please note, regardless of eligibility, actual loan amounts cannot exceed the total cost of attendance and are subject to annual and lifetime limits. Students in professional programs (MDIV) qualify for up to $50,000 annually/$200,000 lifetime. Students in graduate programs qualify for up to $20,500 annually/$100,000 lifetime. Amounts borrowed are subject to interest and a loan originate on fee.

Starting July 1, 2026, students, regardless of program, who qualify for a loan limit exception (LLE) under the new federal regulations are eligible for federal loan funds under the Direct Unsubsidized loan program up to $20,500 annually/$138,500 lifetime.

Federal Direct Graduate PLUS Loans

Starting, July 1, 2026, The Graduate PLUS loan program will be eliminated for new borrowers, unless the student qualifies for a loan limit exception. Under the loan limit exemption, students may continue to borrow from the Graduate PLUS program without being subject to the new aggregate and lifetime borrowing limits through their time to completion for their degree program, subject to a maximum of three years.

Students may qualify for the loan limit exception if they (1) remain continuously enrolled in the same program of study at Union that they were enrolled in as of June 30, 2026; and (2) had a Direct Loan disbursed for that same program before July 1, 2026. Final determination of whether a student qualifies for the loan limit exemption is made by the Department of Education. If you have a question about your eligibility for the loan limit exception, please contact the Office of Financial Aid.

The Grad PLUS program is often used to pay for expenses not covered by other financial aid. Graduate PLUS loans typically carry a higher interest rate than other federal loan programs, and you must not have an adverse credit history (a credit check is conducted). Students are not required to demonstrate financial need to be eligible for this program, and can borrow up to the full cost of attendance minus any other financial aid received.

Federal Work-Study

The Union has a limited number of on- and off-campus jobs available through the federal work-study program. This is a form of financial aid that does not need to be paid back. The Federal Work-Study program is available to students with demonstrated financial need.

Loan Adjustments for Less-than-full-time Enrollment

Under the new federal regulations, which went into effect on July 1, 2026, students enrolled less than full-time (9 or more credits for PHD, or 11 or more credits for all other programs) must have their annual federal loan limits reduced proportionally based on the percentage of the full-time enrollment. Students thinking of changing to part-time enrollment or dropping a class should contact the Office of Financial Aid to understand the impact on their federal student loans.

To help graduate and professional students understand the impact of the recent changes to federal financial aid regulations, the National Association of Financial Aid Administrators prepared the following one-pagers for students. Professional Judgement Review

Students who have experienced a significant change since submitting the FAFSA, or have special circumstances that affect their ability to fund their education, can contact the Office of Financial Aid to request a professional judgment review. Professional judgment refers to the discretion that federal regulations give to financial aid administrators to make adjustment, on a case-by-case basis, to a student's expected family contribution, cost of attendance, and/or financial aid dependency status, as determined by federal guidelines. Adjustments submitted for consideration must be documented and reasonable.

Generally, Union considers a cost of attendance adjustment for the following educational expenses:

- Change in marital status
- Loss of a spouse
- Loss of employment/unemployment
- Reduction in wages/loss of income
- Medical/dental expenses not covered by insurance
- Documented education expenses related to special needs or a disability
- Child or dependent care expenses

Professional judgment requests must be submitted using the Professional Judgment Request Form, available on the Union's website: <https://utsnyc.edu/admissions/financial-aid/cost-of-attendance/>. Documentation is required to support the request for adjustment. The type of documentation requested depends upon the circumstances of the request.

External Funding Programs

Students are strongly encouraged to apply for external funding, and are also required to report receipt of any outside funds. Should adjustment to the financial aid package be necessary in order to prevent over awards, aid is generally reduced in the following order: federal loans, Union loans, federal work-study. Union scholarship and grant assistance are not usually reduced due to a student's receipt of external aid.

Disbursement of External Scholarship Awards

The Director of Financial Aid receives all outside grants that are made payable to the Seminary for our students and they are then forwarded to the Finance Office, who authorizes disbursement of the funds to the student. Outside awards cannot be disbursed to the student before the money is actually received at the Seminary and prior to student registration/enrollment for the semester for which the grant is allocated.

Veterans Education Benefits

The U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) administers several education programs for active duty military personnel, veterans, and dependents. Each program provides different benefits for different students. Research the various benefit programs below and select the one that is most applicable to you. For additional information, contact a VA education representative at 1-888-GIBILL-1 or visit <https://www.va.gov/education/about-gi-bill-benefits/post-9-11/>.

Union Theological Seminary permits any covered individual to attend or participate in the course of education during the period beginning on the date on which the individual provides a Certificate of Eligibility for entitlement to educational assistance under Chapter 31 or 33 (a "Certificate of Eligibility" can also include a "Statement of Benefits" obtained from the Department of Veteran's Affairs website – eBenefits, or a VAF 28-1905 form for Chapter 31 authorization purposes) and ending on the earlier of the following dates:

- 1) The date on which payment from VA is made to the institution

- 2) 90 days after the date the institution certified tuition and fees following receipt of Certificate of Eligibility

Yellow Ribbon Program:

The Yellow Ribbon (YR) Program is a provision of the Post 9/11 Veterans Educational Assistance Act of 2008 (also known as The Post 9/11 GI Bill®) to make additional funds available to qualified veterans. Only individuals entitled to the maximum benefit rate (based on service requirements) under the Post 9/11 GI Bill may receive this supplemental funding. Each year, the Post 9/11 GI Bill® pays a certain amount toward a student's tuition and required fee expenses. This benefit does not extend to room and board or penalty fees on a student account. The exact amount differs each year and can be found here: <https://www.va.gov/education/benefit-rates/>.

Under the YR program, Union Theological Seminary awards up to $5,000 as the Seminary's contribution to the program and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs matches the Seminary contribution of up to $5,000. These awards are granted on a first come, first served basis. Union Theological Seminary grants and scholarship are not awarded for any specific portion of a student's educational expenses, so they are not included in the calculation of Yellow Ribbon awards.

Students eligible for Veterans' Education Benefits are expected to follow the process below:

- 1) Veterans interested in establishing their eligibility for this program initiates an application through the VA Education Benefits website: <https://www.va.gov/education/how-to-apply/>.
- 2) The VA sends a Certificate of Eligibility to each applicant. In their first semester, students submit a copy of their Certificate of Eligibility to the Registrar immediately upon receipt.
- 3) The Registrar applies for the Post 9/11 GI Bill® funds using VA-ONCE.
- 4) Upon receipt of the funds from the VA, the student is notified by the VA and their Union billing statement is updated.
- 5) After 9/11 GI Bill funds are distributed, the Registrar applies for Yellow Ribbon funding, if applicable.
- 6) Upon receipt of the funds from the VA, the student is notified by the VA and their Union billing statement is again updated to include both the VA and Union's Yellow Ribbon match funding.
- 7) Any remaining Union grants or scholarships are then applied to the student billing statement. Please note, the Yellow Ribbon award may affect other types of financial aid, since total financial aid from all sources cannot exceed a student's cost of attendance.
- 8) Any outstanding balance is the responsibility of the student.

GI Bill® is a registered trademark of the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA). More information about education benefits offered by VA is available at the official U.S. government Web site at: <https://www.benefits.va.gov/gibill>.

Renewal Requirements

Recipients are expected to meet the Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) policy standards (see appropriate section) applicable to students participating in all other federal student aid programs.

ENROLLMENT AND FINANCIAL AID EQUIVALENCIES

Certain statuses related to enrollment may differ from those for financial aid eligibility. This particular policy addresses and explains when equivalency is applicable.

Certain statuses related to enrollment may differ from those for financial aid eligibility. This particular policy addresses and explains when equivalency is applicable.

Enrollment Status

Full-time and part-time enrollment status are determined according to the table below:

Program	Full-Time	Half-Time	Less than Half-Time
All, except PhD	11 or more credits per term	5.5 to 10.5 credits per term	Fewer than 5 credits per term
PhD	9 or more credits per term	4.5 to 8.5 credits per term	Fewer than 4 credits per term

Financial Aid Equivalency Status

Equivalency is defined as students eligible to be certified as having a full-time status for the purpose of determining eligibility for financial aid during a given semester. This only applies to students with one of the circumstances listed below.

Fall / Spring Semesters

Full-time equivalency for financial aid purposes can be granted to:

- 1) MDiv students participating in an approved full-time field education internship who are registered for a minimum of three credits in each semester. Students in this circumstance are not eligible for institutional scholarships or grants, and may require an updated cost of attendance for financial aid purposes
- 2) PhD students in extended residency status who are no longer enrolled in coursework

August Pre-Term Course / January Intersession

Courses taken in the August Pre-term session are considered part of the fall financial aid package. Courses taken in the January intersession are considered part of the spring financial aid package.

Full-time equivalency for financial aid purposes can be granted to students whose total number of credits for any combined terms (either August & fall/January & spring) is eleven or more credits. Part-time equivalency for financial aid purposes can be granted to students whose total number of credits for any combined terms (either August & fall/January & spring) is five-and-a-half to ten-and-a-half credits.

SATISFACTORY ACADEMIC PROGRESS

Guidelines

Federal regulations require that Union Theological Seminary monitor the Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) of degree-seeking students to determine their eligibility for federal financial aid programs. At Union, students must meet all SAP requirements to remain eligible for institutional and federal funding. Federal regulations require that Union begin tracking SAP for all students from the first date of enrollment at the Seminary, whether or not financial aid was received.

SAP for financial aid purposes is evaluated at the end of each semester for all students, except those in the PhD program. SAP for PhD students is assessed at the end of each academic year. The SAP standard requires that Union monitor two components of a student's academic progress:

- 1) quantitative progress (pace of completion) and
- 2) qualitative progress (academic standing as measured by grade point average equivalent)

The Registrar provides a periodic report with the students' quantitative data and qualitative information to the Financial Aid Office. This is reviewed by the Director of Financial Aid, in consultation with the Associate Dean/Vice President of Enrollment Management, the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, and the Associate Dean for Academic Administration. Such information is documented through notation in the student's academic file. A student is notified if they have not met the SAP milestones via correspondence sent to their Seminary email address.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Standards – MAR, MASJ, MDiv, STM, and DMin Students

Pacing (Quantitative) Standard

Students in full-time tracks and programs must successfully complete 70% of cumulative credits attempted at each evaluation period. Students in part-time tracks and programs must complete 50% of cumulative credits attempted during their first evaluation period (first semester of study), 67% of cumulative credits during their second evaluation period (second semester of study), and 70% of cumulative credits attempted in each subsequent evaluation period. Those who do not receive federal aid in a semester, but who subsequently apply for assistance, must also meet the credit accumulation standard in order to receive federal funds.

Courses graded Withdrawal (W), Extension (EXT), Failure to Withdraw (WF), and/or No Credit (NC) are considered credits attempted but not completed. Transfer credits accepted from other institutions are included in pace calculations and counted as both attempted and completed. SAP includes credits hours pursued via a cross-registration agreement with another institution or through an approved dual degree program. Credits from two-semester courses with an In Progress (IP) grade for the first completed semester are excluded from consideration for SAP purposes. Failed and subsequently repeated coursework counts as attempted but not completed credits. Future enrollments of repeated courses count as separate attempts.

Should a student transfer into a different degree program at Union, SAP is reviewed in accordance with the requirements of the program to which the student transferred, with appropriate consideration given to Union courses accepted for transfer into the new program.

Grade Equivalent (Qualitative) Standard

Federal regulations require the calculation of a minimum grade equivalent average for financial aid purposes. The minimum Title IV requirement for a student in the second academic year is Credit (CR) average or standing consistent with graduation.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Standards - PhD Students

Pacing (Quantitative) Standard

PHD students must satisfactorily complete 70% of cumulative attempted credits. During extended residency, PHD students must satisfy academic degree requirements, and milestones as defined by the PhD program

Courses graded Withdrawal (W), Extension (EXT), Failure to Withdraw (WF), and/or No Credit (NC) are considered credits attempted but not completed. SAP includes credit hours pursued via a cross-registration agreement with another institution or through an approved dual degree program. Credits from two-semester courses with an In Progress (IP) grade for the first completed semester are excluded from consideration for SAP purposes. Failed and subsequently repeated coursework counts as attempted but not completed credits. Future enrollments of repeated courses count as separate attempts.

Grade Equivalent (Qualitative) Standard

Federal regulations require the calculation of a minimum grade equivalent average for financial aid purposes. The minimum Title IV requirement for a student in the second academic year is Credit (CR) average or standing consistent with graduation.

Maximum Time to Completion (all students)

In order to maintain eligibility for federal financial aid, students must be able to complete their degree requirements within the maximum time to completion for their degree program. Once it is determined that it is not mathematically possible for the student to complete their degree requirements within the maximum time to completion, federal regulations require that the Office of Financial Aid suspend their eligibility for federal aid. To review the maximum time to completion for each degree program, please consult the Maximum Time to Completion policy.

Failure to Maintain Satisfactory Academic Progress

Financial Aid Warning

A student who fails to maintain satisfactory academic progress is first placed on financial warning. During this first semester on financial aid warning, the student continues to receive federal aid without the requirement to submit an Aid Eligibility Appeal or an approved academic plan. If the student comes into compliance with SAP standards at the end of the warning term, their financial aid eligibility is restored.

Financial Aid Ineligible

Based on federal requirements, students who fail to meet SAP for a second consecutive semester or reach the end of their maximum time of completion, are no longer eligible to receive federal financial aid and have their aid suspended. During the suspension, students are not eligible for institutional or federal financial aid.

Students are able to apply for Non-Union scholarships and private (non-federal) loans. Once the student comes back into compliance with SAP standards, their financial aid eligibility is restored.

Financial Aid Probation

All students have the right to appeal the suspension of their financial aid up to two (2) times. Students whose appeals are approved are placed on financial aid probation for one semester and continue to receive aid. Generally, appeals are requested on the basis of an extenuating circumstance, such as injury or illness, death of a relative, or another special situation that impacted academic performance.

Aid Eligibility Appeals and Reinstatement

Consistent with policies and procedures for academic appeals of dismissal, a student who has failed to meet SAP standards and has had their financial aid suspended may submit an aid eligibility appeal. Students are allowed to submit up to two (2) aid eligibility appeals during their time at Union. An aid eligibility appeal must be submitted in writing within ten (10) business days of the student being notified that their financial aid has been suspended. Aid eligibility appeals must be reviewed by a joint review committee composed of the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, Associate Dean, the Vice President and Associate Dean of Enrollment Management, the Director of Financial Aid, and the Registrar. An aid eligibility appeal may be submitted either on the basis of a student's failure to meet SAP standards or a student failing to graduate within the maximum time to completion.

SAP Appeals

The student must submit a letter that describes the factors that prevented them from meeting the SAP standard. Additionally, the appeal letter must describe what has or will change, and what support systems are in place, to allow the student to meet the SAP standard by the end of the subsequent term. The student is also encouraged to provide supporting documentation, if necessary. If it is possible for the student to return to SAP compliant status in one semester, the appeal may be approved without the requirement for an academic plan. If the student requires more than one semester to return to SAP compliant status, the student must have an academic plan approved by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs in order for their appeal to be approved. The academic plan may be finalized after the student's submission of the appeal letter. Once a decision has been reached, the Director of Financial Aid notifies the student of the decision via email within ten (10) business days.

Maximum Time to Completion Appeal

In most cases, a student submitting an aid eligibility appeal based on their failure to meet the maximum time-to-completion standard must have been granted an approved leave of absence, and that leave must be on file with the Academic Office prior to the appeal.

Reinstatement

If an appeal is granted, the student is placed on financial aid probation, and federal aid is disbursed for the semester. The student's record is reviewed at the conclusion of the subsequent semester, and the student must meet either all SAP requirements (in the absence of an academic plan) or meet the requirements of their approved academic plan. As long as the student continues to meet these requirements, the student remains eligible for financial aid. If the student fails to meet SAP requirements or fails to meet the requirements of an academic plan/degree audit, the student loses their financial aid eligibility and their aid is suspended. This decision is final and not subject to appeal.

Impact of Financial Aid Warnings, Probations, and Suspensions

A student may still register for courses and maintain status in their degree program, whether they have received a financial aid warning, have had their financial aid suspended, or are currently on financial aid probation, provided that the student still meets the academic regulations of their program of study. A student who registers for a term during which their status is financial aid ineligible is obligated to pay current tuition and fees, even though financial aid was not awarded.

RETURN OF TITLE IV FUNDS (R2T4)

Applicable Federal Regulations: 34 Cfr 668.22

This law requires that institutions determine the amount of federal financial aid (Title IV programs) that a student earned at the time of their withdrawal. The Title IV programs covered by this law include: Federal Direct Stafford Loans, Federal Direct PLUS Loans, and Federal Perkins Loans.

When a student withdraws during the payment period or period of enrollment, the amount of Title IV program assistance that the student earned to that point (Withdrawal Date) is determined by a specific federal formula. If the student received less assistance than the amount that was earned, the student may be able to receive those additional funds as a post-withdrawal disbursement. If the student received more assistance than the amount that was earned, the excess funds must be returned by the school and/or the student.

Earned and Non-Earned Aid

When a student withdraws and they are a financial aid recipient, the Seminary's Financial Aid Office has to determine what percentage of their aid has to be returned to the Federal Government. This is done through a process called R2T4 (Return calculation). Federal regulations state that a student begins earning Federal (Title IV) funds on the first day of attendance for the given period of enrollment. The earned aid is therefore calculated by dividing the number of days attended by the total number of days in the given term to determine the percent of aid earned. In other words,

$$\text{The Percent of Title IV Aid Earned} = \frac{\text{Number of Days Attended}}{\text{Number of Days in Term}}$$

Based on the results of this calculation, the Financial Aid Office is required to notify the student of their eligibility, if any, for a post-withdrawal disbursement within thirty (30) days of the date the student withdraws from the institution. The amount of assistance that a student has earned and is therefore, eligible to keep, is determined on a pro rata basis. For example, if the student completed 30% of the payment period or period of enrollment, the student has earned 30% of the federal financial aid that he or she received or was scheduled to receive. This also means that the student did not earn 70% of the scheduled federal financial aid and this amount must be returned to the federal financial aid program. Once a student has completed more than 60% of the payment period or period of enrollment, they have earned all the federal financial aid received or scheduled to be received for that period.

Post-Withdrawal Disbursements of Federal Financial Aid

If the withdrawn student did not receive all funds that they earned, they may be eligible for a post-withdrawal disbursement. If post-withdrawal disbursement includes loan funds, the Financial Aid Office must get the student's permission before it can disburse them. Students may choose to decline some or all of the loan funds so that they do not incur additional debt.

All or a portion of the post-withdrawal disbursement of grant funds may be automatically used for any existing outstanding charges, including tuition, fees and housing charges. Student permission is needed to use the post-withdrawal grant disbursement for all other school charges. If the student does not give permission, they will be offered the funds. However, it may be in the student's best interest to allow the school to keep the funds to reduce their debt at the school. There are some Title IV funds that may have been scheduled for release but can no longer be disbursed on the student's account because withdrawal and other eligibility requirements have not been met.

Required Post-Withdrawal Returns

If the withdrawn student received more Title IV program funds than they earned, the Bursar's Office must return this unearned excess amount to the appropriate aid program. As required under regulation 34 CFR 668.22 and determined by the Return Calculation, unearned aid is returned in the following order as applicable:

- 1) Federal Direct Stafford Loans
- 2) Federal Perkins Loan
- 3) Federal Grad PLUS Loan
- 4) Union Grants, Scholarships or Fellowships
- 5) Union Loan

Any unearned portion of financial aid that was disbursed to the student must be repaid to the Seminary. If the return of the unearned federal funds results in a debit to the student's account, they are responsible for the outstanding balance owed to the Seminary.

Post-Withdrawal Refund of Earned Aid

In the event that the withdrawn student is eligible for a refund, it is extremely important to keep their mailing address up to date so that the refund can be mailed. Students should also check their email account regularly for any updates, alerts, emails, etc. that may contain important information that could have an impact on registration should the student decide to return to the Seminary. The Seminary is required by law to refund earned credit balances within fourteen days from the date the earned aid was determined.

How Course Credits Can Affect Financial Aid Eligibility

Financial aid may be adjusted if students are not enrolled at the credit level required for their specific award. Enrollment for financial aid purposes is measured after the deadline to add/drop classes each semester. Students enrolled less than the level required by their award as of the add/drop deadline date will have their financial aid adjusted.

Credit values for financial aid eligibility are as follows:

- Full-time: 11 credits or more
- Part-time: 5.5-10.5 credits
- Less than half-time: 5 credits and fewer – generally not eligible for financial aid

Please refer to your financial aid award letter to review the specific eligibility criteria for your awards. Students are required to repay any financial aid received for semesters in which aid is adjusted due to less than the minimum enrollment required by their award. If a student leaves or withdraws from all courses during a semester, they may be required to repay financial aid received. Contact the Financial Aid Office at 212-280-1531 for more information.

CHANGE OF DEGREE

MDiv and MAR Changes

Students in good academic standing may submit a request to be considered for a change of degree for either the Master of Arts (MAR) or Master of Divinity (MDiv). Each degree has a distinct curriculum and course sequence, and each degree prepares students for a unique set of professional roles.

Therefore, a change of degree is possible only in certain circumstances. Some important pieces to consider:

- Field placement sites are normally determined in the first year as an MDiv student.
- Certain requirements are generally taken in the first two semesters.
- Financial aid is not guaranteed should degree requirements extend past the standard length of the program.
- Financial aid is, in part, dependent upon degree program, which means a change may have a significant impact.

Students are expected to follow the procedure below, but not necessarily in this order.

- 1) Meet with the faculty advisor for guidance and discussion.
- 2) Meet with the Associate Dean to review academic progress and degree audit and ensure there is no academic risk in changing degrees.
- 3) Meet with the Director of Financial Aid to assess eligibility for scholarship and aid and, if relevant, to specifically address the differences between full-time and part-time status.
- 4) Meet with the Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education to review the process and requirements of field education – only if changing to the MDiv.
- 5) Email an updated statement of purpose to the Vice President of Admissions and Financial Aid addressing the intent of the change at this point in the degree program.

MDiv/MSSW and MDiv/MSW to MDiv Changes

Students in the MDiv/MSSW program with the Columbia University School of Social Work or the MDiv/MSW with the Silberman School of Social Work at Hunter College may submit a Change of Degree request to be considered for a change of degree to the MDiv.

This change of degree is possible only in certain circumstances. Some important pieces to consider:

- Field work completed in a social work program, which fulfills the Field Education requirement for MDiv/MSSW and MDiv/MSW programs, may not fulfill the Field Education requirement for the MDiv.
- Financial aid is not guaranteed should degree requirements extend past the length of the original program.

Students are expected to follow the procedure below, but not necessarily in this order:

- 1) Meet with the faculty advisor for guidance and discussion.
- 2) Meet with the Assistant Dean for a degree audit to review whether or how any social work credits will transfer to the MDiv, and the new anticipated graduation date.
- 3) Meet with the Director of Financial Aid to assess eligibility for scholarship and aid.
- 4) Meet with the Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education to review the progress and requirements of field education.

The change of degree should generally take place during the first or second year of the student's program, but requests may be submitted up through the spring semester of the third year.

All Degree Changes

If students proceed with the change in degree, complete the Change of Degree form on this webpage:

https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/change_degree. The faculty advisor and administrators listed in the previous steps must then approve the request to move forward with the change of degree. If attempting to change degrees after the first fall semester, the form must be completed by December 1. If attempting to change degrees after the first spring semester, the form must be completed by July 1.

After any submitted change of degree is reviewed and approved by appropriate parties, the Registrar notifies the student of the decision regarding their change of degree. Should the change impact housing eligibility, that will be communicated to the Director of Housing and Campus Services. To maintain compliance with enrollment status regulations in accordance with the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC), change of degrees are processed only between semesters; students' degrees are not changed mid-semester. When the student academic record is updated, a $50 change of degree fee is applied.

ACADEMIC ADVISEMENT

Students are assigned a faculty advisor who provides assistance for students while working through the requirements of their academic program. During the summer prior to students' fall start the Academic Office advises incoming students regarding course selection, and they meet their faculty advisors during new student orientation to discuss vocational and academic goals. All students except those in the MPS and DMin programs are required to meet with their advisors during the advising period each semester, before registering for classes. Outside of registration preparation, all students are encouraged to develop a relationship with their faculty advisor.

Union strives for a holistic, team approach with appropriate boundaries and employs faculty and administrators in various key roles. The following expectations are intended to set parameters and serve as guidelines, not to rigidly delineate responsibilities. Good advisement draws upon the gifts and styles that each advisor brings to the relationship. Similarly, students may have different needs for advisement. Good communication between advisor and advisee early on is encouraged, in order to establish an effective working relationship.

What students should expect from and bring to the advisement relationship:

- Assistance in discerning a vocational direction and in designing a course of study to facilitate this goal.
- Guidance in the choice and sequence of courses to provide a manageable load each semester and to complete degree requirements within the time limits of the program.
- Guidance in discerning which office handles particular problems.
- Referral to an appropriate administrator for a problem that is beyond the scope of the advisor's role.
- Assistance in identifying potential mentors and resources for vocational interests.

What faculty should expect from and bring to the advisement relationship:

- Understand the appropriate role of faculty advisor—offer assistance about academic life at Union.
- Clear communication with the student about their academic needs.
- Flexibility about available time for advisement (student should be clear about urgency of the problem).
- Preparation, clarity, and specificity regarding the issues the student wishes to discuss.
- Refer student to an appropriate administrator for question/problem beyond scope of advisor's role.

DISABILITY ACCOMMODATIONS

Students with a need to request disability accommodations are expected to follow the procedure outlined by the Office of Student Affairs. Faculty have an important role in supporting students with disabilities and are also expected to understand the policy and procedures. View the section in the Student Handbook here: <https://utsnyc.edu/life/student-affairs/>.

COURSE REGISTRATION

Course registration for continuing students opens in April for the fall and summer semesters and in November for the spring semester and January intersession. Incoming students register for fall courses during the summer following group advisement. Course registration dates appear in the academic calendar: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/academic-calendar/>. Students with a debt to the Seminary are prevented with a hold from registering for courses.

The first week of each fall and spring semester is normally the add/drop period. Following the add/drop period, students who drop a course receive a grade of “W” during the designated withdrawal period. Semester-long courses have published add/drop and withdrawal dates in the academic calendar: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/academic-calendar/>.

Course registration for other meeting patterns opens at the same time as weekly semester-long courses, with different drop and withdrawal dates as follows:

- January Intersession: A course may be dropped without a “W” after attending one class session. Students who drop after two class sessions receive a grade of “W” for a course withdrawal. The withdrawal period ends after three class sessions and courses can no longer be dropped with a “W” grade.
- Summer Semester: For all courses except the biblical language intensive, drop/add dates are listed on the academic calendar. Course withdrawals are not permitted after 60% of the class sessions have passed.
- Summer Semester Biblical Languages: Students may drop HB 203, NT 203, HB 204, NT 204 without a “W” after three class sessions. Students who drop any of the above after the fourth class session receive a grade of “W” for a course withdrawal. Course withdrawals are not permitted after 60% of the class sessions have passed.

Tuition and fees are not adjusted for courses dropped after the end of the late registration period except in cases of complete withdrawal from the Seminary; see the Withdrawal portion of this catalogue for the refund policy.

To stop attending class or to excuse oneself to the instructor does not constitute dropping a course, and failure to drop a course results in a grade of “WF” on the student’s transcript. After deadlines outlined in the academic calendar, students are responsible for the requirements of all courses in which they are enrolled according to the records held by the Registrar. Any fees incurred for dropping a course taken at another institution must be borne by the student.

READING CREDIT

MDiv and MAR students in their final year and PhD students may be allowed to enroll in a course for R (reading) credit, which usually entails reduced requirements in a course and always involves faithful and regular attendance. Students must receive instructor approval, agree to complete whatever requirements may be set by the instructor, and complete this form https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/reading_credit_request for the course to be registered for R credit. Courses taken in other institutions may not be taken for R credit.

MDiv students may enroll for up to six R credits, a maximum of two courses, toward the 78-credit requirement for the degree. MAR students may enroll for one course of up to three R credits to be counted toward the requirement for the degree. These points may be taken only in elective courses. In the PhD program, students consult the principal adviser with regard to which courses should be taken for regular credit and which for R credit.

COURSES AT OTHER INSTITUTIONS

Students currently enrolled in a degree program at Union Theological Seminary may register to take graduate courses in other schools, subject to the conditions, limitations, and procedures described in the paragraphs below. These limitations do not apply to dual-degree MDSW students. Visit this Cross-Registration webpage: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/course-registration-grades/cross-registration/> for more information.

- A. The total number of credits for which Union students may register concurrently at another school is limited, according to their Union degree program, as follows:
 - Master of Arts in Religion (MAR): 12 credits
 - Master of Arts in Social Justice (MASJ): 6 credits
 - Master of Divinity (MDiv): 15 credits
 - Master of Sacred Theology (STM): 6 credits
 - Doctor of Philosophy (PhD): 12 credits [Bible students, as their research and ancient language needs warrant, with advisor approval, may take more than 16 credits at partner (or non-partner) schools]
- B. Union students may only take one course per semester (up to 3 credits) at other schools. Courses at Columbia University, if approved, are permitted during fall and spring semesters.

- C. In the absence of exceptional circumstances, courses that are available at Union must be taken at Union. Students may not substitute courses taken at other schools for courses requisite to fulfillment of the field distribution requirements of the student's Union degree.
- D. Union students who wish to apply toward their Union degree requirements credits for courses previously taken at another school should refer to the transfer credit review policy.
- E. Students must register at Union for every course for which they intend to seek application of credits toward their Union degree. In the case of most partner schools (see section below), the Registrar submits approved registration requests to the host school on the student's behalf. If the host school requires permission of the instructor to register, it is the student's responsibility to obtain permission prior to registration and present to the Union Registrar.
- F. Courses taken concurrently at other schools must be taken for full credit. Students may not audit courses or take standard-credit courses in other schools as Pass/Fail or for "R" (reading) credit, except by permission of the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs.
- G. Students enrolled in courses at other schools are subject to the rules of Union regarding extensions and other deadlines.

Partner Schools: Concurrently Earned Credit

- A. Students enrolled in a degree program at Union Theological Seminary may register concurrently for graduate courses at the following partner schools, in accordance with the terms of current cross-registration agreements
 - i. New York Theological Group Schools (a/k/a "Consortium"), including: General Theological Seminary, Fordham University (Graduate School of Arts and Sciences & Graduate School of Religion and Religious Education), St. Vladimir's Orthodox Theological Seminary, Hebrew Union College
 - ii. Jewish Theological Seminary;
 - iii. Drew University School of Theology;
 - iv. Columbia University Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, School of the Arts, School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA – limited to 9 credits), and inter-faculty courses. Courses available for cross-registration with Columbia begin with the letters G, R, or W at the 3000-level or higher, or begin with the letter U at the 4000-level or higher.
 - v. Teachers College, Columbia University
- B. Students who take courses at partner schools listed above with the prior authorization of Union generally do not pay any tuition or fees to the host school; the cost is included in Union tuition.
 - i. Union incurs the cost for semester course fees for the first course taken at Columbia University for students in the MAR, MDiv, and STM programs, and first two courses for students in the PhD program, if the invoice is promptly submitted
 - ii. Students in the MAR, MDiv, and STM programs who take a second course course at Columbia are responsible for 50% of the course fees, and the entirety of the fees thereafter. PhD students are responsible for 50% of each course fee for all courses after the second.
- C. Academic credit for authorized courses at partner schools will be recognized by Union without a formal credit transfer request and will be applied toward Union degree requirements upon receipt of an official transcript from the partner school, provided the student earns a minimum grade of B (or equivalent).

Non-Partner Schools: Concurrently Earned Credit

- A. Students enrolled in a degree program at Union Theological Seminary may request authorization to register concurrently for graduate courses at an accredited non-partner school, subject to the credit limitations and in accordance with the procedures above.
- B. If the non-partner school is a graduate school of theology in the United States or Canada, it must be accredited by the Association of Theological Schools. If the non-partner graduate school of theology is located elsewhere, it must be accredited by a comparable accrediting body. All other non-partner schools must be accredited by a principal regional accrediting body.
- C. The cost of authorized courses taken concurrently at non-partner schools is not included in Union tuition and shall be the sole responsibility of the student. Doctoral students who are required to take biblical language courses that are available only at non-partner institutions are not expected to bear the cost.
- D. Upon the completion of an authorized course taken concurrently in a non-partner school, Union students who have earned a minimum grade of "B" may apply for a transfer of credit(s) to be applied toward their Union degree. The transfer credit application must be submitted no later than 90 days after the student has received the grade, and must be accompanied by an official transcript, a course syllabus, and a sample of the student's written work in the course.

- E. It is within the sole discretion of the Dean or Associate Dean to determine credit equivalencies between Union courses and courses taken concurrently in non-partner schools, and determine how many, if any, credits earned concurrently in a particular course at a non-partner school may be transferred and applied to the Union degree.

GUIDED READING AND GUIDED RESEARCH

Guided readings (master's students) and guided research (doctoral students) are significant in expanding the range of the Union curriculum. These courses harmonize students' special interests and faculty expertise in cases where a full-scale class cannot be offered, or offered with regularity. These courses are not intended as an alternative for pursuing studies normally available in regular academic courses. For this reason, a guided reading/research is not normally permitted when scheduled offerings on the same or similar topic are available within the student's projected years in residence.

Enhancing research and writing skills, in general, is not an acceptable use of guided reading/guided research credits and therefore is not permitted. Students intending to pursue a guided reading or guided research should first discuss the intent and specific topic with the potential sponsoring faculty member. Normally, guided reading/research courses are with full-time Union faculty. A guided reading/research with a part-time faculty member or non-Union faculty member needs approval from the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs. Following an agreement of assignments and reading(s), students complete and submit a specific form.

Master's students submit this Guided Reading form: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/course-registration-grades/guided-reading-401-approval/> including the agreed-upon topic which the faculty member then reviews. Doctoral students submit this Guided Research form: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/course-registration-grades/guided-research-phd-students/> including the agreed-upon topic which the faculty member then reviews. The above form serves as the registration form submitted to and processed by the Registrar.

Students should not normally* accumulate from guided readings:

- More than 3 elective credits in the Master of Arts in Social Justice program
- More than 6 elective credits in the Master of Arts in Religion program
- More than 6 elective credits, with advisor permission, in the Master of Sacred Theology program
- More than 9 elective credits in the Master of Divinity program
- Advanced Certificate and students are not eligible

Islam & Interreligious Engagement concentrators permitted 15 guided reading credits*

To receive credit for a guided reading/research, an established minimum amount of contact time is required which comprises more than mere professor/student interactions, such as meetings accompanied by out-of-class work. Due to the fluid nature of course offerings, the below standardizes an equitable learning experience for a guided reading or guided research based on credit value.

Academic credit for one-credit courses:

Equates to one fifty-minute session of classroom instruction during each week of the academic semester. When accompanied by out-of-class reading, research, writing, preparation or projects related to the course, an additional two hours of effort for each session is required.

A guided reading/research for one credit involves:

- 1) An appropriately designed reading list, equitable for a one credit weighting, prepared under the guidance of the professor, and demonstrably addressed through:
 - a. an end-of-semester viva exam OR
 - b. a submitted set of written annotations to the bibliography OR
 - c. an essay or other comparable weighted assessed project as a substantive part of the final grade
- 2) A person-to-person encounter with the sponsoring professor on at least two occasions in the semester, for a minimum of one hour each time, in addition to the requirements mentioned above.

Academic credit for two-credit courses:

Involves a total of not less than 100 minutes of in-class instruction each week during the semester, coupled with an additional four hours of weekly out-of-class work.

A guided reading/research for two credits involves:

- 1) An appropriately designed reading list, equitable for a two-credit weighting, prepared under the guidance of the professor, and demonstrably addressed through:
 - a. an end-of-semester viva exam OR
 - b. a submitted set of written annotations to the bibliography OR
 - c. an essay or other comparable weighted assessed project as a substantive part of the final grade
- 2) A person-to-person encounter with the sponsoring professor on at least three occasions during the semester, for a minimum of one hour each time, in addition to the requirements mentioned above.

Academic credit for three-credit courses states the following:

A three-credit course involves a total of 150 minutes of in-class instruction each week, coupled with an additional six hours of weekly out-of-class work.

A guided reading/research for three credits involves:

- 1) A substantive reading list prepared under the guidance of the professor, and demonstrably addressed either through an end-of-semester viva exam, or a submitted set of written annotations to the bibliography.
- 2) A person-to-person encounter with the sponsoring professor on at least four occasions in the semester, for a minimum of one hour each time, in addition to the requirements mentioned above.
- 3) An essay or other comparable weighted assessed project which as a substantive part of the final grade.

ONLINE COURSE ATTENDANCE EXPECTATIONS

Students are expected to give their full attention to class when attending remotely, with their cameras on for the duration of class. They must attend from a suitable quiet location without other people in the immediate vicinity (for the sake of class confidentiality). Students should not attend class while operating a motor vehicle or on public transportation. If a student is observed driving during class, the instructor may remove the student from the class and treat that session as an unexcused absence.

ALTERNATIVE ATTENDANCE

All students are expected to attend classes in person unless they are registered for an online course. There is no long-term approval process for remote requests for classes that are coded as "in person." These guidelines refer to alternative means of attendance only when a student cannot temporarily attend class in person due to illness or a family emergency.

Temporary Arrangements for Alternative Attendance for In-Person Class

- 1) Such arrangements must be due to illness or a family emergency.
- 2) Alternative attendance should not exceed two weekly class sessions, and faculty should report individual student absences of more than two class sessions to the Associate Dean for Student Affairs.
- 3) Students who must be absent for longer than three class sessions due to medical reasons must provide appropriate medical documentation to Sonali Prabhakar.
 - a. Based on medical documentation, a referral may be made to disability services which would then initiate the accommodation process outlined below.
- 4) Faculty are not required to accommodate requests for alternative arrangements, including Zoom attendance.
- 5) It is the student's responsibility to initiate a conversation with the professor about an appropriate alternative to in-person attendance, with as much advance notice as possible. Examples of alternative arrangements include:
 - a) have a classmate take notes
 - b) attend the class virtually via Zoom (see bullet points below) only during this time period
 - c) meet with a classmate after the class session for a particular assignment
 - d) create an assignment that a student could complete on their own to make up missed class or content

If the instructor permits Zoom attendance:

- the Zoom link is provided only to the student with the approved alternative attendance. The student must not share the link with other students.
- the student is expected to give their full attention to class, located in a suitable quiet location without other people in the immediate vicinity (for the sake of class confidentiality). Students should not attend class while driving a car or on public transportation.
- IT staff is not able to create ad hoc/last minute Zoom setup in spaces where a setup does not already exist, and should not be asked to do so. Relocation to another classroom for a particular session may be possible, but not guaranteed (and up to the instructor's discretion). Classroom change requests must be made with at least 48 hours' notice to Director of Housing and Campus Services and the Registrar.

Reasonable Disability Accommodations

Please note that, generally, remote attendance for a class designated as in-person is not a disability-related accommodation as it may not provide equal access in the classroom. Students experiencing disability-related barriers they believe are preventing them from attending class in person and engaging in a meaningful learning experience should contact Sonali Prabhakar (sprabhakar@uts.columbia.edu).

- 1) Determinations regarding remote participation as an accommodation are made on a case-by-case basis and must meet the standards of a "reasonable accommodation," based on the essential elements of the course and student needs.
- 2) Accommodations for zooming into in-person classes must be considered one course at a time and are not assumed to transfer automatically from one course or semester to another.
- 3) The Zoom link is provided only to the student with the accommodation. The student must not share the link with other students.
- 4) IT staff is not able to create ad hoc / last minute Zoom setup in spaces where a setup does not already exist. Relocation to another classroom for a particular session may be possible, but not guaranteed (and up to instructor's discretion). Classroom change requests must be made with at least 48 hours' notice to Director of Housing & Campus Services and the Registrar.

Occasionally, a faculty member may choose to host an in-person class remotely, or the Seminary may decide to shift an in-person class to remote due to weather emergencies. In either case, the faculty member will be in contact with the class to provide a Zoom link for remote access.

COURSEWORK EXTENSION POLICY

Faculty have the discretion to set due dates for assignments up until the designated last date to submit coursework for each term, as published in the academic calendar. Faculty may then grant extensions between that date and the published last day of the term without notifying the Academic Office. This provides built-in extended time by universal design for all students.

If a student experiences an acute medical or personal crisis that requires an extension beyond the last day of the term, they must submit a request through the Academic Office for approval by their professor. Documentation may be required to support the request. That form is available online: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/extension_request

The form must be submitted by noon on the published last day of the term. After the form is submitted, it is sent to the instructor for approval. The student will receive an email notification when the professor approves or denies the request. If the professor denies the extension, the student must submit any outstanding coursework by midnight on the last day of the term.

Ordinarily, extensions beyond the last day of the term are between one and seven calendar days. The latest possible date for an approved extension is published on the Academic Calendar and linked in the extension request form for each term. After that date, any missing work will be assigned a 0 and the final grade calculated accordingly.

Graduating students in their final semester of coursework are not eligible for extensions beyond the last day of the semester.

COURSE EVALUATIONS

Students are notified towards the end of each semester to complete a final evaluation for each course, open for a few weeks. Evaluations are completely anonymous. With reference to the course's learning goals, students assess their learning experience as well as professors' instruction and leadership of the course(s). Teaching fellows are also evaluated (if applicable). Course evaluations close before final grades are made visible to students. Faculty receive course evaluations about two weeks after final grades are submitted. Student evaluation of faculty and courses is an important piece of institutional assessment.

FINAL GRADES

Most three-credit courses follow an official final grading system based on a credit/no credit model. A final grade of Credit (CR) indicates successful fulfillment of course and learning objectives. A final grade of No Credit (NC) indicates a student did not fulfill the course requirements and learning objectives. In certain cases, two other grades may be issued. Marginal Credit (MC) recognizes satisfactory completion of some, but not all, course requirements and learning objectives. The above grading scheme applies to Union courses. Consortium students enrolled at Union, and Union students enrolled in consortium courses, are normally awarded traditional letter grades.

Narrative Evaluations

The official grade system is supplemented with written narrative evaluations prepared and submitted by faculty at the conclusion of a course. Narrative evaluations are academic qualitative assessments. They identify the learning objectives and assessment measures of the course, and provide a detailed evaluation of a student's particular strengths and weaknesses in relation to the objectives and measures.

The narrative evaluation is considered unofficial and not delivered as an official transcript by the Registrar's Office. The student may send the narrative evaluation to third parties at their discretion. Course syllabi and grading rubrics contain additional details from faculty on their assessment process, measures, and course expectations.

Faculty Feedback

Faculty are expected to provide consistent feedback to students throughout the semester, prior to the final grade and narrative evaluation. Ongoing and specific feedback is essential to the learning process for students to move towards successful fulfillment of course requirements, learning objectives, and degree program goals. Feedback can include graded assignments, comments on assignments, written or verbal feedback, and can occur individually or during class. All student work should be graded and returned within two weeks.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Students at Union are expected to observe the highest standards of integrity and honesty in their academic work. A critical part of such honesty consists of proper acknowledgement of the ideas of others and the complete absence of plagiarism in submitted work. Plagiarism consists of the appropriation and presentation of the writings or other creative work of another person or persons as one's own without acknowledgement. It is a dishonest violation of the intellectual property of another, and ethically akin to fraud and theft. Plagiarism should be avoided in all circumstances.

Plagiarism can take the form of quoting sentences or whole paragraphs of text (or images, or musical scores, as the case may be) without the use of quotation marks, or without adequate bibliographic citation. It can also be committed by the close paraphrasing of text written by another if it is done without due acknowledgement of the source. Minor verbal changes in a text that has been appropriated do not remove the consequences of plagiarism. To avoid plagiarism, students should always use quotation marks and an appropriate bibliographic reference when quoting the text of another. Verbal transcription of a substantial piece of text without quotation marks may constitute plagiarism even if the original author is cited or referred to in some way.

It is also good academic practice always to cite, with appropriate bibliographic reference, the source of an idea presented in a paper or other submission, when that idea originated with another person and was derived from another person's work. This applies even when the idea is presented in the student's own words. Failure to cite the ideas of another is bad scholarship.

Plagiarism is subject to academic penalties including receiving No Credit for the course in which the plagiarism occurs. It is also subject to disciplinary penalties up to and including dismissal from the Seminary.

Disciplinary Procedure

Whenever plagiarism is suspected in a student's work, the instructor of the class is required to meet with the student to inform them of the suspicion. If the instructor is satisfied after the meeting that either no plagiarism has in fact occurred, or that the fault was very minor and the student has promised to correct future academic practice, no further action need be taken. In all such cases, the instructor shall draw the student's attention to the Seminary's policy on the subject and submit a brief written report of the incident to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs.

Where the infraction is serious and substantial, the instructor must report the facts in full to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, who meets with the student and the instructor separately and/or together. After investigating, the Dean refers the matter to the Committee on Standing (CoS) for adjudication. In that event, both instructor and student are permitted to make representations to the CoS in writing, in person, or both. The decisions of the CoS shall be communicated by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs to the students and to the instructor in writing. These decisions are final and not subject to appeal.

ACADEMIC STANDING AND DEFICIENT GRADES

Satisfactory work in courses and satisfactory progress in fulfilling the degree requirements is expected of all candidates. Every student at Union is expected to observe the highest standards in their academic and scholarly work. Any student found guilty of plagiarism or other forms of academic dishonesty is subject to the discipline of the Seminary, including suspension and dismissal from the Seminary.

The Committee on Standing, made up of faculty and administrators on the Academic Affairs Committee (AAC), meets at the end of each semester and at other times as necessary to consider the standing of students whose academic work or progress is less than satisfactory or otherwise deemed deficient, or who is suspected of violating the academic integrity policy. The Committee on Standing (CoS) is chaired by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs and is made up of faculty members, the Associate Dean for Academic Administration, the Associate Dean for Student Affairs, the Vice President for Admissions and Financial Aid, and the Registrar. The Dean and faculty members have voice and vote. Other members of the committee have voice and no vote. The Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, Associate Dean for Academic Administration, Associate Dean for Student Affairs, Vice President for Admissions and Financial Aid, and Registrar are permanent members of the committee. Faculty members normally serve for one year. The CoS may wish to consult and inform as needed, the Director of Housing and Campus Services, the Visiting Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education, and the academic advisor of a student under discussion.

The minimum Title IV requirement for a student in their second academic year is a Credit (CR) average or standing consistent with graduation. The records of students who have received No Credit (NC)/Fail (F) or Marginal Credit (MC) in a course are subject to review. In the case of students who receive one MC, the CoS may issue letters of warning. If a student receives two or more MCs within a semester, or if a student receives an MC in two subsequent semesters, the student is ordinarily placed on academic probation for the following semester, or such longer period as the CoS may deem appropriate (the "probationary period"). If within the probationary period, the student receives another MC, it is within the power of the CoS to propose additional sanctions or remedial measures.

In the case of students who receive No Credit (NC) or Fail (F) for a course, the Committee on Standing may place that student on academic probation for a probationary period of a minimum of one semester. Students have until the end of the next semester or other probationary period following receipt of the probation letter in which to meet the criteria set by the CoS. At the end of the probationary period, the CoS shall recommend in writing, one of the following: removal of probation, continued probation, or dismissal from the Seminary.

The Committee on Standing may dismiss students for situations other than those specified above, and nothing herein shall limit the Committee's discretion in this regard. When dismissal from the Seminary is proposed or considered, the CoS must notify the student in writing of the possibility of dismissal. If the CoS concludes the situation is remediable, the student must be clearly informed of remedial action expected, the time frame in which such action is to be taken and completed by the student, and any other conditions deemed appropriate by the CoS. If the student does not complete the remedial action in the specified time frame, or otherwise fulfill the conditions specified by the CoS, they may be dismissed from the Seminary. The CoS may also determine, in its sole discretion that the situation is not remediable, and that immediate dismissal from the Seminary is warranted.

Circumstances that may be not remediable may include, but are not limited to:

- academic deficiencies that are deemed not to be susceptible to reasonable remedial activity
- situations involving threats of violence or imminent harm
- moral turpitude
- occurrences or conduct reflecting or potentially reflecting negatively on Union's reputation or community
- other situations where remedial action will, in the judgment of the CoS, not be appropriate or available

Students who are placed on academic probation are placed on on-campus housing probation (if applicable). This means students maintain their on-campus housing during one semester of academic probation. Students who remain on academic probation a consecutive semester are no longer able to maintain on-campus housing unless an extenuating circumstance affected the student's ability to maintain satisfactory academic progress, such as an illness, or personal or family crisis.

Students who are placed on academic probation may find that they have also failed to make Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP). Federal Title IV regulations require Union to monitor SAP for the purpose of determining eligibility for financial aid. Students who fail to make SAP for two or more consecutive semesters may lose their eligibility for financial aid and have their aid suspended. Following the CoS, students should contact the Director of Financial Aid if they are unsure of their eligibility for aid based on their academic probation status. Students have the right to appeal the suspension of their financial aid; if appeal are approved, student is placed on financial aid probation for one semester and continues to receive aid. Generally, aid eligibility appeals are requested on the basis of injury or illness, the death of a relative, or other special circumstances that adversely impacted academic performance.

Students placed on academic probation are ineligible to serve in Student Senate and Caucus leadership positions and on governance committees such as Faculty and Board of Trustees committees.

A student may be required to take a leave of absence or withdraw from the Seminary for other than academic reasons, since the personal behavior and emotional health of students is within the scope of the CoS. While an individual situation is being assessed, a student may be required by administrative referral to have an evaluation by the Seminary's mental health consultants.

APPEAL PROCESS

Appeal procedures may take place only on regular business days, Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. No matter adjudicated in one appeal can be used to form the basis of a second or separate appeal.

Appealing Failing Grade

If a student believes that an instructor erroneously evaluated their class work to result in a final grade of No Credit (NC) or Fail (F), the following process of appeal should be used to resolve the matter. Other grades are not subject to appeal.

Step One. Discussion and Request for Review

The student is expected to bring their complaint to the instructor's attention in writing, with a copy to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, email acceptable. Following the written request for review, a conference occurs with the student, instructor, and Dean to discuss the grade and the evaluation. The written request must be made no later than seven (7) days after the final grade is posted and made available to the student. The instructor normally provides the student and the Registrar with an additional written explanation of the grade within ten (10) days following the conference. The student may continue to step two if the instructor does not issue a written reply by this time or if the student desires to continue the appeal after further explanation by the instructor.

Step Two. Petition to the Committee on Standing

The student's petition may only be made if the terms in step one are met, which must be submitted in writing no more than seven (7) business days following the instructor's additional explanation, or conference, whichever occurs latest. The petition must state the grounds for appeal and be accompanied by a copy of the course syllabus, copies of all assigned written work and examinations, and a copy of the instructor's evaluations.

The instructor is also notified and asked to provide a copy of the syllabus, along with any revisions of the syllabus and any additional information they might think fit, by the end of the third week of classes. The Committee on Standing shall review the materials and make a decision that is not subject to appeal, by February 28 if a fall semester grade, or September 30 if a spring semester grade. The Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs normally informs the student and the instructor of the result within ten (10) days of the Committee on Standing meeting. During the entire appeal process, the grade issued by the instructor continues to appear on the student's record.

Appealing Academic Dismissal

A student who has received a letter of academic dismissal from the Committee on Standing may feel that extenuating circumstances warrant reconsideration of their case. The student may submit a written petition to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs within ten (10) calendar days of receiving their letter of academic dismissal. This written petition should contain all new and relevant information bearing upon the student's academic work and the appeal. The Dean shall make the final decision on the matter and shall inform the student of the result of their appeal within ten (10) calendar days. The Dean's decision is not subject to appeal.

COURSE REPEAT POLICY

Students are expected to earn passing grades (P, MC and CR) in each course. Students who earn NC or F in a course may self-enroll in that course in a subsequent semester. Any further repeat enrollment in a course, i.e. a third time, requires approval of the Committee on Standing. There can be no fourth attempt at a course. All NC or F grades remain on a student's transcript, even if they pass the course in a subsequent attempt.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Degree-seeking students are generally required to be enrolled continuously from admission every fall and spring semester to graduation. However, if faced with extraordinary personal circumstances, they may be eligible for a leave of absence for one semester, up to one consecutive year. Students discerning whether to take a leave of absence are encouraged to discuss this with their faculty advisor or the Associate Dean for Student Affairs and are required to consult with the Director of Financial Aid & Business Services before proceeding with required forms.

Non-degree students are not required to be enrolled continuously, and may choose to not register for a fall or spring semester without requesting an official leave of absence from the Seminary. Those not registered for two consecutive fall/spring semesters are withdrawn and must reapply to continue taking classes.

Enrollment status is not considered active while on leave of absence and therefore on-campus housing or access to a commuter locker is not permitted. Students may maintain health insurance coverage through Columbia University while on leave of absence and are required to pay any associated fees. The Seminary will not cancel health insurance without student consent. Students maintain access to their Union email address and are expected to check it regularly for official communication from the Seminary. Libraries and other facilities normally may be used only by students who are currently registered. Students on leave may not participate in extracurricular activities. If so instructed by the Dean, a student on leave must remain away from the Seminary campus. Students are not permitted to earn credits toward the degree, audit courses at Union, or complete outstanding coursework while on leave from the Seminary. Coursework at other institutions is discouraged and not eligible for transfer back to Union.

Students on an F-1 visa should contact the Office of Student Affairs to discuss their options for voluntary medical leave. Upon approval, F-1 students will be permitted to maintain their F-1 status active and remain legally in the U.S. This does not apply to voluntary personal leaves of absence or involuntary leaves of absence. Please refer to the International Student Handbook for further information.

Students are not eligible for an "in-school" deferment of Seminary loans or loans obtained from other student loan programs during the leave of absence. During a leave, students have a six-month grace period before they must begin making payments.

Upon return, any need-based grants are recalculated in light of the student's latest financial information. While the Seminary tries to renew scholarship support for the duration of the degree, there is no guarantee. The Office of Financial Aid will review the funding award prior to re-enrollment in the program and determine the type and amount of aid the student may be eligible to receive. Eligibility for student aid is determined by the student's degree program, enrollment status, award availability, and applicable federal and institutional eligibility requirements.

Students are expected to vacate the Seminary by the date their leave of absence begins. Exceptions, which are rarely made, must be requested in writing and approved by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs and the Director of Housing and Campus Services in consultation with the Associate Dean for Student Affairs. If the request is granted, rent is charged at the non-Union student rate.

The maximum time to completion remains in effect, applicable to both full-time and part-time students. Refer to the Maximum Time to Completion policy in this catalog.

Voluntary Leave of Absence

Degree-seeking students must request personal or medical leaves of absence by July 15th for the upcoming Fall semester or December 15th for the upcoming Spring semester. If an acute medical emergency occurs after those dates, refer to the policy below.

After consulting with the Associate Dean for Student Affairs and the Director of Financial Aid & Business Services, students must complete a Leave of Absence Request: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/leave_of_absence. Submission of the form is considered the only official way to notify the school of a leave request, and students who fail to submit the form may be withdrawn, if not registered for classes, or receive failing grades, if they stop attending class without formally withdrawing. Students requesting a medical leave must also submit documentation from their medical provider to the Associate Dean for Student Affairs.

If the leave is approved by the Associate Dean for Student Affairs and the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs, it is then submitted to the Registrar for processing. The student is granted one semester on leave of absence with subsequent semesters reviewed individually. Students must apply each semester by July 15 (if on leave during spring) and by December 15 (if on leave during fall) to extend their leave of absence. The maximum time for a leave of absence is two consecutive semesters, with the exception of mandated military service. Failure to return after two semesters results in withdrawal from the Seminary.

Students who request a leave of absence due to extraordinary circumstances (ordinarily medical) after the add/drop deadline will have a grade of "W" permanently notated for each course on their transcript. Students are assessed tuition for that term based on the schedule provided in "Withdrawal."

Personal

A voluntary leave from the Seminary is granted to students who wish to take time away from their studies for a variety of reasons, including employment opportunities, personal or family circumstances, or simply to gain perspective on their academic and career priorities. After a temporary leave from the Seminary, students often return better prepared to make the most of academic opportunities.

Medical

When students are faced with medical or mental health concerns that may impact study habits, course attendance, or class preparation, they are urged to consult with their advisors and/or the Associate Dean for Student Affairs to discuss taking a medical leave of absence from the seminary. A student who must interrupt study temporarily because of physical or mental health concerns may request a medical leave. The medical or mental health professional who has been providing treatment to the student will, with the student's written consent, confirm in writing that a medical leave is warranted. Students who are hospitalized during an academic term or who miss class for more than two weeks due to health issues are generally advised to take a medical leave from the term in progress.

For any request for a medical leave of absence, Union Theological Seminary reserves the right to consider at the time the leave request is made or at the time the student seeks to return whether it will require the student to be evaluated by Columbia University Health Services.

Involuntary Leave of Absence

Under certain circumstances, a student may be placed on an involuntary leave of absence. An involuntary leave of absence is not a disciplinary sanction. A student who prefers to take a voluntary leave of absence for medical reasons rather than to be placed on an involuntary leave of absence for medical reasons is ordinarily allowed to do so.

Transcripts do not distinguish between voluntary and involuntary leave of absence.

The Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs at Union Theological Seminary may place a student on involuntary leave of absence for the following reasons:

- Medical circumstances:
 1. The student's behavior poses a direct threat to the health or safety of any person, or has seriously disrupted others in the student's residential community or academic environment; and either the student's threatening, self-destructive, or disruptive behavior is determined to be the result of a medical condition, or the student has refused to cooperate with efforts by Columbia University Health Services to determine the cause of the behavior.
 2. The student is not cleared to return to enrollment and/or residence at Union Theological Seminary following either: (i) a hospitalization or emergency room visit that raises serious concerns about the student's health or well-being; or (ii) other circumstances that raise serious concerns about the student's health or well-being and reasonably call into question their ability to function as a student in the Union community. The decision to place a student on an involuntary leave of absence for health-related reasons is made in consultation with Columbia University Health Services (which may consider information from the student's current and/or former health care providers, if made available by the student) after an individualized assessment of all the pertinent factors, such as the nature of the student's conduct, the nature, severity, and duration of the risks, the likelihood of potential injury, and whether reasonable modifications of policies, practices, or procedures will mitigate the risk. However, reasonable modifications do not include changes that would fundamentally alter the academic program or unduly burden the resources of staffing capabilities of Union Theological Seminary, or require a level of care or monitoring that would exceed the standard of care that a seminary administrator can be expected to provide.
- Alleged criminal behavior: the student has been arrested on allegations of serious criminal behavior, or has been formally charged by law enforcement authorities for such behavior.
- Risk to the community: formal processes confirm that a student has violated a disciplinary rule of the Seminary, and the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs concludes that the student poses a risk to the safety or educational environment of the community.
- Indebtedness: the student's previous term bill is unpaid, and the student has not made arrangements acceptable to the Seminary to address the issue.
- Failure to provide medical documentation of required immunizations.

Prior to placing a student on involuntary leave of absence, the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs will consult with the Associate Dean for Student Affairs, the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs, and/or with the Committee on Standing and may also consult with other administrators, as appropriate.

Students will be notified in writing that they have been placed on an involuntary leave of absence and may petition the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs for reconsideration within 7 calendar days. If the student disputes any of the factual considerations underlying the decision, the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs may refer the matter to the Committee on Standing before making a final decision.

Recording and Reporting Leaves of Absence

Union officially records leaves of absence and reports them to the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) according to the following schedule:

- Leaves requested/required during the semester: The start of the leave is dated according to the date the request was submitted (voluntary) or the student was notified that they were placed on leave (involuntary). That date is also the date used as the withdrawal date for all courses and the date of determination.

- Leaves requested/required between semesters: The start of the leave is dated according to the last date of the semester/term the student last attended classes. The date the request was submitted (voluntary) or the student was notified that they were placed on leave (involuntary) is the date of determination.
- Leaves requested after a withdrawal for failure to return: The start of the leave is dated according to the last date of the semester/term the student last attended classes. The date the request was submitted is the date of determination.

Returning to the Seminary

Students hoping to return from a leave of absence should generally make a request during the registration period for the upcoming semester (typically April for the Fall semester and November for the Spring semester) so that they can register for classes. The form to do so is here: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/return_from_loa. Students taking a leave in the fall semester are not eligible for January Intercession coursework, and students taking a leave in the spring semester are not eligible for Summer coursework. The latest possible deadlines to notify the Seminary are July 15th for the upcoming Fall semester or December 15th for the upcoming Spring semester. If a student fails to notify the seminary by the appropriate deadline, they will be withdrawn.

Students who were placed on an involuntary leave of absence must also write to the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs to demonstrate that the circumstances that led to their leave have been satisfactorily addressed and that they are ready to resume their studies. The final decision on whether to allow a student to return is made by the Dean/Vice President of Academic Affairs.

If the leave, whether voluntary or involuntary, was for medical reasons, then the student must also provide a letter from the student's medical provider certifying that they have undergone a continuous course of treatment and are now medically cleared to resume studies to the Associate Dean for Student Affairs. In addition, students on medical leave may be required to consult with Columbia University Health Services (and to grant permission to Union and Columbia University Health Services to obtain their treatment records and communicate with their treatment providers) for a professional assessment of the student's stability and readiness to return. Any student may, of course, refuse to allow consultation between the student's clinician(s), Columbia University Health Services, and Union, but such a refusal will not prevent Union from making a decision regarding a student's return to residence or continued enrollment.

Students returning from a leave of absence are required to satisfy all existing holds on their student account prior to registering, including clearing any outstanding financial balances.

WITHDRAWAL

Program Withdrawal

Program withdrawal refers to the ending of a student's enrollment in a degree program. A student is considered withdrawn from their program when the student (1) has filed a withdrawal request with the Registrar using this link: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/withdrawal_request, (2) has failed to register for courses by the end of the pre-semester registration period, (3) has failed to return from a leave of absence, (4) has registered for but failed to attend any courses by the school's census date, or (5) has been withdrawn by the Committee on Standing as a result of disciplinary action. Students who fail to register for courses by the end of the pre-semester registration period or fail to return from a leave of absence have seven days from the notification of their withdrawal, or until the first day of class (if less than seven days), to request a leave of absence from the program.

Students who wish to leave the Seminary in good standing, without the intention of returning, must discuss this with their faculty advisor, the Associate Dean for Student Affairs, and Financial Aid before making a final decision. After deciding to depart from the Seminary, students must complete a Withdrawal Request available here: https://utsnyc.formstack.com/forms/withdrawal_request. Submission of the form is considered the only official way to notify the school of a withdrawal, and students who fail to submit the form may be administratively withdrawn, if not registered for classes, or receive failing grades, if they stop attending class without formally withdrawing.

Students are considered enrolled until the date the withdrawal form is submitted. The student's responsibilities, both academic and financial, continue until that date, and any adjustment of fees that the student owes or has paid to the Seminary is reckoned from that date. Except in rare cases, withdrawal is allowed only prior to the examination period. Students are dropped from all their courses upon completing the withdrawal process.

Recording and Reporting Withdrawals

Union officially records withdrawals and reports them to the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) according to the following schedule:

- Withdrawals requested/required during the semester: The date of withdrawal is determined according to the date the withdrawal form was submitted (voluntary) or the student was notified that they were withdrawn (involuntary). That date is also the date used as the withdrawal date for all courses and the date of determination.
- Withdrawals requested/required between semesters: The date of withdrawal is determined according to the last date of the semester/term the student last attended classes. The date the withdrawal form was submitted (voluntary) or the student was notified that they were withdrawn (involuntary) is the date of determination.
- Withdrawals for failure to return: The date of withdrawal is determined according to the last date of the semester/term the student last attended classes. The date the registration period closes (failure to register) or the last date to submit a request to return (failure to return from a leave of absence) is the date of determination.

Once the decision to withdraw has occurred, the Financial Aid Office must calculate the amount of financial aid earned prior to withdrawing through a process called R2T4 (Return to Title IV). Federal regulations require that students who withdraw from all courses before the end of the semester must return any unearned funds to the respective Federal Program. To learn more about how earned financial aid is calculated, review the Return of Title IV Funds on our website here:

<https://utsnyc.edu/admissions/financial-aid/return-title-iv-funds-r2t4/>.

A student withdrawing before classes begin is refunded 100 percent of the tuition paid to the Seminary. Students only receive a refund on tuition less any applicable financial aid earned as of the date of withdrawal. The Seminary's refund policy complies with federal regulations and New York State Law. Once classes begin, a student may withdraw and, after deducting the withdrawal fee, a partial tuition refund is made according to the following schedule of reimbursement.

Refund Schedule for Student Withdrawal from All Courses During the Semester:

Semester-Long Courses		January, Weekend Intensives, or Summer Courses
If withdrawal occurs...	Amount of remaining tuition refunded:	If withdrawal occurs...	Amount of remaining tuition refunded:
1 st week of classes	90%	Before 2 nd class session	90%
2 nd week of classes	80%	After 2 nd class session	No refund
3 rd week of classes	70%
4 th week of classes	60%
5 th or 6 th week of classes	50%
7 th week of classes	40%
After 7 th week of classes	No refund

The refund schedule also applies to housing charges for on-campus housing. Fees, such as the health services fee, meal plan, and student activities fee, are not refundable at any time. View the Housing Handbook here: <https://utsnyc.edu/life/union-housing/residence-halls/housing-handbook/> for information about departing from residence halls.

Prior to withdrawing, students are required to contact Student Affairs to determine the impact on their health insurance. The Seminary does not cancel health insurance without student notification. Identification cards are deactivated prohibiting automatic access to campus.

READMISSION

A student who has been withdrawn from Union due to a voluntary withdrawal, failure to return from a leave of absence, or dismissal must reapply for admission if they desire to return to coursework at Union. Students who withdrew 7 or more years prior to their reapplication must restart their program, as prior coursework cannot be counted towards the degree.

To reapply, the student must complete the regular application for admission and submit all materials, pay the application fee, and provide transcripts for additional coursework taken since starting their degree program at Union (if any). The application must comply with published application deadlines.

Readmission to the program is not guaranteed. Readmission decisions are based on the submitted application materials, as well as the student's academic record at Union. Students may email the Office of Admissions at admissions@utsnyc.edu for more information.

Students who have been dismissed from their degree program for any reason must wait at least one academic year from their term of dismissal before they will be eligible to reapply to the program.

Readmission Policy for Active Duty US Military Service

A student who withdraws from Union, because they wish to perform voluntary or involuntary uniformed service in the US Armed Forces (including service as a member of the National Guard or Reserve), is eligible to be promptly reinstated so long as the conditions below are met. A new application for admission is not required.

Conditions for Reinstatement

1. The student must have performed uniformed service while on active duty, active duty for training, or full-time National Guard duty under Federal authority for a period of more than 30 consecutive days under a call or order to be on active duty for more than 30 days
2. Advance written or verbal notice of the student's withdrawal or leave of absence due to active duty military service was provided to the Registrar, Associate Dean of Student Affairs, or the Associate Dean of Academic Administration.
 - a. Notice can be provided either by the student or an appropriate officer or representative of the US military. Advance notice is not required if it is precluded by military necessity. If advance notice was not given and was not precluded by military necessity, the servicemember or appropriate officer may submit an attestation when the student seeks readmission to the program.
3. The cumulative length of all absences for uniformed service (service time only) must not exceed five years.
4. A student must provide notice of their request to be reinstated within three years of the completion of the period of service. For a student who is hospitalized for or convalescing from an illness or injury incurred in, or aggravated during, the performance of service, notice must be provided not later than two years after the end of the period that is necessary for recovery from such illness or injury.
5. The student cannot have received a dishonorable or bad conduct discharge or have been sentenced in a court-martial.

Notification of Intent to be Reinstated

To be reinstated, the student must notify the seminary in writing by following the instructions in the Returning to Seminary section of the Leave of Absence Policy.

The student is required to provide military obligation documentation to the Office of Student Affairs as part of their notification of an intent to return. Once reinstated, the student will return to the program with the same academic status as when they left the program, which means that they will return to:

1. the same or similar program, unless the student requests or agrees to admission to another program because their program is no longer offered;
2. the same enrollment status (for example, full-time), unless the student requests or agrees to a different enrollment status;
3. the same number of credit hours completed, unless the student is admitted to a different program and the credit hours are not transferable;
4. the same academic standing and satisfactory academic progress status;
5. for the first academic year, the same tuition and fee charges as when the student left, unless military benefits will pay the increase, but never more than the tuition charged to other students; and
6. for subsequent academic years or for a different program, the same tuition and fees that are charged to other students.

If Union determines that a returning student is not prepared to reenroll in the same academic program with the same academic status or is unable to complete the program, the seminary must make reasonable efforts to enable the student to resume or complete the program at no additional cost to the student. If such efforts are unsuccessful or place an undue hardship on the seminary, Union is not required to readmit the student.

MAXIMUM TIME TO COMPLETION

The table below sets forth the Maximum Time to Completion for all Union degree programs. All degree-seeking students, including part-time students, must complete the requirements for their respective programs within the maximum time to completion set forth below. The maximum time to completion remains in effect for students who take a leave of absence.

Degree Program	Published Program Duration	Maximum Time to Completion
MAR	2 years	4 years
MASJ	3 years	5 years
MASJ (accelerated)	2 years	4 years
MDiv (full time)	3 years	6 years
MDiv (part time)	5 years	8 years
MDiv/MS(S)W	4 years	6 years
STM	1 year	2 years
DMin	3 years	5 years
PhD	5 years	10 years

Monitoring and Appeal Process – MAR, MASJ, MDiv, and STM students

After students have passed the published program duration, progress towards degree completion will be tracked through annual (MAR, MASJ, and MDiv students) or semesterly (STM students) degree audits, to be reviewed by the student and their advisor in consultation with the Academic Office. This review should include discussion of any difficulties the student is facing in completing their program.

When a student enters the final year of their maximum time to completion, they may petition the Committee on Standing for an extension of one semester (STM) or year (MAR, MASJ, and MDiv) to complete their degree. To petition the Committee on Standing, a student should submit a written explanation of the factors contributing to their need for more time, as well as their plan for the additional semester/year. The Academic Office will provide a degree audit to accompany the petition. This petition must be submitted one week before the Committee on Standing meets. Students who are granted an extension must follow an academic plan approved by the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs.

If a student reaches the end of their maximum time to completion and has not been granted an extension, they will be notified in writing that they have been dismissed. The student then has 10 days to appeal their dismissal and petition for an extension of one semester (STM) or year (MAR, MASJ, and MDiv) to complete their degree. This petition goes to the Committee on Standing, and following the same procedures described above.

For information concerning maximum time to completion as it relates to Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) to determine eligibility for federal financial aid programs, consult the policy outlined under “Satisfactory Academic Progress.” For information related to housing eligibility, consult the housing policy.

Advanced Certificate and Non-Degree Students

Advanced Certificate students have a maximum of two years to complete the 12 credits of their certificate. Students who do not complete the certificate within two years may petition the Committee on Standing for an extension of one semester, following the same procedures described above for degree-seeking students.

Non-Degree students are admitted for one academic year. Students who wish to take additional classes beyond that year must reapply to Union to continue taking coursework through the non-degree program.

PhD and DMin Students

Refer to the PhD and DMin Handbooks for more information regarding policies related to the maximum time to completion.

OFFICIAL TRANSCRIPTS

A student's academic transcript is a private document that is the property of Union Theological Seminary, and issued to a third party only upon written authorization given by the student. Students may request transcripts from the Registrar's Office here: <https://utsnyc.edu/academics/registrar/transcripts/>. Please submit requests in sufficient time to allow for processing and mailing. There is a charge for all official transcripts. Written narrative evaluations submitted with final grades by instructors are not part of the student's official transcript and are not issued with it.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF COURSES

Students are responsible for acquainting themselves fully with the Seminary's rules and policies published in this catalogue and elsewhere including program guides and handbooks. Curriculum is subject to change without notice at any time at the sole discretion of the Seminary's administration. The Seminary reserves the right to cancel or modify policies and courses of instruction, and to change academic calendar dates, course instructors, and other details of academic programs. Additional information about classes and other academic matters are posted on the Registrar's website and updated throughout the term. In the case of discrepancies between the online and printed information, the online version always takes precedence.

Exegesis courses in the biblical field have the letter "E" at the end of the course number.

Tuition and fees are not adjusted for courses dropped after the end of the add/drop period, except in the case of complete withdrawal from the Seminary. View deadlines for withdrawing from a course with a "W" in the academic calendar. After these deadlines, students are responsible for the requirements of all courses in which they are enrolled according to the records held by the Registrar.

Students are expected to participate fully and attend faithfully all classes for which they are enrolled, including tutorial sessions and other special course meetings. Except in cases of emergency, absences should be reported in advance to the professor since absence from class may be grounds for failing a course.

See the 2026-27 course offerings listed by field and prefix, organized by semester, in the pages to follow.

THE BIBLE/SACRED TEXTS FIELD

Cross-Testament (BX)

FALL 2026
BX 101 – Introduction to the Bible (4 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Aliou Niang	The course introduces selected biblical texts, narrative trajectories, historical backgrounds, and theological voices. As a canonized Christian and Western book, how might ethics of biblical interpretation address themes and issues such as race, gender, class, economy, and ecology in an increasingly inter/religious textual and spiritual oral non-textual worlds. Note: Weekly tutorial required
SPRING 2027
BX 229 – The Bible, Animals, and Animalization (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 David Carr	Domestication has become the main way that humans relate to their life world, and the Bible is a major script for this, even as some of its texts provide potential resources for resistance. This course uses the Bible as a pathway to explore diverse ways that humans have built a way of life around domesticating diverse animal and plant species, and ways that the Bible has inculcated ways of humans themselves becoming faithful domesticates to the ultimate domesticator, God (and God's contemporary late capitalist equivalents). Prerequisite: HB 101
BX 245 – Beyond the Biblical Canon (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Jeremy Hultin	This course explores some of the ancient Jewish and Christian texts that came to be regarded as "noncanonical" or "deutero-canonical," that is, not fully a part of the biblical canon. The primary focus is study of this literature itself, the rich and rewarding texts, several of which were very influential, despite their non-canonical status. Special attention is given to three works included in the revised common lectionary (Sirach, Wisdom, and Baruch). The secondary focus is to explore the process of canonization. How and why did Jewish and Christian communities decide to include some books and to reject others? Works studied include: Sirach; the Wisdom of Solomon; Baruch; 1 Enoch; the Gospel of Peter; the Apocalypse of Peter; the Gospel of Mary; the Acts of Paul and Thecla. Prerequisite: BX 101, HB 101, or NT 101 recommended.
BX 233 – Reggae Music, Justice, and the Bible (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Aliou Niang	The course introduces students to the history, emergence, and global spread of the Rastafari religion from Jamaica to the diaspora, the prophetic, poetic, and apocalyptic messages reggae music communicates, the Rastafari protest against exploitation, the suppression of black persons' agency, and radical advocacy of social justice. In the words of Bob Marley, Reggae music is "a people music. . . is news. . . news about your own self, your own history, things that they wouldn't teach in a school" (Time Will Tell, 1992). Questions for exploration include the Rastafari embrace of Marcus Garvey's call for a return to Africa, the indispensable role of women, belief in Haile Selassie as messianic figure, appropriation of scriptural passages/themes, and metaphors that underpin Rastafari use of scripture and theology.

Hebrew Bible (HB)

HB 101 – Introduction to the Hebrew Bible (4 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Esther Hamori	The Hebrew Bible is a complex collection of texts written over many centuries in socioculturally distinct settings, reflecting a wide range of religious, political, historical, and ethical perspectives. In this course, students engage in academic, critical study of the Hebrew Bible, seeking to understand diverse ancient Israelite and early Jewish texts within their historical and cultural contexts. Note: Weekly tutorial required
HB 240 – Divination in the Bible and Beyond (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 12 Esther Hamori	"Divination" refers to types of actions that are, within their own cultural contexts, understood to provide access to divine knowledge. Prophecy is the best-known type of divination in the Bible and the most widely embraced, but there are many more, including astral, birth, and dream divination, necromancy, and lot-casting. In this course, students study prophecy and other types of divination as they appear in the Bible and other literature from the region. Prerequisite: HB 101 or instructor permission
HB 313A – Intermediate Hebrew I: Prose (2 credits) Online Capacity: 10 Esther Hamori	Intermediate Hebrew meets twelve times over the full academic year. We will read prose texts in the fall and poetry in the spring. Work will include issues of grammar, syntax, vocabulary, reading aloud, and use of critical tools. Prerequisite: HB 203 (formerly 111) and HB 204 or permission of instructor. Note: HB 313A and HB 313B must be taken sequentially in one academic year. Temporary grade of "IP" is assigned after HB 313A and credit is awarded after successful completion of both courses.
HB 236 – Monster Heaven (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 12 Esther Hamori	The biblical universe is filled with monsters: hybrid creatures in heaven, giants on earth, ghosts beneath, and sea monsters out in the deep. This course explores the many monsters of the Bible, with particular attention to the battery of divine hitmen in God's employ. What on earth is the reader to do with the violence of heaven? Prerequisite: HB 101 or BX 101
HB 313B – Intermediate Hebrew II: Poetry (1 credit) Online Capacity: 12 Esther Hamori	Intermediate Hebrew meets twelve times over the full academic year. We will read prose texts in the fall and poetry in the spring. Work will include issues of grammar, syntax, vocabulary, reading aloud, and use of critical tools. Prerequisite: HB 313A Note: HB 313A and HB 313B must be taken sequentially in one academic year.
HB 339E – Isaiah (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 David Carr	A detailed exegetical exploration of the poetry, literary shape, background, and development of the book of Isaiah, including attention to the different ways Jews and Christians have used the book. Prerequisite: HB 101
SUMMER 2027
HB 203 – Elementary Biblical Hebrew I (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped J. Christiaan Faul	An introduction to the basic grammar and vocabulary of biblical Hebrew. This language course also focuses on skills in reading and writing Hebrew. Note: Formerly HB 111. HB 203 and HB 204 must be taken sequentially in one academic year

HB 204 – Elementary Biblical Hebrew II (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped J. Christiaan Faul	A continuation of the basic grammar and vocabulary of biblical Hebrew. This language course focuses on the translation of selected portions of biblical texts. Prerequisite: HB 203 or equivalent Note: HB 203 and HB 204 must be taken sequentially in one academic year

New Testament (NT)

NT 203 – Introduction to Biblical Greek I (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Jeremy F. Hultin	An introduction to the basic grammar and vocabulary of biblical Greek. This language course also focuses on skills in reading and writing Greek. Note: NT 203 and NT 204 must be taken sequentially in one academic year. Note: formerly "NT 111"
NT 315A – Intermediate Greek I (2 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Jeremy Hultin	Part one of a two-part language course for students who have completed at least two semesters of biblical Greek. Students review grammar as well as further their linguistic and translation skills by reading a selection of different Greek texts. Prerequisite: NT 203 and NT 204 or equivalent Note: NT 315A and NT 315B must be taken sequentially in one academic year. Temporary grade of "IP" assigned after NT 315A; credit is awarded after NT 315B.
NT 351E – Galatians Decentered and Recentered (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Aliou Niang	This course reads critically Paul's letter to Galatian churches in its Greco-Roman imperial and colonial contexts, as it aims at bringing West African (Global South) and European (Global North) new perspectives into dialogue towards an anticolonial, gender-critical, and ecological re-imagination of Galatians. How does Paul's letter, a core document of the Protestant Reformation, penned under Rome's watchful eyes and addressed to a province reminiscent of "uncivilized" Celtic tribalism, bear on the "barbarians" of our present-day world? Prerequisite: BX 101 or NT 101.
NT 101 – Introduction to the New Testament (4 credits) In person Capacity: uncapped Aliou Niang	An introduction to the complex historical, literary and theological worlds of the New Testament. Core texts of the Gospels, Acts, Paul and Revelation are examined within their Roman imperial, Hellenistic and Jewish colonial contexts – and with an eye to past and current interpretational struggles at the intersection of gender, race, class and religion. Can students learn how to read "with new eyes?" Note: Weekly tutorial required.
NT 204 – Introduction to Biblical Greek II (3 credits) In person Capacity: 25 Jeremy Hultin	A continuation of the basic grammar and vocabulary of biblical Greek. This language course focuses on the translation of selected portions of biblical texts. Prerequisite: NT 203 or equivalent Note: NT 203 and NT 204 must be taken sequentially in one academic year.
NT 315B – Intermediate Greek II (1 credit) In Person Capacity: 15 Jeremy Hultin	Part two of a two-part language course for students who have completed at least two semesters of biblical Greek. Students review grammar as well as further their linguistic and translation skills by reading a selection of different Greek texts. Prerequisite: NT 315A Note: NT 315A and NT 315B must be taken sequentially in one academic year.

STX/IS 242 – Qur'an: Engaging a Sacred Text (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Jerusha Rhodes	This course aims to introduce students to the Qur'ān—the central touchstone in Islamic thought and practice— through intensive engagement with the text (in translation) and through exploration of the historical, practical and interpretative traditions surrounding the text. The course surveys historical origins and development, highlights the Qur'ān's pervasive role in the daily lives, rituals and artistic expressions of Muslims, and examines Qur'ānic form, content, and interpretation. Note: Required course for MA Islamic Studies and MDiv Islam and Muslim Communities.
STX/BU 233 – Spiritual Warriorship (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Brooke Lavelle	Drawing upon the historical and spiritual teachings of Ling Gésar and the Bodhicaryāvatāra, this course will provide an introduction to the archetype of the "spiritual warrior" in the Tibetan Buddhist tradition to help us understand the art of spiritual activism in our times. We will wrestle with the seeming paradoxical archetype of the "warrior" in a spiritual context, through nuanced reflection on the rhetoric of violence and non violence in the face of ongoing oppression and domination. Prerequisite: BU 234 or instructor permission.
STX/IS 411 – Qur'anic Interpretation: Methods and Practicum (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 10 Jerusha Rhodes	This course focuses on Qur'anic interpretation. In the first half of the semester, students cultivate in-depth understanding of specific contemporary methods, including semantic, contextual, theo-ethical, inter-/intra-textual, historical critical, and thematic approaches. The second half of the semester is a practicum, in which students use the methods to develop a constructive interpretation on a topic related to their interests. The practicum portion involves research, scaffolded development, revision, and collaborative review. Prerequisite: Prior Islam-focused coursework required. STX/IS 242 recommended and may be taken concurrently. Some Arabic is recommended.
JANUARY 2027
STX/BU 261 – The Four Foundations of Mindfulness (3 credits) In person Capacity: 20 Bhante Buddharakkhita	Drawing from early Buddhist Pāli canon texts and contemporary Buddhist literature, along with experiential engagement of mindfulness practices and techniques, students study how these practices support spiritual presence and community engagement. Some relevant mindfulness practices for interreligious engagement are explored. The role of mindfulness practice in personal life and in a socially engaged environment is thoroughly investigated.
SPRING 2027
STX/BU 230 – Indo-Tibetan Contemplative Theory and Practice (3 credits) In person Capacity: 30 Brooke Lavelle	Buddhist traditions hold different conceptions of ultimate reality and offer different pathways for awakening. Over the course of the development of Buddhist philosophy in India and its transmission to Tibet, these differences have been classified as belonging to distinct yet compatible vehicles. Through a study of sacred texts, commentary, and contemporary scholarship, we will examine the views, meditational practices, and ethical frames employed by each vehicle in order to deepen our understanding of these approaches, the debates between them, and to what extent these differences matter.

THE HISTORICAL STUDIES FIELD

Historical Studies (HS)

HS 116 – History of Christianity to 1500 (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Instructor TBA	A survey of Christian life and thought from the second to fifteenth centuries, with attention to the following areas: Christian expansion and interreligious relationships on multiple continents; changing political circumstances as persecuted minority or powerful majority; major theological contributors and controversies; the interplay of Christian faith and social dynamics of slavery, gender, sexuality, and ethnicity.
HS/IS 120 – Muslim Global Histories (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Simran Singh	This course explores Islam, a religious tradition claimed by more than 1.6 billion practitioners around the globe. Our interdisciplinary approach will trace the historical development and contemporary conditions of the Islamic tradition. Viewing Islam from different perspectives offers an opportunity to experience the richness of this tradition, and interacting with primary and secondary source materials will allow students to engage with various layers of the Islamic experience.
HS 213 – Los Nuyoricans: Constructing Race, Religion, and Gotham (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Jorge Rodríguez	This course examines Puerto Rican migration and racialization in New York City to understand how race and religion have shaped the United States. Los Nuyoricans begins in the 15th century with parallel histories of the Lenape in Manahatta and the Arawak and Carib peoples in Borikén, tracing the effects of Dutch, Spanish, and U.S. colonialism. Students then study Puerto Rican migration to New York City from the 19th century to the present, analyzing how Freemasonry, Metaphysical Philosophy, Santería, Espiritismo, Islam, Protestantism, and Catholicism shaped religious practice, community formation, and political life. Site visits to the Center for Puerto Rican Studies, El Museo del Barrio, and the Schomburg Center will introduce students to lived histories of race and religion in the city. The course concludes with scholarship on religion's role in Nuyoric music—from Bomba and Salsa to Hip-Hop and Reggaeton—illuminating why Bad Bunny opens his last album with “Nuevayol.” Note: This course will meet only eight times in the semester, for four-hour sessions. Six of the eight sessions will involve site visits within New York City and the surrounding areas, accessible via public transportation.
HS 217 – Contextualizing Religious Freedom: Pluralism in the Atlantic World (3 credits) Online Capacity: 20 Christopher Gillett	This course examines the interconnected religious histories of Africa, the Americas, the Caribbean, and Europe - what scholars describe collectively in early modernity as the "Atlantic world." While Europeans exported an acrimonious, post-Reformation Christian pluralism into their burgeoning empires, this course's Atlantic framing emphasizes that that influence was not unidirectional. Africans and Indigenous Americans and Caribbeans contributed to "creolizing" processes and new religious expressions. The course contextualizes conceptions of religious freedom up to the American Revolution. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course
HS/IE 233 – Religion, Race, and History on Turtle Island (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Simran Singh	This course explores the past 600 years of religion and religious interaction in the United States of America. Students will consider interactions across groups, including indigenous communities, early settlers, and recent immigrants. All of this together will help us go beyond popular narratives and mythologies for the purpose of better understanding the nature of religion in America—especially as we endeavor to center communities and stories that are typically pushed to the margins. Note: Fulfills MASJ Interreligious Engagement Requirement

HS/AS 327 – England’s Second Reformation (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Christopher Gillett	Between 1640 and 1660, English Christians undertook a series of radical religious and political projects to create a just society. The creative and destructive potential of this moment was encapsulated in the contemporary observation that the world was "turned upside down." This course examines the characters and movements from this period that called for ecological, economic, interreligious, racial, social, and political justice, offering historical context to a range of modern concerns. It explores how England's "second Reformation" contributed to the emergence of Anglicanism.
HS/IE 246 – Sikhs and Sikhi (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Simran Singh	This course introduces students to Sikhi, the world’s fifth largest religion. We start from its founding in the fifteenth century with close attention to the life and teachings of Guru Nanak. We trace the arc of the tradition’s development in the centuries since, including practices, institutions, interpretations, and politics.
HS 410 – Rejecting Gender in Early Christianity (3 credits) Online Capacity: 10 Julio Kelto Lillis	This upper-level seminar examines ancient sources in which Christians disrupt a gender binary, perhaps even disrupting gender in its broadest sense (inclusive of sex or sexual difference). The primary question is: How many sources show an interest in rejecting gender altogether, and why? By asking this question with diverse sources from the second to seventh centuries, and by considering shifts in recent scholarship and present societies, we will seek to understand the range of meanings and functions that gender and its rejection could serve in antiquity and today. Prerequisite: A previous early Christianity course or permission of instructor. Note: All students will be waitlisted upon registration and admitted by permission of instructor. A finalized course schedule, including attendance of 1-2 online conference sessions, will be provided in December.
HS 117 – History of Christianity 1500 to 2000 (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Christopher Gillett	An introductory survey of Christian life and thought in global perspective 1500-2000. This course examines how medieval Catholic Christianity in Europe splintered into a range of competing, and often conflicting, traditions during the Reformations. This occurred at roughly the same time that European states undertook overseas colonial and economic expansion into Africa, Asia, the Americas, and Australasia, transforming Christianity into a global religion. But it will also explore how non-European cultures participated in Christian developments in what might broadly be described as "modernity."
HS 121 – Early Christian Genders & Sexualities: Historical Insights for Justice Today (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Julia Kelto Lillis	Early Christian texts offer both familiar and unfamiliar pictures for areas we now call gender and sexuality. This course introduces current and ancient vocabularies, regulations, and reasoning, taking into account issues raised by feminist and LGBTQ+ historians and theorists. We will examine genders and sexualities of the early Common Era (especially 100-600 CE) to better grasp the diverse ways a religious tradition can reinforce or subvert wider social systems and norms, and we will see how historical study can deepen understanding and strengthen action for present-day justice issues. Note: Fulfills MASJ Gender/Sexuality Justice Requirement

HS/BU 232 – American Buddhisms (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Simran Singh	This course explores the history of Buddhism in the United States. We will consider Buddhist formations in the U.S. of various types, in different geographical contexts, across ethnic and racial lines, and in their interactions with other religious traditions. Classes and readings draw on historical, theoretical, and anthropological scholarship, supplemented with news articles, memoirs, documentaries, and other contemporary media as appropriate. Students will play an active role in shaping the course, including leading discussions, presenting additional research, and helping identify supplementary readings in consultation with the professor.
HS 325 – Political Thought from the Reformation to the Enlightenment (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Christopher Gillett	This course will explore the development of political thought from the Reformation through the Enlightenment (ca. 1500-1800 CE), a period scholars describe as "early modernity." In the early modern period, many political ideas that we take for granted began to emerge, such as the notion of individual rights, social contractarianism, representative government, and the separation of church and state. Although ideas such as these are often understood simply as products of the Enlightenment, in view of their secular and secularizing quality, this course aims to show that, in fact, they have their origins in the deeply confessional conflicts of the Reformation. Given that early modernity did much to establish our contemporary political milieu, learning how and why these distinctive ideas came to be is essential for a proper understanding of what it means to live in a world that has been profoundly shaped by the Reformation and the Enlightenment.

THE INTERRELIGIOUS ENGAGEMENT FIELD

Interreligious Engagement (IE)

RS/IE 219 – Critical Religious Literacy and Contemporary Culture (3 credits) Online Capacity: 25 Diane Moore & Hussein Rashid	Critical Religious Literacy (CRL) is a method for understanding how religion functions in overt and covert ways to promote and thwart just peace building efforts in both "secular" and "religious" contexts. In this course we will learn the method of CRL and apply it to case studies in a wide range of fields (e.g. journalism, government, arts and culture, education, organizing, humanitarian action) to better understand the power of religion in contemporary culture and to explore how this knowledge can promote just peace building and moral imagination in fresh and innovative ways.
HS/IE 233 – Religion, Race, and History on Turtle Island (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Simran Singh	This course explores the past 600 years of religion and religious interaction in the United States of America. Students will consider interactions across groups, including indigenous communities, early settlers, and recent immigrants. All of this together will help us go beyond popular narratives and mythologies for the purpose of better understanding the nature of religion in America—especially as we endeavor to center communities and stories that are typically pushed to the margins. Note: Fulfills MASJ Interreligious Engagement Requirement; Religion and Black Experience concentration course
IE 237 – Peace and Reconciliation in Jewish Exegesis (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Benjamin Kamine	An introduction to Rabbinic methods of reading Scripture in the first millennium with a focus on peacebuilding. Students read primary sources in English translation, tracking the Rabbinic exegetical techniques used to elevate the Bible as a manual for reconciliation and healing at both the individual and communal level.
IE 260 – Antisemitism: Perennial and Protean (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Mary Boys	A study of classic and contemporary cases of antisemitism in historical and theological contexts. This iteration of the course will include analysis of antisemitism in the United States in relation to this nation's history of racism. Note: Fulfills requirement for Chaplaincy concentration
IE 333 – Writing Multiplicity, Finding Voice (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 John Thatamanil & Kimberly George	This course asks how our writing practices as theologians, religious leaders, and spiritual activists can honor the ways in which knowledge emerges through relational ways of knowing. Assigned texts will reflect on writing practices within histories of liberation with careful attention to the relationship between "religion" as a historical category and constructions of race, gender, sexuality, class, and coloniality. By attending to religious multiplicity and epistemic diversity, students will be invited to find voice through theorizing and exploring their own contemplative writing practice.
RS/IE 254 – Religious Nationalisms (3 credits) Online Capacity: 25 Diane Moore	An examination of how forms of religious nationalism are at play in explicit and implicit ways in diverse global contexts and in trans-global manifestations. Students will learn a method of understanding nationalisms and apply that method to a variety of case studies including the US, Israel, Iran, Saudi Arabia, and either Myanmar or India. Final projects can take one of two forms: a research paper investigating an aspect of a case study we engaged in class; or a public facing project related to a student's profession or vocation (e.g., a journalism article, policy brief, lesson plan, etc.)

RS/IE 324 – Contextual Perspectives on Culture, Race, Gender, and Religion (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Samuel Cruz	This course introduces a range of diverse populations by race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, religion, and physical differences. Additionally, students examine the role, function, and effects of oppression in society as it relates to social and economic justice. Assumptions underlying theory and research methodologies from which basic constructs of human behavior are drawn are examined to understand how power and other dynamics manage and sustain oppression at the individual and institutional levels. How oppression affects ecclesiastical, local parish, mosque, temple and faith based organizations at micro and macro levels, particularly policies and strategic planning which drive the shape of places of worship, is also addressed.
IE 344 – Deepening Relations between Jews and Christians (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Mary Boys & Shuly Rubin Schwartz	The history between Jews and Christians has been largely conflictual and tragic. Yet the past 60 years have witnessed dramatic developments that challenge both to revisit this history with a new eye for relating more justly and profoundly to one another and enhancing possibilities for religious pluralism. Note: This course is jointly taught with Jewish Theological Seminary and includes JTS students.
TS/IE 350 – Gandhi and King: Political Theology and Nonviolence (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 John Thatamanil & Cornel West	This course explores the life and teachings of Mohandas K. Gandhi and Martin Luther King, Jr. Recent years have seen a considerable expansion of the literature on both figures. The time is ripe for reconsideration of their legacy with respect to such central questions as the viability of nonviolent resistance in a context of neoliberalism, ecological devastation, the relationship between spirituality and political engagement, and the conflict between religious traditions. What is the meaning and promise of their double legacy for our time? What can both figures teach us about interreligious dialogue and learning? What is the relationship between the work of Gandhi and King and the later emergence of liberation theology? What can we learn from Malcolm X's critique of King, B. R. Ambedkar's critique of Gandhi and feminist critiques of both?
SUMMER 2027
IE 216 – Jewish Approaches to Ecology and Creation (3 credits) Online Capacity: 25 Benjamin Kamine	A survey of classical Jewish sources, both legal and narrative, that explore ideas governing the relationship between humanity, animals, and the natural world. Students will read primary sources in English translation, tracking the way in which ideas developed in classical sources are re-purposed by modern Jewish thinkers.

Buddhist Studies (BU)

BU 221 – Introduction to Buddhist Meditation Practices (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Gregory Snyder	Through reading Buddhist sutras and contemporary teachings, along with engagement with meditative practices, we will explore how meditation supports spiritual presence and community engagement. We will investigate the relationship between embodiment, behavioral discipline, and the cultivation of mind within Buddhist moral praxis and how this informs our capacities for spiritual guidance. Note: Required for Buddhism and Interreligious Engagement (BIE) track. All other students will be admitted off a wait list in late August until class is full.

STX/BU 233 – Spiritual Warriorship (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Brooke Lavelle	Drawing upon the historical and spiritual teachings of Ling Gésar and the Bodhicaryāvatāra, this course will provide an introduction to the archetype of the "spiritual warrior" in the Tibetan Buddhist tradition to help us understand the art of spiritual activism in our times. We will wrestle with the seeming paradoxical archetype of the "warrior" in a spiritual context, through nuanced reflection on the rhetoric of violence and non violence in the face of ongoing oppression and domination. Prerequisite: BU 234 or equivalent.
BU 234 – Buddhist Religious Thought (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Gregory Snyder	This general introduction to Buddhism surveys the history and development of Buddhist thought within its three broad expressions—Theravada, Mahayana, and Vajrayana. The aim of the course familiarizes students with Buddhist worldviews and offers an opportunity to engage the material critically. Students read a number of primary sources in translation as well as additional texts organized thematically and historically to contextualize this material. Note: Required for Buddhism and Interreligious Engagement (BIE) track. All other students will be admitted off a wait list in late August until class is full.
JANUARY 2027
STX/BU 261 – The Four Foundations of Mindfulness (3 credits) In person Capacity: 20 Bhante Buddharakkhita	Drawing from early Buddhist Pāli canon texts and contemporary Buddhist literature, along with experiential engagement of mindfulness practices and techniques, students study how these practices support spiritual presence and community engagement. Some relevant mindfulness practices for interreligious engagement are explored. The role of mindfulness practice in personal life and in a socially engaged environment is thoroughly investigated.
SPRING 2027
STX/BU 230 – Indo-Tibetan Contemplative Theory and Practice (3 credits) In person Capacity: 30 Brooke Lavelle	Buddhist traditions hold different conceptions of ultimate reality and offer different pathways for awakening. Over the course of the development of Buddhist philosophy in India and its transmission to Tibet, these differences have been classified as belonging to distinct yet compatible vehicles. Through a study of sacred texts, commentary, and contemporary scholarship, we will examine the views, meditational practices, and ethical frames employed by each vehicle in order to deepen our understanding of these approaches, the debates between them, and to what extent these differences matter.
HS/BU 232 – American Buddhisms (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Simran Singh	This course explores the history of Buddhism in the United States. We will consider Buddhist formations in the U.S. of various types, in different geographical contexts, across ethnic and racial lines, and in their interactions with other religious traditions. Classes and readings draw on historical, theoretical, and anthropological scholarship, supplemented with news articles, memoirs, documentaries, and other contemporary media as appropriate. Students will play an active role in shaping the course, including leading discussions, presenting additional research, and helping identify supplementary readings in consultation with the professor.
BU 240 – Socially Engaged Buddhism (3 credits) Online Capacity: 20 Upayadhi S. Luraschi	"Socially Engaged Buddhism" became prominent in the 20th century, in response to (post)colonial upheavals. Championed by Buddhists of various lineages, some see it as a modernist development, while others trace lines of socio-political critique back to the Buddha. Recent scholarship has called for a more capacious understanding, one that includes ethno-nationalism and justifications of state violence. This course explores the socio-historical contexts, hermeneutics, organizing principles, and ongoing debates surrounding Buddhism's engagement of political, social, and environmental issues. Note: Required for Buddhism and Interreligious Engagement (BIE) track. All other students will be admitted off a wait list in late December until class is full.

BU 320 – Phenomenology and Mahayana Buddhism (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Gayle Salamon	This course will offer an introduction to phenomenological philosophy with a focus on several epistemological foundations it shares with Mahayana Buddhism. We will explore Edmund Husserl’s “presuppositionless philosophy” alongside writings from Zen Buddhist monastics. We will put phenomenological reduction in conversation with Yogācāra accounts of perception and consciousness. We will explore Merleau-Ponty alongside three fascicles from 13th century monastic, Eihei Dōgen’s Shōbōgenzō and further put Dōgen’s writings in conversation with Max Scheler’s work to consider thinking and its opposite. Finally, we will read current texts on critical phenomenology, whose aim is to confront injustice, and consider these against Buddhist notions of living by vow. Two-thirds of the readings will be phenomenological works and one-third Buddhist texts and sutras. No familiarity with either tradition is required.

Islamic Studies (IS)

HS/IS 120 – Muslim Global Histories (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Simran Singh	This course explores Islam, a religious tradition claimed by more than 1.6 billion practitioners around the globe. Our interdisciplinary approach will trace the historical development and contemporary conditions of the Islamic tradition. Viewing Islam from different perspectives offers an opportunity to experience the richness of this tradition, and interacting with primary and secondary source materials will allow students to engage with various layers of the Islamic experience.
STX/IS 242 – Qur’an: Engaging a Sacred Text (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Jerusha Rhodes	This course aims to introduce students to the Qur’ān—the central touchstone in Islamic thought and practice— through intensive engagement with the text (in translation) and through exploration of the historical, practical and interpretative traditions surrounding the text. The course surveys historical origins and development, highlights the Qur’ān’s pervasive role in the daily lives, rituals and artistic expressions of Muslims, and examines Qur’ānic form, content, and interpretation. Note: Required course for MAR Islamic Studies and MDiv Islam and Muslim Communities.
STX/IS 411 – Qur’anic Interpretation: Methods and Practicum (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 10 Jerusha Rhodes	This course focuses on Qur’anic interpretation. In the first half of the semester, students cultivate in-depth understanding of specific contemporary methods, including semantic, contextual, theo-ethical, inter-/intra-textual, historical critical, and thematic approaches. The second half of the semester is a practicum, in which students use the methods to develop a constructive interpretation on a topic related to their interests. The practicum portion involves research, scaffolded development, revision, and collaborative review. Prerequisite: Prior Islam-focused coursework required. STX/IS 242 and some Arabic recommended and may be taken concurrently.
IS 226 – Muslims and US Popular Culture In Person Capacity: 25 Hussein Rashid	Looking at both historical and lived realities of Muslims in the US, we will cover sites from the African Burial Ground in lower Manhattan to the Women’s Mosque in California. The course will engage both with cultural production, such as music, plays, and street art, and living communities around the country. The course will attempt to cover a diversity of voices and perspectives. It is important to understand how context plays a role in the interpretation and practice of religion, as well as to witness the tension between theology and manifestation of belief. Prerequisite: Some familiarity with Muslim history is recommended.

IS 316 – Tafsir of Praxis: Gender, Interpretation, and Tradition In Person Capacity: 20 Jerusha Rhodes	Tafsir of Praxis refers to interpretation that is generated through and manifest in social and ritual practice. This course explores tafsir of praxis related to gender, centering articulations by Muslim women and queer Muslims. This course introduces the complexity and diversity of attempts to assert agency and authority. Great emphasis is placed on developing a nuanced grasp of hermeneutical strategies, competing discourses, and identity and power negotiations. Note: Required course for MA Islamic Studies and MDiv Islam and Muslim Communities.
SE/IS 317 – Islamic Ethics (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Jerusha Rhodes	This course introduces central concerns, sources, and debates in Islamic ethics, and surveys a variety of subfields, including Qur'anic, prophetic, sexual, environmental, and medical ethics. Emphasis is placed on understanding the methods of Islamic ethics; connections between conceptions of the Divine, human person, and society; and how diversity, identity, and context shape ethical perspectives. Note: Previously SE/IS 217

THE PRACTICAL THEOLOGY FIELD

Anglican Studies (AS)

AS 201 – Anglican Liturgy (Historical) (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 R. William Franklin	This course surveys the history of the development of Anglican liturgies from the Reformation to the present, with specific attention to the influence of theological and social movements on Christian worship. The central theme of the course is the formation and revisions of The Book of Common Prayer in response to social, political, and theological debates, and the link between worship and movements for social justice and evangelism. The focus is on Anglicanism in Great Britain and the United States, but parallel developments of distinct, not just colonial, African, Asian, Oceanic, and Latino expressions of Anglican liturgy are addressed throughout in lectures and in reading assignments.
HS/AS 327 – England's Second Reformation (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Christopher Gillett	Between 1640 and 1660, English Christians undertook a series of radical religious and political projects to create a just society. The creative and destructive potential of this moment was encapsulated in the contemporary observation that the world was "turned upside down." This course examines the characters and movements from this period that called for ecological, economic, interreligious, racial, social, and political justice, offering historical context to a range of modern concerns. It explores how England's "second Reformation" contributed to the emergence of Anglicanism.
AS/PT 285 – Ministry with Marginalized Communities (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Victor Conrado	This course introduces students to the practice of ministry in diverse and marginalized contexts through the lenses of Practical Theology and Anglican Studies. Emphasizing relational, justice-oriented, and contextually grounded approaches, students engage theological reflection, liturgical practice, and community-based learning. The course prepares students for adaptive leadership across ecclesial, ecumenical, and interreligious settings.
AS/PT 302 – Leadership in Ministry (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Mary Foulke	This course offers reflections on and integration of prior learning and ministerial experiences. Emphasis is placed on understanding ministerial leadership dynamics & common challenges, with the goal of understanding one's own preferences, growing edges, discernment of ministerial gifts and call. Students will engage in readings and discussion about authentic Christian leadership in a variety of parish, chaplaincy, or community contexts. Tools and skills for effective leadership will be engaged, practiced & evaluated. This course is open to all, and the culminating experience for AS concentrators. Prerequisite: MDiv students in their final semester or permission of instructor.

Communication Arts (CA)

SPRING 2027
CA 102 – Communication Arts (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Gabby Cudjoe Wilkes	This course teaches methods of connection and effective live communication by freeing students to identify and unleash their authentic self and help others do the same. When a student leaves Union, their ability to make a difference is dependent on the fluency and facility with which they can express themselves as an effective communicator with emotional intelligence. This is an interactive, immersive experience in which students refine awareness about, and improve skills pertaining to, communication.

Denominational Studies (DS)

FALL 2026 & SPRING 2027
CVG-DS202 – United Church of Christ History & Polity (3 credits) Online	This on demand course examines the historical development and structural polity of the United Church of Christ (UCC). It also focuses on the emerging UCC and gives students a chance to explore social justice, world missions, ecumenism, and new and renewing congregational ministry within the UCC. Note: Offered by Convergence
DS 225 – Liberal Religious Preaching (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Sarah Lenzi	Preaching in a liberal religious tradition presents unique challenges. With no lectionary as guide, planning ahead, the use of themes, and attention to a balance of sermon sources and types becomes even more vital. In this class we will explore how to preach successfully, compellingly, and over the long-term. Students will have the opportunity to read up on preaching theory and technique, and to practice their own writing and preaching. Students from all faith traditions are welcome in the course.

Integrative and Field-based Education (FE)

FE 103 – Field Education Seminar I: Part-Time Concurrent Internship (4 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 per section Su Yon Pak	This course integrates two contexts of learning: supervised work in field site and facilitated work in weekly integrative peer-group seminar. Through intentional, sustained practices such as theological reflection, professional and spiritual formation, and weekly supervision, students engage in an action-reflection-action model for learning. Students are concurrently interning in supervised field placements for 300 hours for the academic year. This course is the first half of a two-semester course. It has asynchronous work online and synchronous in-person work. Prerequisite: Restricted to MDiv students. Permission of the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education. Note: FE 103 and FE 104 must be taken sequentially in one academic year. Students register for waitlist and pending approval, are enrolled. Apply to hybrid FE-CPE program here: https://utsnyc.edu/academics/field-ed/hybrid-field-education-opportunities/ ; if accepted, students register for section 01.
FE 203 – Advanced Field Education Seminar I: Part-Time Concurrent Internship (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped TBA	The first half of a two-semester course with a supervised field placement. Students meet monthly to deepen theological reflection, leadership, and professional skills and to discern their vocation. Through selected readings, online discussions, and synchronous peer group seminars, students cultivate professional and spiritual care skills to support their growth in ministry. Proposals must be submitted to the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education prior to course registration. Prerequisite: FE 104; permission from Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education. FE 203 and FE 204 taken sequentially in one academic year.
FE 303 – Full-Time Internship I (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Janine Myrick	The first half of a two-semester independent study with a minimum of eight consecutive months of full-time supervised field experience in an out-of-seminary setting. Regular meetings with instructor required. Proposals must be submitted for approval to the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education by March 1 prior to enrollment. Prerequisite: Restricted to MDiv students. Permission of the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education. Note: FE 303 and FE 304 must be taken sequentially in one academic year. Psychology and Religion (PS)

PS 219 – Spiritual Care with Children and Youth (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Kishundra King	This course introduces students to foundational theories, theologies, and practices of pastoral & spiritual care with children and families. We will hone our attention to developmental, psycho-social, cultural, and sacred dimensions of children, their families, and their childhood(s). Prerequisite: PS 101 strongly recommended.
PS 255 – Addictions and Spiritual Care (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Kishundra King	The phenomenon of substance use, misuse, and experiences of addiction(s) cuts across all communities, impacting the individuals themselves, as well as their families and faith communities. Consequently, all spiritual care leaders and practitioners must be informed and prepared to attend to the complexities of those experiences. As such, this course explores historical and current understandings of addiction across faith communities and religious traditions, the role of stigma and oppression in addiction care, and the wide-ranging impact of addiction on individuals, families, and communities. Prerequisites: PS 101 strongly recommended.
PS 311 – Trauma Informed Pastoral and Spiritual Care (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Chanmi Byun	This course explores the literature of trauma as well as best practices for providing pastoral and spiritual care for people who have experienced trauma. Students consider the neuropsychological, spiritual, and theological dimensions of trauma as well as questions raised by the experiences of personal, social, and trans-generational trauma. Students also lay groundwork for the sake of building skills to give appropriate pastoral and spiritual care, including intentional rituals, deep listening, and accompanying survivors of trauma who are working toward healing and wholeness. Prerequisites: PS 101 and PS 110. Permission of instructor required. Note: An option for concentration requirement for Chaplaincy students.
PS 101 – Introduction to Pastoral and Spiritual Care (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Kishundra King	This course introduces students to foundational theories, models, frameworks, and practices of pastoral & spiritual care such that students receive practical and theoretical grounding in the fundamentals of responding to common pastoral situations (such as illness, grief, couples and families, crises, addictions, violence, and self-care). Special attention will be given to theological, psychological, and ethical perspectives of spiritual care that are necessary for grappling with everyday concerns, contextualized human experiences, and social systems.
PS 110 – Pastoral Listening Practicum (1 credit) In Person Capacity: uncapped Chanmi Byun	Students learn and practice pastoral listening skills through directed practicum work in small groups. The emphasis is on nondirective listening, and includes spiritual companioning and crisis intervention and suicide prevention. Note: Prerequisite for receiving academic credit for CPE.

PS 268 – Introduction to Chaplaincy (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Joel Berning	Chaplaincy is an expanding field. By asking several critical questions about chaplaincy, and exploring certain historical, sociological, psychological, legal, communication and clinical-research resources, this course equips students who are discerning or have discerned a vocation in chaplaincy to become more incisive chaplain leaders. Note: Concentration requirement for Chaplaincy students.
PS 322 – Introduction to Cultural Trauma in Psychology and Religion (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Kishundra King	This course introduces students to foundational theories, frameworks, and key concepts related to cultural trauma in religion and psychology. This course takes seriously that trauma is not solely an individual experience; it also has communal, societal, and cultural dimensions. Therefore, this class explores the social, systemic, and cultural dimensions of trauma, and considers the effects of historical, communal, and intergenerational trauma from multiple perspectives. Prerequisites: PS 101 and PS 110.

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE)

Practical Theology (PT)

PT 204 – RISE Together Mentorship for Women of Color (1 credit) Online Capacity: uncapped Lisa Rhodes	Students learn and practice leadership skills through discussion, facilitation and directed practicum work in small groups. Through community and peer learning, this course centers and affirms the collective wisdom, lived experiences and intercultural voices of women of color. Students engage in a thriving ministry journey focusing on the reality of ministry, ecclesial structures, multidimensional oppression, impact on pastoral/personal identities and leadership. Through the lens of race, gender, age and culture and a researched informed curriculum, a safe and sacred community learning space is created for theological and ethical reflection. Prerequisite: Acceptance into RISE Together Mentorship program. Note: Religion and the Black Experience concentration course. Spans three semesters for three credits total.
PT 253 – Professional Ethics for Chaplaincy and Ministry (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Linda S. Golding	What does it mean to be a spiritual caregiver? What is our ethical imperative to care, and where/how do we each set our boundaries? What does it mean to care for ourselves and to care for others? Topics of concern, learning and reflection include the ethics involved with: power dynamics in spiritual care and ministry; racial, gender-related, and cultural trauma; othering and being othered; care for and by Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) practitioners; and identity. Students use values to consider the ethics of care of self and others. Note: Concentration requirement for Chaplaincy students.
PT 204 – RISE Together Mentorship for Women of Color (1 credit) Online Capacity: uncapped Lisa Rhodes	Students learn and practice leadership skills through discussion, facilitation and directed practicum work in small groups. Through community and peer learning, this course centers and affirms the collective wisdom, lived experiences and intercultural voices of women of color. Students engage in a thriving ministry journey focusing on the reality of ministry, ecclesial structures, multidimensional oppression, impact on pastoral/personal identities and leadership. Through the lens of race, gender, age and culture and a researched informed curriculum, a safe and sacred community learning space is created for theological and ethical reflection. Prerequisite: Acceptance into RISE Together Mentorship program. Note: Religion and the Black Experience concentration course. Spans three semesters for three credits total.
PT 220 – Moral Leadership in the Public Square in Times of Crisis (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Liz Theoharis, Jessica Williams, Adam Barnes, Ciara Taylor & ana lara lopez	The ongoing crises of poverty, systemic racism, the war economy and militarism, ecological devastation, and the distorted theology of white Christian nationalism demand moral leadership to organize a movement from the bottom up. Through praxis and critical reflection, students examine the theory and practice of the biblical, theological, spiritual, and moral framework of the movement to end poverty led by the poor. Students engage in actions and activities of this movement while applying principles of the poor organizing the poor, and the battle for the Bible to their own congregations, organizations, communities, or contexts, equipping faith and moral leaders for ongoing engagement in ministries of social justice. Note: Fulfills MASJ Social Movements Requirement
AS/PT 285 – Ministry with Marginalized Communities (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Victor Conrado	This course introduces students to the practice of ministry in diverse and marginalized contexts through the lenses of Practical Theology and Anglican Studies. Emphasizing relational, justice-oriented, and contextually grounded approaches, students engage theological reflection, liturgical practice, and community-based learning. The course prepares students for adaptive leadership across ecclesial, ecumenical, and interreligious settings.

PT 230 – Technowomanism in Praxis (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Shamika Klassen	In this course, students will learn about technowomanism, an ethical framework grounded in womanism that focuses on social justice issues in and around technology, as a tool for critique and assessment. The very notion of what constitutes as a technology will be challenged and expanded as together we will explore theological, ecological, and ancestral technologies alongside contemporary technologies. Through weekly readings, responses, presentations, in class activities, and a digital humanities project, students will leave the class with tools to assess and address a litany of social justice issues surrounding technology including those impacting the global majority, racial/ethnic groups, people with disabilities, people of different genders and sexualities, and the environment. This class is ideal for students interested in deepening their understanding of technology's impacts on society, and how they can apply these learnings to their vocation.
PT/SE 242 – What About Her? Incarceration as Racialized Gendered Social Control (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Charlene Sinclair	Central to the Womanist emancipatory struggle and methodology is the privileging of African-American cultural history, Black women's literary expressions, communal memory, and Black women's enflashed experience as sources for understanding both oppression and liberation. In addition, because the Black female body stands within a racial and gendered history of brutal enslavement, subjugation, and violence, Womanist methodology privileges the Black female body as the site of theo-anthropological inquiry. Thus, this course will utilize Womanist theorizing and an unapologetic universalization of the Black woman's particularity to examine the intersections of gender, race, class, and the criminal legal system, with a focus on how carceral frameworks with an emphasis on policing and incarceration regulate gendered experiences.

Religion and Society (RS)

RS/IE 219 – Critical Religious Literacy and Contemporary Culture (3 credits) Online Capacity: 25 Diane Moore & Hussein Rashid	Critical Religious Literacy (CRL) is a method for understanding how religion functions in overt and covert ways to promote and thwart just peace building efforts in both "secular" and "religious" contexts. In this course we will learn the method of CRL and apply it to case studies in a wide range of fields (e.g. journalism, government, arts and culture, education, organizing, humanitarian action) to better understand the power of religion in contemporary culture and to explore how this knowledge can promote just peace building and moral imagination in fresh and innovative ways.
RS/IE 335 – African Religions in the Americas (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 15 Samuel Cruz	A critical analysis of the socio-historical settings of the development of each of the most widely practiced African based spiritual traditions/movements in the Americas. Students engage the African-based practices of Haitian Vodou, Santeria/Palo Monte, Rastafarianism, Espiritismo, Obeah, Candomble, Umbanda, as well as African religious influences in Protestant Christianity. We explore how these religious movements have been impacted by North and South American cultural and political conditions, and how they have impacted the cultural and political realities in turn. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course
RS/IE 254 – Religious Nationalisms (3 credits) Online Capacity: 25 Diane Moore	An examination of how forms of religious nationalism are at play in explicit and implicit ways in diverse global contexts and in trans-global manifestations. Students will learn a method of understanding nationalisms and apply that method to a variety of case studies including the US, Israel, Iran, Saudi Arabia, and either Myanmar or India. Final projects can take one of two forms: a research paper investigating an aspect of a case study we engaged in class; or a public facing project related to a student's profession or vocation (e.g., a journalism article, policy brief, lesson plan, etc.)

RS/IE 324 – Contextual Perspectives on Culture, Race, Gender, and Religion (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Samuel Cruz	This course introduces a range of diverse populations by race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, religion, and physical differences. Students examine the role, function, and effects of oppression in society as it relates to social and economic justice. Assumptions underlying theory and research methodologies from which basic constructs of human behavior are drawn are examined to understand how power and other dynamics manage and sustain oppression at the individual and institutional levels. How oppression affects ecclesiastical, local parish, mosque, temple and faith-based organizations at micro and macro levels, particularly policies and strategic planning which drive the shape of places of worship, is also addressed.
SUMMER 2027
RS 220 – Prosperity Gospel Roots of American Authoritarianism (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Tony Tian-Ren Lin	There is a correlation between Prosperity Gospel, the fastest growing form of Christianity, and the rise of right-wing authoritarianism around the world. In the United States, Prosperity Gospel and right-wing political leadership are inextricably intertwined. This course seeks to connect the dots between Prosperity Gospel theology and the essential qualities of authoritarianism. At the root of this trend is neoliberalism, a philosophy that empowers the private sector to allow for free-trade and minimize regulations. The influence of neoliberalism extends beyond the economic sphere and is now embedded in culture across nations. Students will explore the implications of what political scientist Wendy Brown calls the “economization” of all realms of human life. What does this mean for religious leaders and present fight for justice?

Worship, Preaching, and the Arts (CW)

CW 103 – Introduction to Ritual and Worship (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Cláudio Carvalhaes	How do we imagine public, collective worship and ritual practices in the face of urgent climate disasters? This course offers an introduction to ways of thinking/feeling/doing worship and rituals from the perspective of our relation to the earth. We will engage earthly, human and more than human patterns, kin relations, justice, healing, restorative issues, liturgical and theological themes, sounds, sacraments, community formations, rites of passage and so on.
CW 227 – God's Trombones: Contemporary Black Women Preachers in Literature and Music (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Melanie R. Hill	"God's Trombones" is a transdisciplinary course illustrating pedagogically the importance of Black women preachers along the intersections of Black/African American literature, music, and womanist theology. Drawing on the womanist cadence of Alice Walker in literature and the rhythmical flow of named womanist theologians, "God's Trombones" makes interventions at the intersections of African American literary criticism, music, and religious studies. Taking the sacred literature found within the Black literary canon, this course shows how iconic writers, such as Toni Morrison, James Baldwin, Zora Neale Hurston, and other authors take readers into the divinity of Black women preachers and the beauty of the art of the sermon in Black literature and in music. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course
CW 104 – Fundamentals of Preaching (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Derrick McQueen	This course provides a basic introduction to the theology, ethics, and practice of Christian preaching. Students explore the nature and purpose of preaching in relation to the interpretation of texts, culture, and community contexts. Students hone the skills involved in effective sermon design and delivery. Prerequisite: HB 101 and NT 101 or BX 101.

THE THEOLOGY AND ETHICS FIELD

Philosophy of Religion (PR)

PR/TS 245 – Dietrich Bonhoeffer & James Baldwin (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Cornel West	This course examines two prophetic figures of the Twentieth Century. Both are exemplary in their profound thought, moral courage, genuine spirituality, and willingness to confront xenophobic ways of life.
PR 260 – Race and Modernity: W.E.B. Du Bois, Lorraine Hansberry, Toni Morrison (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Cornel West	This course examines the classical works of three modern intellectuals: W.E.B. Du Bois, Lorraine Hansberry and Toni Morrison. Students wrestle with the rich formulations, subtle arguments and courageous visions of three Black thinkers who continue to speak with power and passion to our turbulent times. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course
SE/PR 226 – Kant and Hegel (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Gary Dorrien	This course studies the thought of Immanuel Kant and G.W.F. Hegel within their social and historical contexts and the influence of Kantian and Hegelian idealism in modern theology. Focus is on the epistemology, metaphysics, ethics, and philosophy of religion of Kant and Hegel and the impact of their thought on Schleiermacher, Schelling, Kierkegaard, Troeltsch, Whitehead, Barth and Tillich.
TS/PR 410 – Political Theology (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Andrea White	Is theology always political? Is the political always theological? This course examines what theology has to say about how ideas and practices are organized to support violence and social power. The course studies thinkers who hold the uncontentious view that political power needs to be "redeemed," along with thinkers who argue that it is theology, always already political, that needs redemption. Themes for the course include the relationship between God and power, violence, truth, sovereignty, free market capitalism, neoliberalism, philosophy of race and environmental justice.

Social Ethics (SE)

SE 318 – Political and Social Thought (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Sarah Azaransky	This course explores the way a select group of contemporary thinkers consider the meanings, and the limits, of freedom and justice in theological and moral terms. In so doing, students will also necessarily investigate issues of racial and sexual & gender identities and their intersections, formation of self, cultural devastation, radical hope, and democratic practices. Note: Previously SE 218
SPRING 2027
SE/PR 226 – Kant and Hegel (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Gary Dorrien	This course studies the thought of Immanuel Kant and G.W.F. Hegel within their social and historical contexts and the influence of Kantian and Hegelian idealism in modern theology. Focus is on the epistemology, metaphysics, ethics, and philosophy of religion of Kant and Hegel and the impact of their thought on Schleiermacher, Schelling, Kierkegaard, Troeltsch, Whitehead, Barth and Tillich.

SE 228 – Sexual Ethics in New York City (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 25 Sarah Azaransky	This course uses New York City—its history, landmarks, and communities—as a resource for Christian ethical and theological reflection about sex and sexuality. Topics include Stonewall, House Ball communities, Fashion Week, and Margaret Sanger and the history of reproductive health care.
SE 316 – Economics, Ecology, and Ecofeminism (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Gary Dorrien	This course brings ecological, economic, and ecofeminist perspectives into a conversation that introduces students to leading works in these areas and explores relationships between and among the three “eco” subjects.
SE/IS 317 – Islamic Ethics (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Jerusha Rhodes	This course introduces central concerns, sources, and debates in Islamic ethics, and surveys a variety of subfields, including Qur’anic, prophetic, sexual, environmental, and medical ethics. Emphasis is placed on understanding the methods of Islamic ethics; connections between conceptions of the Divine, human person, and society; and how diversity, identity, and context shape ethical perspectives. Note: Previously SE/IS 217
SE 340 – Women in the Black Freedom Movement (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Sarah Azaransky	The course traces women’s participation and leadership in the Black freedom movement from the nation’s founding until today, including women’s resistance to enslavement, petitioning for reparations, organizing against lynching, and developing legal frameworks for equal rights.

Theological Studies (TS)

TS 213 – Introduction to Ecotheology: Theology and the Natural World (3 credits) Online Capacity: 30 John Thatamanil	This course offers a broad interdenominational introduction to ecotheology. Perspectives covered will include liberationist, womanist, ecofeminist, and phenomenological perspectives. The course will also survey a broad range of Protestant, Catholic, Orthodox, and Indigenous perspectives. Students will be encouraged to assess the respective strengths and weaknesses of these various theological perspectives and traditions as they formulate their own constructive ecotheology. Note: Fulfills MASJ Ecojustice Requirement
TS 214 – Womanist Theology (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Andrea White	A study of scholarship by womanist theologians in the United States, this course treats black American women's religious experience as a starting point for theological reflection. Interrogating the theological implications of race and gender, the course will explore what womanists have to say about theological questions including biblical hermeneutics and revelation, Christology and black women's bodies, atonement and redemption, evil and sin, suffering and death, black humanity and hope. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course
PR/TS 245 – Dietrich Bonhoeffer & James Baldwin (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 Cornel West	This course examines two prophetic figures of the Twentieth Century. Both are exemplary in their profound thought, moral courage, genuine spirituality, and willingness to confront xenophobic ways of life. Note: Religion and Black Experience concentration course

TS 102 – Theological Thinking Across Traditions (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 30 John Thatamanil	This course explores normative reflection across three traditions, Buddhism, Hinduism, and Christianity. In Christian traditions, such reflection comes to be called "theology." This course will explore the following questions: How does normative thinking proceed in these three traditions? What similarities are there if any? What are the major differences in what counts as "theology" or its analogs in other traditions? Is it possible to do theological thinking across traditions? How might we learn from comparative reflection that moves across religious boundaries?
TS 104 – Systematic Theology (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Andrea White	An introduction to systematic theology, this course studies Christian theologies of the 20th and 21st centuries including black, feminist, liberation, queer, and womanist theologies. Course readings address contemporary debates on theological problems such as the authority of revelation and scripture, care of creation, radical divine transcendence, the person and work of Jesus Christ, violence of the cross, what it means to be human, hope in the face of evil and suffering, to name a few.
TS 256 – African-American Political Thought (3 credits) In Person/Online Capacity: 30 Cornel West	This course critically plunges into the rich tradition of Black political thought. Students begin with Phyllis Wheatley, David Walker, and Martin Delaney, through Frederick Douglass, Ida B. Wells, Marcus Garvey, and C. L. James, and on to James Baldwin, Audre Lorde, Stokely Carmichael, and Angela Davis. The textual basis of this class is the classic "African American Political Thought: A Collected History", ed. Melvin L. Rogers and Jack Turner. Note: Fulfills MASJ Racial/Ethnic Justice Requirement; Religion and Black Experience concentration course
TS/IE 350 – Gandhi & King: Political Theology & Nonviolence (3 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 John Thatamanil & Cornel West	This course explores the life and teachings of Mohandas K. Gandhi and Martin Luther King, Jr. Recent years have seen a considerable expansion of the literature on both figures. The time is ripe for reconsideration of their legacy with respect to such questions as the viability of nonviolent resistance in a context of neoliberalism and ecological devastation, the relationship between spirituality and political engagement, and the conflict between religious traditions. What is the meaning and promise of their legacies for our time? What can they teach about interreligious dialogue and learning? What is the relationship between their work and the later emergence of liberation theology? What can we learn from Malcolm X's critique of King, B. R. Ambedkar's critique of Gandhi, and feminist critiques of both?
TS/PR 410 – Political Theology (3 credits) In Person Capacity: uncapped Andrea White	Is theology always political? Is the political always theological? This course examines what theology has to say about how ideas and practices are organized to support violence and social power. The course studies thinkers who hold the uncontentious view that political power needs to be "redeemed," along with thinkers who argue that it is theology, always already political, that needs redemption. Themes for the course include the relationship between God and power, violence, truth, sovereignty, free market capitalism, neoliberalism, philosophy of race, and environmental justice.

DOCTOR OF MINISTRY COURSES

All Doctor of Ministry (DMin) courses are open only to students in the DMin program

DMN 401 – Spirituality, Leadership, and Justice (3 credits) In Person Intensive Online Su Yon Pak	This course examines religious leadership as a deeply reflective, situated practice shaped by vocation, spirituality, justice, community, and the lived realities of particular contexts. As a foundational seminar, it invites students to consider how leadership is formed, disrupted, and renewed through theological reflection, critical decolonial analysis, interreligious literacy, contemplative disciplines, and the stories we tell and carry. Students will engage leadership as an evolving, relational practice that must be examined and reimaged in light of power, trauma, ancestry, discernment, religious traditions, and communal responsibility. They will name the question(s) they are holding in this season of life, allowing those questions to anchor and guide our shared learning. Through readings, reflections, case study analyses, group discussions, and storytelling, students will cultivate a more grounded and critical understanding of religious leadership and a more spacious vocabulary for narrating their own emerging leadership path. Note: Enrollment restricted to first-year DMin students
DMN 403 – Theory, Theology, and Practice of Research I (3 credits) Online Willie Francois	In this course, learners will mine and practice several modes of theological reflection and qualitative research methods, applying them specifically to justice issues and a context of ministry praxis. Learners will think theologically, critically, and constructively about systemic inequalities that dispense and deny power to persons according to social categorizations endowed with meanings consciously and unconsciously agreed upon by a public. Theological meaning-making and social analysis are two sides of the same puzzle of faith leadership eyeing and driving public discourse, movement-building, freedom-dreaming, and political repair. Now more than ever, leadership is not just about leading institutions; it is also about leading ideas with the propensity to transform public practice and perception. This course will orient students to the doctoral project proposal. Note: Enrollment restricted to first-year DMin students
DMN 421 – Moral Leadership, Public Advocacy, & Local Exegesis (3 credits) In Person Intensive Online Samuel Cruz	This course explores the intersection of local leadership, theological imagination, and justice-oriented community engagement, framing leadership as a response to and a reflection of global justice imperatives. Students examine how spiritual and moral frameworks shape leadership, community organizing, and the pursuit of justice. Emphasizing place-making, moral meaning-making, and faith-informed activism, the course fosters introspection, discipline, and actionable impact, beginning with personal leadership development and expanding to organizational and civic ecosystems. The interfacing of local issues and global injustice summons a moral leadership praxis inspiring local conscientization, actionable solidarity, and public advocacy. By bridging theological reflection with systemic injustices, particularly those affecting Black and brown communities, students will cultivate the skills and vision for transformative civic engagement. By providing a framework for faith-rooted civic creativity and public engagement, it equips participants to lead with clarity, conviction, and a commitment to justice. It features guest speakers and site visits. Note: Enrollment restricted to second-year DMin students
DMN 423 – Decoding Power (3 credits) Online Capacity: uncapped Andrea White	Decoding Power equips students to engage in an analysis of social power for leadership practice. Probing the impact on public discourse, the course will study the entanglement of religion, race and gender, the promise, provisionality, and peril of "intersectionality," how power constitutes social worlds and the contested nature of power as repressive and productive, as technique for domination, control over access, and as critical social good. Note: Enrollment restricted to second-year DMin students

DMN 501 – Applied Research/Doctoral Project I (3 credits) In Person Intensive Online Juan Battle	Description TBA. Note: Enrollment restricted to third-year DMin students
DMN 503 – Guided Research/Doctoral Project Writing (3 credits) Online Various Faculty	Students will deepen their knowledge of topics relevant for their doctoral projects in small guided research groups, guided by appropriate faculty with expertise in the topics. Note: Enrollment restricted to third-year DMin students
DMN 410 – Interpretations and Methods in/and the Pursuit of Social Justice (3 credits) Online Capacity: 20 Samuel Cruz	This seminar focuses on critical analytical skills necessary for the interpreting and reinterpreting biblical, theological, and socio-political realities through a social and theological lens. An examination of liberationist hermeneutics will be explored including as it pertains to economic, gay, lesbian, queer, feminist, gender, racial and religious oppressions. This exploration will lead students towards unravelling obstacles encountered in the pursuit of justice. The course will include reading religious-theological urban qualitative research and will offer students opportunities to explore a methodology as they pursue their final doctoral projects. Students' final papers should reflect initial formulation of their research. Note: Enrollment restricted to first-year DMin students
DMN 412 – Religion and Social Movements (3 credits) Online Jorge Rodríguez	Religion and Social Movements equips students to articulate the moral positions, theories, and tactics of key social movements from the 1950s to the present. The course examines leftist, liberal, and conservative movements globally including the Cuban Revolution, Black Nationalism and Black Power, movements for Puerto Rican and Palestinian Liberation, and the rise of the Religious Right. By examining the international and interreligious linkages of and within these movements, students will gain analytic tools for understanding the role of religion in social movements today. Note: Enrollment restricted to first-year DMin students
DMN 430 – Spirituality and Social Justice Work (3 credits) Online Gerardo de Jesus	Spirituality and Social Justice examines how religion and spiritual practice connect with efforts for justice, highlighting how spirituality can sustain and inspire social change. We will read a range of historic and contemporary texts, including but not limited to, Howard Thurman, Rosemary Freeney Harding, Cassidy Hall, and Dorothy Day. Note: Enrollment restricted to second-year DMin students
DMN 432 – Theory, Theology, and the Practice of Research II (3 credits) Online Willie Francois	This course deepens DMin students' engagement with interdisciplinary research methods, contextual analysis, and spiritual praxis while logistically advancing their Doctoral Projects. Through a structured assessment and planning process, learners will refine their doctoral project focus, mixed methodologies, and theological framework, culminating in a well-developed and approved project proposal. With guidance from faculty, site team members, and cohort members, learners will strengthen the synergy of theoretical rigor and practical applicability of their work. The course also fosters personal and professional growth by providing a collaborative environment for theological inquiry and leadership formation. By the end of the course, learners will have a clear and actionable plan for their doctoral project, positioning them for meaningful contributions to their faith communities, ministry studies and justice movements. Note: Enrollment restricted to second-year DMin students
DMN 510 – Applied Research/Doctoral Project II (3 credits) Online	Description TBA. Note: Enrollment restricted to third-year DMin students

MASTER OF PROFESSIONAL STUDIES COURSES

All Master of Professional Studies (MPS) courses are open only to students in the MPS program.

MPS 107 – Foundations of Ministry (3 credits) Sing Sing Nancy Fields	This course will demonstrate the importance of a holistic approach to ministries. Foundation of Ministry assists students in deepening and expanding their understanding of the nature and challenge of ministry and the mission of the church in an increasingly urban and global world. Attention will be given to developing analytical skills in relationship to the nature of ministry, the nature of systemic evil, and the nature and function of prophetic ministry. The student is invited to attend to his personal narrative and formation and track their own vocational exploration and discernment. Focus will be on “imagining” a new vision of church and ministry for the 21st Century in US prisons and communities historically vulnerable to incarceration.
MPS 108 – Introduction to Theology (3 credits) Sing Sing Mark Chapman	This foundational course offers an introduction to the nature, methods, and basic themes of Christian theology. Central doctrines are explored both in their classical formulations and contemporary reconstructions in the context of global Christianity. Special attention will be given to the emergence of different types of liberation theologies in the United States, including Black/African-American, feminist/womanist, Hispanic/Latino (a), and ecological theologies.
MPS 114 – Christianity, Islam, Judaism, and the Marginalized (3 credits) Sing Sing Darren Ferguson	This course provides an introductory survey to Judaism, Islam, and Christianity in their global context and varied expressions. The USA has long been a land of religious diversity, a place of religious strangers and neighbors living together. Attention is paid to the relationship between these religions and marginalized peoples in a variety of contexts, the wider social and political context in which communities of faith live out their ministries, the role of women and others who have been socially marginalized through history, and the development of theological ideas in diverse cultural locations. The course mines the co-mingled histories of violence and justice-centered work of these religions, profiling persons and people groups associated with these histories. The student will identify and explore resources for building religious community committed to social change, equity, and human sacredness.
MPS 114 – Christianity, Islam, Judaism, and the Marginalized (3 credits) Sing Sing Darren Ferguson	This course provides an introductory survey to Judaism, Islam, and Christianity in their global context and varied expressions. Attention is paid to the relationship between these religions and marginalized peoples in a variety of contexts, the wider social and political context in which communities of faith live out their ministries, the role of women and others who have been socially marginalized through history, and the development of theological ideas in diverse cultural locations. The course mines the co-mingled histories of violence and justice-centered work of these religions, profiling persons and people groups associated with these histories. The student will identify and explore resources for building religious community committed to social change, equity, and human sacredness.
MPS 201 – Leadership, Mentorship, and Prison Ministry (3 credits) Sing Sing Eric Waters	This course will explore selected issues and topics in leadership formation, contexts, and personalities. Exploring classic and contemporary leadership theories, students assess the strengths and weaknesses leadership theories as well as the challenges associated with each. Other social disciplines such as organizational behavior, ethics, sociology, history and political science will be examined to show their relationship to the development of leadership and mentorship practices in urban communities and the prison setting respectively. The class offers theoretical understanding and professional skills needed for effective, ethical leadership of a group of any size. The learner will engage strategies for building consensus and mobilizing constituents to achieve specific ends.
MPS 209 – Pastoral Care, Counseling, and the Self (3 credits)	This course is being offered to introduce you to theories and methods of pastoral care. As an introductory course in pastoral theology, care and counseling, emphasis is on the learner’s pastoral identity, critical self-reflection and self-awareness as care giver and leader in

Sing Sing Nancy Fields	communities of incarcerated persons and broader communities of faith. This course will examine how such community work of care can take place by examining the role of a pastoral caregiver in prison, a congregation and in a community. A critical task will be to clarify how one balances Pastoral Ministry (congregational leadership), Pastoral Care (giving advice and care), and Pastoral Counseling (structured counseling) into one's ministry. The student is invited to attend to his personal narrative and formation and track their own healing and transformations. The praxes explored in this course provides foundational practices for students to assist in chaplaincy and peer-to-peer spiritual guidance.
MPS 401 – MPS Capstone Project I (3 credits) Sing Sing John Ducksworth	The MPS Capstone Project is an integrated theoretical and practical assignment that represents the student's theological and applied knowledge. The project is a culminating paper of 30 to 40 pages, which systematically mines the student's own beliefs and proposals for improving society and/or the carceral realities. The student will seek to analyze, integrate, and evaluate his experience of theological education as it relates to the contemporary practice of prophetic ministry in urban communities and prison contexts with an eye toward anti-incarceration advocacy and social justice leadership practice. In essence, grounded in the theories from course work, the students identify a problem, define a program or ministry intervention or innovation, and critically articulate its potential to change said problem and contribute to the public good.
MPS 109 – Bible and Hermeneutics of Justice (3 credits) Sing Sing Bedford Hills TBA	This course presents an overview of the Bible with a particular emphasis on the formation of biblical literature and the historical and cultural contexts in which biblical texts were written. The course will assist students in developing exegetical skills necessary to extract meanings out of the biblical text in a sober and responsible manner. Alongside liberationist interpretative traditions, special attention will be paid to the prophetic tradition and themes of Justice as a Biblical theme. Implications for theological reflection, ministry, and the prison context will also be explored.
MPS 108 – Introduction to Theology (3 credits) Bedford Hills Hilly Haber	This foundational course offers an introduction to the nature, methods, and basic themes of Christian theology. Central doctrines are explored both in their classical formulations and contemporary reconstructions in the context of global Christianity. Special attention will be given to the emergence of different types of liberation theologies in the United States, including Black/African-American, feminist/womanist, Hispanic/Latino (a), and ecological theologies.
MPS 206 – Practice of Ministry (3 credits) Sing Sing Nancy Fields	This course is intended to build on Foundations of Ministry and deepen students' learning in ministry in the prison context.
MPS 208 – Theories of Justice and Public Leadership (3 credits) Sing Sing John Ducksworth	This course will explore paradigms of highly celebrated and effective written and oral communication aimed at shaping public opinion and opening the political window on issues of justice in American history, giving the student opportunity to engage multiple theories of communication. From sermons to essays, public communication continues to appeal to shared values and identity concerning questions of public policy, political practices, and organizational mission. During this class, students will explore the arts of public speaking, persuasive writing, and professional presentations to advance a specific issue that impacts their communities. The class will take inventory and analyze one's own strengths and weaknesses as a public communicator as well as those of the other students.

MPS 312 – Religious Ethics and Contemporary Social Issues (3 credits) Sing Sing Willie Francois	This course is an overview of the field social ethics with special attention paid to social issues in the US context. This survey necessitates a brief examination of western philosophical thought and moral theory alongside major themes and schools of thought in religious ethics. Our task is to discover how people, past and present, engage (d) in ethical reflection, moral reasoning, social critical analysis, and ethical action for the just resolution of social conflict. The readings are designed to challenge participants to rethink their understanding of moral community life and sources of moral formation. Giving targeted attention to current political, economic and social crises, and their respective historical development, the learner will mine approaches to developing moral arguments and public actions and their relationality to religion practices, experiences, and theologies.
MPS 314 – Theological Reflection, Justice, and the Public Square (3 credits) Sing Sing Jawanza Clark	This course is an overview of methods of theological reflection as a practice of justice-centered and culturally responsive leadership in the public square. It provides an interpretative framework for learners to build a working knowledge of classical and contemporary theories of justice and commence a development and articulation of one's person definition of justice. Creating space for present-day application, the theo-political inquiries centered in the course press learners to mine public discourse on race, class, gender, sexuality, citizenship, and the like, raising concerns related to duty and rights. The student is invited to practice a model of theological reflection germane to one's own experiential and ministerial context. Moreover, the learner forms a theological language to address the social crises of racism, sexism, heterosexism and homophobia, xenophobia, and economic exploitation with an eye toward creating communities of faith and advocacy.
MPS 401 – MPS Capstone Project I (3 credits) Bedford Hills Eleanor Moody-Shepherd	The MPS Capstone Project is an integrated theoretical and practical assignment that represents the student's theological and applied knowledge. The project is a culminating paper of 30 to 40 pages, which systematically mines the student's own beliefs and proposals for improving society and/or the carceral realities. The student will seek to analyze, integrate, and evaluate their experience of theological education as it relates to the contemporary practice of prophetic ministry in urban communities and prison contexts with an eye toward anti-incarceration advocacy and social justice leadership practice. In essence, grounded in the theories from course work, the students identify a problem, define a program or ministry intervention or innovation, and critically articulate its potential to change said problem and contribute to the public good.
MPS 402 – MPS Capstone Project I (3 credits) Sing Sing John Ducksworth	The course guides students in the second and final semester of the Capstone Project.

SU 101 – Graduate Writing Seminar (1 credit) Online Capacity: 20 Amy E. Meverden	This course addresses the breadth and variety of writing styles encountered by graduate students in seminary courses. By working on actual writing assignments in current courses, this course seeks to illuminate the writing process in ways immediately applicable to students. Note: Pass/fail. May be repeated, but taken only once for credit.
SU 102 – Seminary Choir (1 credit) In Person Capacity: 20 Malcolm Merriweather	Singing diverse works from across the sacred choral spectrum, with participation in periodic chapel services. Note: Note: Pass/Fail. May be taken only once for credit, but can be audited repeatedly.
SU 107 – Episcopal Canon Law and Polity (1 credit) Online Capacity: 20 Ian Douglas	This course, offered online, will cover the basics of the canon law and polity of the Episcopal Church, which is a fundamental part of formation for all postulants in the Episcopal Church.
SU 183 – Theological Spanish: From Beginning to Taking the Exam (0 credits) In Person Capacity: 20 Carla Guzmán	This course is designed for students who are preparing for the language exam in Spanish. Prior knowledge of Spanish is not required, and students are introduced to the study of the basic grammatical forms and functions of the language. The course includes translation practice corresponding to the requirements of the exam. The training focuses on the understanding and translation of scholarly, especially theological texts; i.e., exegesis, church history, Christian ethics and philosophy.
SU 190 A – The Quest for Humanized Justice Hybrid Capacity: 28 in person, uncapped online Federica Coppola & Mujahideen Muhammad	This course brings together philosophy, law, psychology, and lived experience to explore justice through the lens of belonging. We will examine how the fundamental human need for belonging can reshape accountability, healing, and public safety while inspiring more humane, restorative, and effective responses to harm. Drawing on work co-authored by Federica Coppola and alumni of the Master of Professional Studies program at Sing Sing Correctional Facility, the course bridges leading scholarship with lived experience to imagine a justice system grounded in human dignity, connection, and hope. Note: Meets Sept. 25 & 26, Friday 4pm-8pm & Saturday 9am-3pm (EST)
SU 190 B – Death and Dying: A Tibetan Buddhist Perspective Hybrid Capacity: 28 in person, uncapped online Yingrig Dorje	This course explores death, dying, and living through the lens of Tibetan Buddhist Vajrayana teachings. Relevant not only for chaplains but for anyone seeking dialogue and a deeper understanding of the human experience. We will examine how attachment, aversion, indifference, trauma, and habitual emotional responses shape our lives—and influence our experience of dying, the bardo (the state between death and rebirth), and the possibilities for awareness and transformation. The course also explores dreams as a profound avenue for understanding consciousness and the nature of reality. Note: Meets Sat. 9/26 9am-5pm & Sun. 9/27 9am-2pm (EST)

SU 190 C – Carceral Hermeneutics Online Capacity: uncapped John Ducksworth & Eric Waters	Where we read Scripture shapes how we see it., This is very evident in carceral contexts. Exploring the definition and implications of carceral hermeneutics and how it has influenced our understanding of religion and interpretation of biblical writings, participants will consider not only the historical and literary context of texts, but also the social location of the interpreter as integral to meaning making. Welcoming learners with or without prior Bible study experience, the class will consider what it means to de-carcerate our reading of Scripture in an age of mass incarceration. Note: Meets Sept. 27, Oct. 4, 11, 18, Sundays 6-8:30pm (EST)
SU 190 D – Moral Injury Online Capacity: uncapped Rita N. Brock and Kristine Chong	This course explores precipitating experiences and coercive contexts that can lead to moral injury and how to recognize it, and how it differs, but is related to, post-traumatic stress. We will examine various pathways to recovery/soul repair for diverse populations, including peer support strategies, the power of the arts and ritual, the role of communities and bystanders, and theological, ritual, and spiritual implications. We explore community moral responsibility for the aftermath of colonization, war, and violence, to assisting professionals and communities in the work of recovery and repair. Note: Meets Sept. 29, Oct. 6, 13, 20, Tuesdays, 6:30-9pm (EST)
SU 190 E – The Alchemy of Apology In-Person Capacity: 60 V (Eve Ensler)	The Alchemy of Apology explores apology as a transformative spiritual discipline capable of personal healing, relational repair, and collective liberation. Authentic apology becomes a pathway out of shame, rage, and disconnection. Students will learn a four-step process for practicing meaningful apology: investigating the personal and systemic roots of harm; naming actions with clarity and specificity; understanding the emotional and spiritual impact on the harmed; and taking full responsibility through genuine repentance, repair, and transformation. Note: Meets October 3 & 17, Saturdays, 11am-5:30pm (EST)
SU 190 F – Fundraising Fundamentals for Faith-Based Organizations and Nonprofit Leaders Online Capacity: uncapped Rita Walters	In today's world, there's no escaping it. Learning the basics of fundraising is essential if you want to effectively serve your mission and create the change you wish to see in the world. You will learn about best practices and insider tips on how to connect donors' passions and philanthropy to your organization's goals. This course will focus on a fundraiser's basic roles and responsibilities, including how to execute a successful annual fund, build a pipeline for major gifts, steward donors to keep giving, and write winning grant proposals. Note: Meets Oct. 25th, Nov. 1, Nov. 8 Sundays, 6-8:30pm (EST)
SU 190 G – Religious Freedom & Immigration Rights: Lessons from the Frontlines Online Capacity: uncapped Scott Warren	This course explores the tension between religious freedom and immigration law. We begin with an overview of this tension in society and in the legal arena broadly, then narrow our scope to look more closely at a case study from Arizona. In 2019 the federal government used the so-called harboring law among others to prosecute volunteers from the group No More Deaths, a humanitarian organization providing aid to undocumented people in the U.S.-Mexico borderland. The class will work to come up with practical lessons learned that might inform how we do the work of supporting immigrants broadly. Note: Meets Oct. 27, Nov. 10, 17, Dec. 1, Tuesdays 6:30-9:00pm (EST)
SU 190 H – Campus Chaplaincy Online Capacity: uncapped Khalil Abdullah	In higher education, chaplains bring expertise in ethics, faith development, religious practices, spiritual care, and interreligious engagement. They advocate for the needs of their communities, build relationships with campus partners, and provide leadership in times of conflict and crisis. We will explore the theory, practices, and contexts of campus chaplaincy, as well as past and ongoing challenges. Studying successful models of chaplaincy through reflection, group discussions, and dialogue with campus chaplains, we will gain a better understanding of chaplaincy in higher education. Note: Meets Oct. 29, Nov. 12, 19, Dec. 3, Thursdays 6:30-9:00pm (EST)
