"cultivating moral imagination"

Union's Vision Statement

Education at Union Theological Seminary is deeply rooted in a critical understanding of the breadth of Christian traditions yet significantly instructed by the insights of other faiths. It makes connections between these traditions and the most profoundly challenging issues of our contemporary experience: the realities of suffering and injustice, world religious pluralism, the fragility of our planet, and discoveries of modern science. Union envisions a future in which teaching and learning continues to be ecumenical in spirit, supporting a record of academic excellence and a deep commitment to social justice. Union envisions its graduates changing the world by practicing their vocations with dedication that bring a religiously grounded, critical and compassionate presence to the major personal, social, political and scientific realities of our time.

Integrative and Field-Based Education Program

"We can't separate imagination from the ethical, the political, the social...it is our opening to what is not yet, what might be, new possibilities..." Maxine Greene

Union Theological Seminary is highly committed to field-based education as an integral part of the Master of Divinity Program. That commitment is demonstrated in the approach to the work of field education, which is designed to be academically rigorous, practically effective and spiritually formative.

The Integrative and Field-based Education (IFE) Program at Union aims to foster learning communities that model and teach students ways of doing, being and thinking that are integral to their vision of ministerial identity and practice. It cultivates moral imagination,<sup>1</sup> which is about integrating knowledge, skill, moral integrity, religious/spiritual traditions, religious and justice commitments in ministerial practice. It is integrative, embodied, and relational. This is at the heart of professional formation. As such, in partnership with teaching agencies, religious and secular, the IFE Program provides learning communities that hone critical reflection on practice and theology, models for ministry, examination of social issues, and development of professional identity and skills. These critical reflections are grounded in spiritual practices that cultivate our contemplative capacity.

Goals and Objectives of Integrative and Field-Based Education

Field education is a requirement of the Master of Divinity (M.Div.) program taken during the student's second year. Field Education at Union provides a learning community for "the intentional, disciplined, and sustained cultivation of the imaginative capacity for engaging in complex and rich professional practice." This capacity involves:

- knowing the Scriptures and a tradition deeply, and how to interpret them in contemporary life,
- developing "an accurate sense of what makes human beings tick,"
- possessing "a complex understanding of how congregations and other institutions actually work" and,
- having both "a clear awareness and an analytical understanding of the world that the church exists to serve."

Through the field education process, students will learn to integrate these four practices together with intentional spiritual/faith practices.<sup>2</sup>

Integrative and field-based learning involves the integration three apprenticeships:

- an intellectual or cognitive apprenticeship,
- a practical apprenticeship of skill, and
- an apprenticeship of identity formation.

Apprenticeships are practiced through these experiences supervised field work; integrative peer group; theological reflection and spiritual practices.

Supervised work in a ministerial field site

Students must work at one field site during the two consecutive semesters of their second year in conjunction with enrollment in FE 103-104. In the field site, students will be provided with supervised opportunities to learn specific skills and the practice of those skills.

Facilitated work in a weekly integrative peer group seminar

FE 103-104 is one course that is taught over two consecutive semesters. The weekly integrative peer group seminar provides opportunities for disciplined reflection on the events and experiences of the field site, as well as facilitating the development of ministerial identity, authority, and competency for ministry/service. The weekly peer seminar is designed to broaden and to deepen students' analytic perspectives in their field site context and their roles as professionals in that context. Theological Reflection is at the heart of this work. The IFE Program covers the full academic year to accommodate the programmatic year at a field site, as well as to provide sufficient, ongoing grounding in the field experience at the site.

Sustained theological reflection and spiritual practices

The most effective learning in field-based education comes from an ability to think in an action-reflection way that integrates both theoretical and practical learning. The discipline of theological reflection teaches students to focus on significant experiences in ministry and reflect upon the ways in which these experiences connect with their coursework. Theological reflection is like moving along a spiral. It brings together the different texts of a student's life: theological/biblical texts, contexts and practical texts of the field site, and texts of personal history and religious traditions. The reflection propels the student for action, which then becomes basis for further reflection.

It is through these practices that field work becomes integrative and field-based education.

Formation of Vocational and Professional Identity

Integrative and Field-Based Education (IFE) assists students with the formation of their vocational and professional identity. The IFE Program challenges students to develop and articulate a theology of ministry that encompasses these essential elements:

- their personal faith journey and a sense of calling to minister and to serve
- their ability to discern the social, cultural, economic and political dynamics that constitute a religious community (social analysis),
- their analysis of theological and ethical issues that arise in the field placement, and
- their academic life at Union.

Through theological reflection, these elements provide the framework for students to discern the theology or philosophy of their call to ministry.

During the reflection process, students may engage such questions as:

- In what ways theology, history, bible learned in classroom impact "real" ministry on the streets on in the pews? Where do they intersect and inform each other?
- What does it mean to be a "ministry of presence" in a secular society?
- Where is God in the suffering of the world?
- How does one understand God in the midst of injustice? How do you relay this to your care-giver who is facing injustice?
- How do ethics in the workplace and values in the home draw from your tradition(s)?
- How do you define your tradition? What does your tradition have to say about the above related questions?

Raising such questions points to the overall goal of field education: to facilitate the theological discernment process so that students can address their own specific vocational objectives.

Ministerial and Spiritual Formation

Whether students are preparing to become religious professional in a church or a non-profit social service agency, the Field Education experience assists them in their ministerial formation. Ministerial formation is the process through which the questions raised by students preparing for ministry become engaged with theological education. Such questions as:

- What do I need to learn to become an effective minister?
- How do I make the transition from seminary to the parish or to a social service agency?
- What kind of support system do I need in my role as a minister?
- How do I deal with finances? What about fundraising? Facilities management?
- What competencies do I have to deal with domestic violence and child sexual abuse?
- How do I care for myself so I don't burn out?
- What spiritual practices are sustaining for me and how will I continue to commit to these spiritual practices?

The ministerial and spiritual formation process is a holistic activity involving mind, spirit and body, and helps the student to participate in theological praxis. It shapes one's sense of ministerial practice, reflection, effectiveness, and professional identity. Formation is a process by which "the student becomes a certain kind of thinking, feeling, and acting being."<sup>3</sup> The year-long curriculum is designed to focus on spiritual identity formation in a vocational call, along with the cognitive formation that theological reflection provides for in effective ministry.

Vocational Discernment Process

Students come to Union considering many vocational possibilities and directions. The Integrative and Field-Based Education Program seeks to accommodate students' diverse vocational considerations in the following ways:

1. Personalized vocational counseling. Every first-year Master of Divinity student has a one-on-one opportunity to discuss their unique vocational needs with a member of the Field Ed team, and is guided toward designing a field site placement appropriate to his/her vocational goals. The placement process engages the ongoing nature of vocational discernment during the Seminary experience. Students can rely on ongoing support in this process from the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education.
2. Diversity of placement possibilities. The IFE Office recruits field placements across a broad spectrum of ministries. Students generally find placements in churches, hospitals/hospices, campus ministry, prisons, social service agencies, public and private educational institutions, community-based organizations, in public administration, in international contexts, as well as work to develop unique placements which address their own passions and interests.
3. Peer Integrative Seminar. In the seminar, students work to integrate the experiential learning of the ministerial worksite with the academic learning of the broader Seminary curriculum. In an atmosphere of peer learning, students engage in problem-solving, analysis and theological reflection that emerge from engaging the field site. This is accomplished through a curriculum of the broader topics of ministerial formation essential to students' development such as: vocation, social analysis, theologies of ministry, and professional ethics, and leads students toward developing a personal theology/philosophy of ministry. The pedagogical process of the Seminar is intended to cultivate ministerial imagination and practice in students.

Integrative and Field-Based Education in Union's Curriculum

Many graduates of Union's Master of Divinity program enter the parish ministry, while others pursue vocations in diverse social justice and secular settings.

In recognition of the diversity of student vocational goals, Union's Field Education curriculum is dynamic in its approach.

Each of Union's M.Div. students is considered as an individual, whose program is created with the intent of addressing that student's specific educational and vocational aims.

Meeting the Field Education Requirement

To meet the Master of Divinity degree requirement, six points in Field Education must be satisfied in one of the following ways:

In the 100 level course (FE 103-104) the student is required to attend a weekly seminar as a vital part of the internship. The student learns how to do reflective theological thinking and independent study.

The 300 level course (FE 303/304) requires the student to do a full-time internship. This internship requires the student to design and develop a project of the student's interest. (Prerequisite: Permission of Sr. Director)

Field Education Seminar: Part-Time Concurrent Internship

FE 103-104- 3 credits each semester

Field Site Internships

Placement: Students enrolled in FE 103-104 will work in a church or agency field placement, usually in the second year of the three-year Master of Divinity Program. Field Placements are comprised of supervised positions in approved churches or agencies.

Work Commitments: Students are required to work 12-15 hours per week (12 hours for 15 weeks or 15 hours for 12 weeks), including a minimum one-hour period of theological reflection with the on-site supervisor each week.

Supervision: The intern's supervisor should be on the staff of the congregation or agency and be able and willing to provide one hour per week of theological reflection and supervision with the intern. These supervisory sessions should focus on: a) theological reflection on the intern's ministry/work performed at the site, b) the intern's responsibilities and assignments, c) support and nurture for the intern's sense of ministry and emerging sense of call.

Contract & Learning Agreement: The learning agreement between the student and the field site must be submitted to the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education by April 15th of the Spring prior to the course.

Academic Requirements: Simultaneously with the internship, students participate in a weekly three-hour seminar at the Seminary for the duration of the two consecutive semesters. The seminar will have a didactic portion and integrative peer group process portion. The weekly integrative peer group provides opportunities for disciplined and sustained reflection on the events and experiences of the field site, as well as the development of ministerial identity, authority, and competency for ministry/service. By integrating the classroom learning and the practices of ministry in the field, the seminar is designed to broaden and to deepen students' analytic perspectives in their field site context and their roles as professionals in that context. The seminar will explore and cultivate ministerial practices that will form students for agility, heartiness and hardiness for ministry. Work in the seminar seeks to teach the student the skill of theological reflection towards a ministerial imagination and intelligence.

During the Fall semester we will focus on the following topics:

- Vocational call, and discernment
- Field site analysis
- Practices of ministry: power, eating, playing, resting, and blessing
- Spiritual assessment
- Theological reflection
- Sexually healthy religious professional and professional boundaries

During the Spring semester we will focus on the following topics:

- Field site analysis
- Professional and ministerial ethics
- Leadership
- Disability
- Reframing organization
- Intimate violence and child sexual abuse
- Death, dying and end-of-life care
- Theology of ministry
- Aging
- White supremacy culture characteristics in organizations

While we begin our reflection on these topics in the fall semester, these are themes that we will revisit throughout the year. Students are encouraged to discuss these topics with their supervisors during their theological reflection sessions.

Hybrid Field Education-Clinical Pastoral Education (FE-CPE)

8 students from FE 103-104 are eligible to apply to be in the Hybrid FE-CPE program, a Clinical Pastoral Education unit for the duration for their field work in their field site. This is a rigorous program, accredited by ACPE as a satellite site of Jewish Theological Seminary, and supervised by an ACPE certified educator. This program is fully integrated into the FE courses. For more information about the program and to apply, see <http://myunion.utsnyc.edu/fieldeducation>.

Advanced Field Education Curriculum Options

Summer Ministries Course

FE 206Q – 2 credits

Independent study in connection with a full-time supervised field placement of at least eight weeks in length. Prerequisites: FE 103 and FE 104. Permission of the instructor. Academic Requirements: Three required meetings with field education staff must be arranged by the student prior to the start of the placement. The meetings will include dialogue, written reflections and evaluative discussions. Proposals must be submitted to the Senior Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education prior to registration.

The student must register for this course prior to both semesters through the Registrar's office at Union.

Advanced Field Education Seminar: Part-time Concurrent Internship

FE 203/204 – 3 credits each semester

The Advanced Part-time Concurrent Internship is an independent study in connection with a supervised field placement. This seminar meets once a month to provide a context in which to discern and deepen theological scholarship, public leadership skills and the vocational call of each student. Through selected readings and in-person and online discussion participants in this course will work to develop a stronger and more nuanced sense of vocation along with critical thinking skills to support their growth in ministry.

FE 203-204 is open to students who wish to earn elective credit in Field Education.

Field Site Requirements

Placement: See requirements for FE 103-104 on page 9.

Supervision: See requirements for FE 103-104 on page 9.

Learning Agreement: See requirements for FE 103-104 on page 9.

Academic Requirements

This seminar will meet four times over the semester for a 3-hour session plus two individual supervision sessions with the instructor. Everyone is expected to attend all classes, to actively contribute to seminar discussions, complete tasks and assignments on time, and be interested in doing the soul-searching that comes with discernment and theological reflection. Students are required to submit weekly journals, end-of-semester evaluations, and a final paper for the 200 level courses. These documents are essential in assessing the student's progress and for preparation of the course evaluation and grade.

Course Objectives

The monthly seminars and assignments will focus on the examination and strengthening of students' professional identity, their skills in working within ministry systems from the individual system to the group-as-a-whole and on their ability for self-supervision of ministry practice.

A Full-time Internship FE 303/304

This course is designed as an independent study – consisting of a field site, readings and critical reflection related to a full-time experience of ministry during a minimum of eight months of the academic year. This course consists of an out-of-seminary, supervised ministry, providing opportunity for intensive exploration of a specific ministry. The internship generally, though not exclusively, follows the completion of the second year of M.Div. studies. It is open to students as one option for completion of the Field Education requirement for the M.Div. program. It is also open to students who want to earn elective credit in Field Education. It is expected that the student will take no other classes during this internship.

The student must register for this course prior to both semesters through the Registrar's office at Union. There is a fee attached to registering for FE 303/304.

Field Site Criteria

In developing an internship position, students are encouraged to use the following criteria as a guide. It is expected that the chosen site will have a relationship to a religious community or agency and not be isolated from it. The best internship placements will have the following characteristics:

1. Significant Educational Opportunity. There must be a reasonable expectation that the substance of the proposed internship position will contribute toward the student's stated educational goals and objectives.
2. Range and Volume of Responsibilities. The position should specify clearly the areas of work for which the intern is responsible. This work should have genuine importance for both the field site and the intern. Lines of accountability for the intern should also be clearly stated.
3. Independent Development. In order to foster the development of the intern's leadership strengths and abilities, the internship design should provide opportunity for initiative and creativity in stated areas of program development and for public representation in a leadership role.
4. Theology of Ministry. The interns and their supervisors and colleagues should be in general agreement regarding such areas as the nature and mission of the church and the role of the particular institution in society.

Stipends for Full-time Internships

The field site is responsible for the stipend for students doing full time internship. It is also advised that the site offer assistance with intern's housing, moving expenses, and travel.

Academic Requirements for Full-Time Internships

1. The Internship Agreement: The learning agreement must be submitted to the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education before the beginning of the Fall semester of the internship year.
2. Meetings: Interns have dialogue and evaluative discussions with the Senior Director of IFE a minimum of three times during the internship year .. It is the responsibility of the intern to set up these conversations.
3. Ministry Proposal: This proposal should be submitted to the Senior Director of IFE within two weeks of the beginning of the semester. It should be 2-4 pages in length and should include the following information: a) focus of the ministry in the internship year, b) learning goals for the year, c) methods of achieving these goals, d) bibliography of related readings, with a minimum of four books and three articles.
4. Ministry Case Study: This paper should be submitted to the Senior Director of IFE at the end of the first semester. It should be 5-7 pages in length and consist of a substantive theological reflection on a particular experience of the intern's work at the site. See the following examples of the process of theological reflection: Patricia O'Connell Killen and John De Beer, The Art of Theological Reflection (New York: Crossroad, 1994) and Edward Foley, Theological Reflection across Religious Traditions: The Turn to Reflective Believing (New York: Rowman & Littlefield, 2015).
5. The Internship Project: This project may take varied forms and is decided upon through consultation with the on-site supervisor and Senior Director of IFE. It should relate in a specific way to a particular problem that the intern has discovered in the course of working in this ministry. The project should be 15-20 pages in length and should be submitted to the Senior Director of IFE at the - end of the second semester. It should include research into the topic, as well as an account of personal experience at the site, theological reflection, and a complete bibliography.

6. Evaluation: The student's self-evaluation and supervisor's evaluation of the student are required at the end of each semester.
  7. Final Conference: At the end of the internship experience, the student schedules a final conference with the Senior Director. The purpose of this final conference is to assess the work of the internship year and the learning accomplished, in accordance with the stated goal of the learning agreement.

Topics in Ministry SU 190

During the fall and spring semesters, and January intersession, Integrative and Field-Based Education Program offers courses designed to address specific topics related to the practice of ministry. Drawing on expertise from community and alumni/ae resources, these courses help students to develop specific skills for ministry that supplements the regular Seminary curriculum. A maximum of three points in SU courses may be counted as electives for the M.Div. and M.A. degrees only. However, additional supplemental courses may be taken, with full participation, by all degree candidates, but not for academic credit. All SU 190 courses will be graded Pass/Fail. Refer to the course catalog for a full listing.

Clinical Pastoral Education Curriculum

Note: Only one unit of CPE will be given academic credits at UTS.

FE/PS 363-364 (Fall/Spring extended unit) & FE/PS 366Q (Summer full-time unit)

(For more information click CPE or go to utsnyc.edu and search for Clinical Pastoral Education)

Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE) is a clinical experience designed to give students competence in chaplaincy and pastoral care ministries and to enhance their counseling skills.

Prerequisite: PS 110. PS 101 is highly recommended. Successful completion of a full unit of Clinical Pastoral Education in a program accredited by the Association for Clinical Pastoral Education, Inc., College of Pastoral Supervision and Psychotherapy;

Note: Students planning to register for these courses must

- obtain & complete a Request for Academic Credit form .
- submit your Request form by August 15 (Fall/Spring CPE) or by April 1 (Summer CPE);
- register for the PS or FE course through the Registrar's office during regularly scheduled registration periods;
- for FE/PS 363-364 - in January have the CPE Supervisor send a brief interim report to Dr. Pak,
- at the end of the course and to receive credit submit to Dr. Pak a letter of completion from the CPE Supervisor, an ACPE transcript for the Unit, or a copy of the CPE certificate of completion, by May 30 (fall/spring CPE) or September 15 (summer CPE) of the same year in which CPE is taken.

Assuming completion of the educational goals of FE 103-104, and with the approval of the Senior Director of IFE, a unit of CPE taken on an extended basis through the academic year may be used to fulfill the Field Education requirement FE 363-364. Requests are approved by Dr. Pak on a case-by-case basis.

Field Education “FAQs”

Do I take classes while I am working at a field placement?

Yes. Ordinarily, in the second year of your M.Div. program, you will enroll in FE 103-104. This course includes a weekly two-hour seminar with a 12-15 hour a week field placement, in addition to your other courses. If you are fulfilling the field education requirement through the full-time option, you will enroll in FE 300/301, which includes a full-time placement, along with a course taken as an independent study; you will not be enrolled in other courses.

Can I create my own field placement?

Yes. In consultation with the Senior Director of IFE, you have the option of creating a field placement that best suits your vocational and personal interests. Please consult the Integrative and Field-Based Education Handbook for the process and requirements for this option.

Do I get paid for my field placement?

Yes. There is a minimum stipend of $4,500 with which the field placement must compensate students for work done at the site. Some field placements may pay the student more than the minimum, but never less.

I’m thinking of transferring to Union. I have done a field placement at another seminary. Can I transfer these credits to my Union program?

Rarely. However, we consider each transfer request individually, seeking to assess how comparable the experience has been. We consider such factors as vocational goals, previous ministerial experience and type of field placement.

My denomination requires me to have a year-long internship for ordination. Can the Office of Integrative and Field-Based Education help me?

Yes. The FE 303/304 course is an option designed specifically for this purpose. This course allows students the opportunity to fulfill the Field Education requirement for the Master of Divinity degree program, and simultaneously fulfill the ordination requirements for many denominations. The Office of IFE will work with you and your denominational representative to place you in a site that meets both Union’s requirements and those of your denomination.

Can I fulfill my Field Education requirement by taking CPE?

No. Generally, the Field Education requirement is not met through this option. In very specific cases, if the educational goals of FE 103-104 have been met, the Senior Director may consider CPE as an option. Approval of the Senior Director is granted on an individual basis.

I can’t choose between two field sites. Can I work at two field placements?

No. Students enrolled in the FE103/104 may only complete one learning agreement for one field placement. A student may work at a second field site for experience only, not academic credit.

Can I defer/delay my Field Education internship until my final year?

Unlikely. Delaying your internship impacts your M.Div. Mid-Program Review. It is strongly advised that all M.Div. complete FE 103 and FE 104 in their second year of the three-year program.

The Phases of Field Education for First Year M.Div. Students

There are three phases of Field Education: Pre-Field Education, the Placement Process, and the Field Education Experience.

First Phase: Prep for Field Education

Field Education Information Session (Required)

First year students must attend the Field Education Information Session. The session will be a space to ask questions.

The Field Education One-on-One Conversation (Required)

In October, First Year M.Div. students will receive an invitation to meet with a member of the Field Education team and begin the preparation process for Field Education. The student must bring or send a current resume to the meeting. This meeting is required of all First year M.Divs.

Questions to consider before your Conference:

- Why am I at Union?
- How did I come to select Union?
- What are my plans after graduation?
- What are my options in ministry?
- What denominational requirements must I fulfill in preparation for ordination, if applicable?
- What areas of my current service/ministry do I want to strengthen or explore further?
- What areas of ministry/mission, would I like to consider exploring?

In the conference, students engage in reflection and discernment about their vocational goals and assess how the IFE Program may be helpful in reaching those goals. Students are encouraged to use the initial conference as a planning stage, a reflection opportunity, and space to receive feedback in order to gain vocational clarity. The Field Ed Team Member can also assist in exploring thoughts and questions regarding ordination, and make recommendations about visiting local churches and making contact with possible field placements.

Second Phase: The Placement Process

The second phase of Field Education is the beginning of the placement process. The time frame is November through March and this phase includes:

- searching for a site
- interviews with potential site supervisors
- internship site selection
- confirmation of the field site and stipend
- Office of IFE approval granted for the field site
- Contract & Learning Agreement executed and delivered to IFE Office

The Senior Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education (IFE) is responsible for the placement of all students who are enrolled in the Master of Divinity degree program. After you've been interviewed and accepted by a Site Supervisor, you will need to get approval from the Senior Director before you can move forward with the Contract & Learning Agreement phase. You will need to confirm the site's ability to provide your stipend at this time.

Each academic year, the IFE provides a list of available/participating field sites for the upcoming academic year on Union's website. Based on their vocational goals, needs, and interests, students begin the placement process by considering and contacting available field sites from the list provided. If, after thorough investigation, the field sites in the Field Site Database do not meet a student's vocational interests, they may begin pursuing an unlisted placement in that area of interest.

Permission of the Senior Director must be obtained FIRST, before engaging a new site.

If permission to engage a new site is granted:

1. Make contact with a potential field site Director/Supervisor to inquire about the feasibility of the internship.
2. Have the site supervisor submit an Application to be a Union Field Placement Site form. (click thru to access form online)
3. After receiving the form, the Office of IFE will then contact the potential Supervisor to assess the site's ability to meet the academic and professional standards of the IFE Program. If approval is granted, the student will then complete the contract process with the field site.

First Year M.Div. Check-In Day

To facilitate the search for an internship site, students check-in electronically or in-person with IFE early in the Spring semester. This day ensures that IFE is aware of each student's progress towards finding a field site.

Types of Field Placements

There are over 150 field sites vetted by the Office of IFE. For a complete listing check with the office or go to the following link: Field Sites under IFE.

Interviewing

Prospective field site supervisors have the option of coming to campus to hold interviews. Most often, an interview at the field site is arranged between the prospective supervisor and the student intern. Interviewing at the field site allows the student to view the facility, gain a sense of the travel requirements, and other valuable information that can help to influence decision making. Students are urged to allow enough calendar time to negotiate the placement before the April 15th final due date for all Contracts & Learning Agreements. This can occasionally take weeks to allow for committee review. Sites seeking financial assistance towards Interns stipends from Union must have their completed paperwork submitted by April 1st.

Tips for Interviewing:

The interview is an opportunity for students and prospective supervisors to assess the potential compatibility of the relationship. Students are likely to encounter interviewing styles that reflect the supervisor's supervisory and ministry style.

Before the Interview:

Suggestions that may be helpful in preparing for the interview:

- Read the placement description carefully. If there is no description, you are expected to research the field site online.
- Prepare questions about the position and the field site.
- Select several types of ministry situations for interviews.

Prepare yourself to be interviewed by thinking out potential answers to the following questions:

- What are your vocational goals?
- Why are you interested in this position/field placement?
- What do you consider your strengths and growing edges?
- What do you believe you can contribute to this position/field placement?
- What do you hope to learn from this experience?
- How would you describe yourself?
- What is your work style?

Be prepared to ask your own questions which may include:

- Why do you do this ministry/work?
- Why do you remain in this ministry/work?
- Do you consider this work as a vocation? How so?
- What are the hours/schedules for the field site?

- What have been some of your best and worst experiences in this work?

During the Interview:

- Be punctual, be alert, yet comfortable and relaxed.
- Dress appropriately (Business or Business casual).
- Stay focused on the purpose of the meeting.
- Reserve judgment while raising concerns that you may have.
- Avoid discussing personal problems.
- Thank the interviewer by name

After the Interview:

- After each first interview it is good practice to follow up with a thank you note or email. Remember that there are other applicants for the same position performing these courtesies.
- Evaluate how you might improve after each interview.

Confirming the Field Placement

First, get approval from the Sr. Director of IFE before moving forward with the contract. Confirming the field placement is a process of negotiation and agreement between students and their selected sites. Students are expected to be proactive in obtaining placements; the Office of IFE only facilitates the process.

Students are encouraged to complete arrangements for their field placements as early as possible. The process begins in October and can be over as soon as a student is chosen by a Site & Supervisor, and the internship is approved by the Office of IFE. Regardless of when students finalize their internship arrangements, it is expected that all students will be matched with sites and that all Field Placement Contracts and MDiv Learning Agreements will be turned in to IFE by April 15. Sites and Students seeking financial assistance from Union must have their completed paperwork submitted by April 1st. Students will not be able to register for FE 103 during pre-registration without a Contract and Learning Agreement on file.

Contracts and Learning Agreements

Part of the learning process is based on the student's efforts to investigate prospective placement sites, set out expectations and requirements, and negotiate the learning agreement with the field education supervisor and the Seminary. Here are links to the online Contract & Learning Agreement

Students and supervisors are encouraged to refer to the following guidelines when setting up a placement:

- There must be a reasonable likelihood that the placement will meet the student's stated educational goals and objectives.
- The field placement description must clearly specify areas of responsibility.
- The experience will offer opportunities for professional contacts, community outreach, interfaith and cross-cultural experiences.
- The lines of accountability must be clearly stated in the learning agreement.
- The supervisor has appropriate theological training and experience.

Union Policies reflected in the Contract Process

Student attendance at the field placement

- Students are given the option of working:
- 12 hours for 15 weeks per semester, or
- 15 hours for 12 weeks per semester
- This should come to a total of 360 hours for the academic year (180 hours per semester).
- 35-40 hours per week for at least eight months in the case of a full-time internship

Holidays and vacation time

In the case of part-time student interns, the holidays of Thanksgiving and Christmas are normally considered days that student interns do not report to work, unless otherwise negotiated by the supervisor and the student intern. In the case of full-time interns, the holidays and time off are to be negotiated at the start of the internship. Both the supervisor and intern should also agree upon any vacation time in the early stages of negotiating the full-time internship.

The January Intersession

The month of January is the academic intercession at the Seminary. Students and supervisors are open to negotiating a work schedule that is agreeable to both.

Illness and sick time

In cases of illness, it is expected that the field site will accommodate the intern in the same way it would any staff person in the organization.

It is the sole responsibility of the supervisor to monitor student interns' punctuality and attendance at the field work site and report any problems to the Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education. It is the view of the Seminary that constant lateness and absenteeism are not to be tolerated. These behaviors are counter-productive to the Field Education experience.

Intern Stipends – Financial Remuneration

Union Seminary displays a high regard for the gifts and talents of its students. It is with great pride that students are assigned to various churches and social agencies in order to assist in executing the missions of those organizations. Although the site is seen as a learning field, student interns make great contributions in the areas where they are serving.

The compensation of a stipend should be regarded as a sign of the field site's valuing the student's participation, and as a means of meeting some of the student's living expenses.

The Seminary is aware that many field sites cannot pay a full-time person to do the work of the intern nor can they pay the actual cost of a part-time individual. The idea of a stipend helps the field site show their appreciation for the intern's ministry. The stipend also allows the student to experience paid professional work.

The Seminary strongly recommends that a stipend of no less than $4,500 be paid to the student for the academic year. If the field site can afford to pay more, it is strongly encouraged to do so. Sites seeking financial assistance towards the student's stipend from Union must have their completed paperwork packet submitted by April 1st.

What You Need to Know About Stipends:

- Negotiating the stipend is a matter to be discussed between the student intern and the field site supervisor or the director of the organization/agency.
- While the student will pay transportation costs for standard metro subway/bus fares, reimbursement is expected for the student intern's transportation costs above those fares (i.e., trains, etc.), especially if the site is at a great distance from the Seminary. Commute times up to 40 minutes each way are standard, anything above that should be factored into student's commitment of hours.
- Costs should be considered for all required travel to conferences and conference fees related to the work of the field site, and must be covered by the field site.
- The stipend is taxable and is subject to the same withholdings as any other employee's wages.
- The field site should NOT pay the student intern for time missed from work due to circumstances other than illness or a death in the family.

Learning Agreements

Part of the learning process is based on the student's efforts to investigate prospective placement sites, set out expectations and requirements, and negotiate the learning agreement with the field education supervisor and the Seminary.

Students and supervisors are encouraged to refer to these guidelines when setting up a placement:

- There must be a reasonable likelihood that the placement will meet the student's stated educational goals and objectives.
- The field placement description must clearly specify areas of responsibility.
- The experience will offer opportunities for professional contacts, community outreach, inter-faith and cross-cultural experiences.
- The lines of accountability must be clearly stated in the learning agreement.
- The supervisor has appropriate theological training and experience.

Completing the Contract Process

For the placement process to be complete, the Contract & Learning Agreement forms require

- Students meet with their prospective supervisor on-site to discuss the specifics of the internship and to agree on learning goals.
- Next, the student completes both the CONTRACT and LEARNING AGREEMENT and following directions on the form, sends them to the Supervisor.
- Finally, the Supervisor reviews the Contract & Learning Agreement for revision or approval and uses the SUBMIT button at the end of the form. The forms will be sent to the student, the Supervisor and the Field Education Office. The forms must be completed and submitted no later than April 15.

Third Phase: The Field Education Experience

FE 103-104

By contractual agreement, students enrolled in FE 103-104 work in a church or agency field placement, usually in the second year of the three-year Master of Divinity Program.

Students are expected to work 12-15 hours per week (12 hours for 15 weeks or 15 hours for 12 weeks, or some other combination - for a total of 180 hours per semester), including a minimum one-hour period of theological reflection with the on-site supervisor each week.

Simultaneously, students participate in a weekly seminar at the Seminary for the duration of the two semesters.

Because much of the content of the seminar is based on the process itself, regular attendance and active participation are required. (No more than two excused absences during a semester are acceptable.) Timely submission of assignments, contractual agreements and self-evaluations, as well as in-class presentations and written work, are required for the successful completion of FE 103-104.

In the Field Placement

The student intern will arrive at the field site promptly, and ready to begin work. They should be prepared to become acquainted with the following during their supervisor's orientation at the field site:

- the field site's mission;
- the organizational structures that are in place at the field site;
- the needs of those being served by the field site; and
- the field site policies and student's rights in the placement.

Assignment Development

The intern should be in ongoing conversation with their supervisor regarding their growth and development with their assignments. The intern will need to learn from the supervisor about the kinds of people they will be serving, and should request to be exposed to as much of the day-to-day functioning of the field site as possible.

The Evaluation Process

The evaluation process at the end of each term is based on self-evaluation by the student as well as evaluations by the on-site supervisor and the seminar professor. At the end of each semester, both the seminarian and the supervisor evaluate the seminarian's work in light of the objectives set forth in the learning agreement. These evaluations are another opportunity for self-reflection. The mid-year evaluation (end of fall semester) is an opportunity to identify growth or areas for learning that have emerged. The final evaluation (end of spring semester) also serves as a measure of ministry preparation and identifies areas for future learning. The student and the supervisor will discuss and be able to review both evaluations. The completed evaluation forms are electronically sent to the Office of IFE, the Supervisor and the Student.

The evaluation format may include questions that refer to some of the following areas:

- General assessment of the student's performance.
- Arts of ministry developed in the placement, e.g., in the areas of preaching and/or worship, administration and program development, pastoral care and counseling, public ministry, community organizing and planning, religious education and denominational polity.
- Personal qualities related to ministry in the student's work performance, e.g. communication, interpersonal relations, motivation, feelings, relationship, clarity of purpose and/or conviction, commitment, spiritual depth, reliability, openness to growth and change.
- Evidence of the student's ability to work cooperatively, collegially, and supportively with staff and other people involved in the placement.
- Field Education courses are graded like all other courses at Union Seminary (Credit with Distinction, Credit, No Credit). A grade of No Credit is given only following a consultation of the Senior Director and Associate Professor of Integrative and Field-Based Education and the field supervisor.

Written evaluations are important.

Once completed, the evaluation documents are essential to the Field Education process. They are kept in the student's file in the Integrative and Field-based Education Office and are one of the sources used for granting credit to students for their work. The student's advisor and the Senior Director of IFE have access to these evaluations. Candidacy Committees and denominational advisors are permitted access to the file with the student's permission.

Evaluation reports should be the end product of consultation between supervisors and students.

Among the difficulties that can arise when evaluations are not arrived at by consultation are: a breakdown in communication, a questioning of the credibility of the Field Education experience, mistrust of the evaluation process, and damage to the student's morale. Beginning the evaluation process before the due date can avoid such problems by allowing adequate time for conversation. The Office of IFE will provide forms & reminders.

The process asks for two evaluation reports: one from the student, and one from the field site supervisor.

- For the student, the evaluation is meant to facilitate reflection on student growth in ministerial action, personal spiritual development, theological reflection on experience, and the practice of ministry.
- The supervisor's evaluation of students' growth and recommendations for future work are important for the student's education.
- Supervisor and Student will see the final version of both evaluations.

The participation of both the supervisor and the student are required to complete the evaluation process. Follow the directions on the form for sharing from student to supervisor. After processing, an addendum can be attached to the reports, if necessary.

Evaluations should focus on the growth needs of the student.

As a part of the evaluation process, a careful review should consist of the learning goals the student brought to the field placement and the ways in which these may have changed or been sharpened during the supervision. Evaluation is intended to help students claim and celebrate the growth which has taken place and to claim the direction they wish future growth to take. A fair measure of the success of Field Education is the clarity and accuracy with which students can identify future learning needs.

M.Div. Program Goals and Learning Outcomes

Union's faculty has identified program goals within four primary learning areas (ATS Standard 4.3): Religious Heritage, Cultural Context, Personal and Spiritual Formation, and Religious and Public Leadership. The learning outcomes associated with each goal identify the knowledge and skills that students achieve and demonstrate when they successfully complete the program.

Religious Heritage

understanding of scripture, the theological traditions and history of the school's faith community, and the broader heritage of other relevant religious traditions

Goal One: To develop a broad and critical understanding of the Bible as foundation of the Christian traditions, and for Buddhism and Interreligious Engagement track or Islam and Interreligious Engagement track, a broad and critical understanding of their respective sacred texts/interpretations; to engage in and interpret exegetically-informed and contextually-sensitive Bible/sacred texts in historical, literary, contemporary global, and multi-religious contexts; to demonstrate the capacity to establish connections between the Bible and other sacred texts.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Bible: Cross-Testament (BX), Hebrew Bible (HB), New Testament (NT); and/or Sacred Texts (STX); and/or other relevant evidence (such as sermons or other worship).

Goal Two: To demonstrate the capacity to: understand and reflect on the Christian tradition within the context of one's own culture through cultural, religious, and moral pluralism, including consideration of relativism and dialogue with science; to identify and describe the concepts involved in the basic doctrines of Christian faith and show connections between them; to understand classic and contemporary methods of moral decision-making.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Theological Studies (TS), Social Ethics (SE), Philosophy of Religion (PR), and/or Anglican Studies (AS); and/or other relevant evidence.

Goal Three: To demonstrate knowledge of historical events and developments that gave rise to diverse forms of Christianity; to use historical techniques to analyze and understand how inherited beliefs and faiths are expressed and lived conditioned by the circumstances of time and place; to demonstrate how cultural context shapes stories that people of faith share about themselves and their communities.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Church History/Historical Studies (CH) and Denominational Studies (DS); and/or other relevant evidence.

Goal Four: To demonstrate the capacity to learn about and from diverse religious traditions on their own terms; and the capacity to engage in sustained self-reflection and acknowledgment of one's own assumptions when encountering manifestations of religious diversity.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of Interreligious Engagement (IE) courses and/or other relevant evidence.

Cultural Context

attention to cultural and social issues, to global awareness and engagement, and to the multifaith and multicultural nature of the societies in which students may serve

Goal Five: To gain knowledge and critical awareness of existing power dynamics and structures in terms of gender, sexuality, race, class, and identities targeted for oppression, and how they shape theology, ethics, history and other forms of theological engagement; to effectively and constructively engage the world's serious issues such as racial and sexual/gender injustice, mass incarceration, and the climate crisis, in ways informed by deep theological, historical, and critical study; to build theological, theoretical, critical, and contextually accountable foundations for the study of religious communities, movements, and societies.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Social Ethics (SE), Religion and Society (RS), Field Education (FE); and/or other direct relevant evidence (recognizing that all of Union's curriculum addresses this goal in some way).

Personal and Spiritual Formation

development in personal faith, emotional maturity, moral integrity, and spirituality

Goal Six: To cultivate critical self-awareness and emotional and spiritual maturity; to engage in spiritual self-reflection with particular attention to interreligious engagement; and to learn to respond to others with empathy and self-awareness.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Psychology and Religion (PS), Field Education (FE) including Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE), Interreligious Engagement (IE), Anglican Studies (AS), Introduction to Spiritual Formation (SU 125); and/or other relevant evidence (e.g., academic vocational essay, entrance questionnaire, mid-program self-assessment, final self-assessment, participation in spiritual formation activities on campus, etc.).

Religious and Public Leadership

cultivating capacities for leading in ecclesial and public contexts and reflecting on leadership practices

Goal Seven: To develop pastoral and moral imagination with attention to interreligious engagement and ethical decision-making; to cultivate theological, theoretical, and critical foundations for the practices of preaching and public communication, worship and ritual, effective and safe pastoral and spiritual care, religion and education, and theology and the arts.

Learning Outcome: Successful completion of courses in Practical Theology (PT), Field Education (FE) including Clinical Pastoral Education (CPE), Worship, Preaching, and Arts (CW), Psychology and Religion (PS), Religion and Education (RE), Communication Arts (CA), Anglican Studies (AS), Center for Community Engagement and Social Justice (SU 150), Topics in Ministry (SU 190); and/or other relevant evidence (e.g., sermons, chapel leadership, etc.).

ADMINISTRATIVE POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

Integrative and Field-Based Education (IFE) is constantly evolving, as it is confronted with new developments in the field of theological education. New policies and procedures are often developed in order to meet the demands and needs of field sites and student interns.

No field site will be without areas of tension. There may even be a need to adjust the expectations as developed in the initial learning agreement. Resolution will call for the exercise of such skills as: assertive self-representation, active listening, and creating “win-win” situations, all of which one needs in exercising leadership in the context of service.

The Office of IFE is always available to assist with mediating and helping to negotiate necessary adjustments in the field placement.

The following policies and procedures provide the guidelines to govern the work of Field Education in the placement setting:

Resolving a Conflict between the Supervisor/Field Placement and the Intern

1. The first step in resolving conflict between the supervisor and the student intern is to meet the contract and/or the needs of the situation, and to talk out the issue(s) to gain clarity.
2. If the first step does not bring resolution to the problem, the second step is for the supervisor and/or student, or both, to contact the Senior Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education immediately.
3. At the third step, the Senior Director will confer with the student and the supervisor (in separate meetings) to make an assessment of the conflict from each perspective, with the intention of mediating the conflict to find an acceptable solution.
4. At the fourth step, the Senior Director will schedule another meeting to bring the student and the supervisor together, with the hope that there is a favorable resolution and that the field placement will resume.
5. In cases where no acceptable resolution can be reached, the internship will be terminated by mutual agreement of the student, the supervisor, and the Senior Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education.

Terminating a Field Placement

It is rare that a student considers leaving a field placement before the end of the agreed-upon period. Decisions for students to leave a field placement can be taken only after a joint conference between the student, the field supervisor, and the Senior Director of Integrative and Field-Based Education. Neither students nor supervisors can unilaterally terminate a placement under any circumstances without first conferring with the Senior Director.

If a student terminates the field placement, without conferring with the Senior Director, no credit is given for the academic year. The student must re-enroll in the Field Education course the following academic year to meet the Field Education requirement.

The termination process is to be done in the most amicable way, and one from which all persons can grow. If termination of the field placement is a mutual decision, following all meetings and consultations, the supervisor and student will receive a letter from the Senior Director stating the decision to terminate, and a summarized explanation for the action. The student intern and the supervisors may send written responses to clarify any inaccuracies.
